Fluoridation Has No Ill Effects, Report States

Big Factor In Aiding Dentistry

Local-Newburgh Findings Cited

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—A New York health official says a 10-year comparison test in two New York communities showed that fluoridation of drinking water helps reduce tooth decay and loss in children without causing any physical harm.

Results of the test were made public last night by Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, New York state health commissioner, who described fluoridation as "safe and effective."

SUCH FLUORIDATION means adding one part of sodium fluoride to drinking water for every million parts of water. It has been a controversial subject in health and scientific circles.

The findings were based on the Newburgh-Kingston study. The town of Newburgh, N. Y., 10 years ago began adding soldium fluoride to its public water while nearby Kingston did not. The towns have a population of some 30,000 each.

A SIMILAR TEST conducted in the town of Brantford in Canada also showed that fluoridation of water appears harmless and beneficial. Report on the study was issued yesterday by Health Minister Macinnon Phillips, who said, however, that maximum concentration should not be higher than 1.5 parts of sodium fluoride to one million parts of water.

At a conference of the New York Institute of Clinical Oral Pathology here last night, Hilleboe and other health experts gave the following highlights of the New York test:

Children in Newburgh aged 6 to 9 have 58 per cent less tooth decay and missing teeth than youngsters in the same age group in Kingston.

THE 10 TO 12 age group in Newburgh has 52 to 53 per cent less decay while children aged 13 to 14 show 48 per cent. Sixteen-year-olds in Newburgh, whose first permament molars were erupting when fluoridation began, have 41 per cent less tooth decay than their Kingston counterparts.

There was no evidence that fluoridated water contributed to gum inflammation or gingivitis; there was no effect on children's growth, weight and height; no changes in their bones, in blood

Bond Holders Are To Pay $3,400 Orpheum Taxes

A meeting for the purpose of protecting the interest of bond holders of the Miller Enterprises, operators of the Orpheum Theatre, was held last evening at the office of Attorney Arthur B. Ewig. Owners of approximately $30,000 of the outstanding $60,000 bond issue were represented at the meeting.

Unless the 1953 taxes are paid by December 20, the theatre will become the property of the City of Kingston for unpaid taxes.

AS A RESULT of the meeting last evening the bond holders represented, voted to act as a committee to raise the $3,400 among themselves and pay the 1953 tax.

In addition to the 1952 tax, for which the theatre was sold in 1954 at tax sale and bid in by the city, there is also unpaid the 1954 and 1955 taxes and the 1956 tax will shortly become due. Property upon which there remains unpaid taxes is sold at the public tax sale and the owner has a year from that time to redeem the property by payment of the tax and penalties.

THE BOND issue has long been in defaut and the action taken last evening was to prevent the city from taking title to the property and closing out all interest of the existing bondholders. Through an assessment among themselves, the bond holders represented at the meeting will raise a fund to redeem the property and may then proceed to take steps to take title to the property through foreclosure or by some other method as they may be advised by counsel.

Wiltwyck Motors Desired for Office, Assembly Locale

IBM Zoning Bid Reveals Move to N. Front St. Site

An application by IBM for use of the former Wiltwyck Motors property, 112 North Front street, for engineering and design work is scheduled for hearing by the zoning board in the city hall tomorrow night.

Attorney Joseph Avis, zoning board chairman, said the application has been made, and the extent of zoning regulations necessary will be determined after hearing.

It was indicated that the building would also house office and clerical departments and that "sub-assembly" work would be done in the garage area of the building.

A report yesterday indicated that a contract for sale of the property, including a Washington avenue access, has been negotiated by John Bennett and Edwin T. Kolb, owners, to George E. Yerry Jr.

Yerry, it was stated, is acting on behalf of a group of investors. About two acres of land to the rear of the North Front street building are said to be involved in the transaction.

The zoning board is also due to hear an application by the Catholic Daughters of America for permission to erect a building on Andrew street near Peter street, and another by Donato Capurso of 249 Broadway for permission to erect a private garage on his property.

The full extent to which IBM would use the North Front street property is expected to be revealed at tomorrow's hearing, and it will probably be determined then, or soon after, whether an industrial zone designation is necessary.

The zoning board usually meets in the city court room on the lower floor of the city hall, but a public hearing is scheduled there on the application in behalf of the Peerless Cement Co., which has announced plans for building a $10,000,000 cement plant in the Steep Rocks area.

The zoning board, therefore, will meet in one of the rooms on the third floor, possibly the Common Council Chamber.

The public hearing on the proposal to rezone the Steep Rocks area is due to open at 7:30 p. m. It will be conducted by Alderman Abram D. Relyea, 11th Ward, who is chairman of the council's laws and rules committee. The zoning board hearing is due to start at 8 p. m.

Counsel's Status Is Problem

Carvel Case Up Friday Before Hamm in Troy

A legal controversy involving the Carvel Corp., operator of a chain of ice cream stores, and local zoning rulings, will be introduced in high court before Supreme Court Justice Herbert D. Hamm, in Troy Friday, and the move might find the city with a new problem of its own.

A certiorari review for determination of the legal status of decisions pertaining to application of the corporation to build one of its stores at Albany and Foxhall avenues, is due to open then before Justice Hamm.

Another problem for him at the time might be the status of Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy, who normally would represent the city's zoning board, but who has also been asked for a decision by the Common Council, which differs from the zoning board in opinion.

The Carvel Corp., by action of the Common Council last summer, was denied the right to build and operate an ice cream store on the property of Monroe T. Southard, Albany and Foxhall avenues, which has been used for the operation of a gas station for many years.

This action was reversed through recent decision of the zoning board. That decision is now under protest and appeal by Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, who represents opposition to the Carvel application.

After denial by Council action of the right to conduct the store on the site, the corporation ap-

Elected 5th Time As Health Head

HARRY KAPLAN

Harry Kaplan, president of Kaplan Furniture Co., was re-elected president of the board of the Ulster County Health Department last night for the fifth time.

Election of Mr. Kaplan, long active in city and county affairs, was unanimous. Dr. Eugene F. Galvin of Rosendale was elected vice-president.

Mr. Kaplan served as secretary of the Board of Public Works for 12 years under the Heiselman administration, was president of the board of fire commissioners for two years and a former director of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Ulster county commissioner of health serves as secretary of the board.

The health department includes the Ulster County Tuber-

$148,100 Donated Locally

Three Ulster county hospitals, two in this city, are listed for a grant of $148,100 in the world's biggest giveaway by the Ford Foundation.

Benedictine Hospital, Kingston, $62,600.

Kingston Hospital, this city, $60,100.

Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, $25,400.

IN DONATING to the nation's voluntary nonprofit hospitals, the foundation noted:

"Several hundred thousand additional general hospital beds are needed. Old or obsolete buildings require replacement or modernization. Many hospitals need better equipment. All hospitals need to extend the scope of their services if they are to serve satisfactorily as health and rehabilitation centers in their communities.

"Moreover, the rising cost of both hospital construction and hospital operation places these institutions in a serious financial dilemma. Many still manage to continue operating without deficits, but they do so only through the sacrifice or curtailment of services of facilities important to community health and welfare.

"The pressing need is for funds to expand or modernize present facilities, and extend services to keep pace with the rapid development of medical science."

GRANTS TO OTHER area hospitals are:

Vassar Brothers Hospital, Poughkeepsie $105,000.

Northern Dutchess Health Center, Rhinebeck $26,000.

Bathgate Hospital, Stamford $10,000.

Cornwall Hospital, Cornwall $23,300.

Delhi Hospital, Delhi $10,000.

Polio Clinics Are Set for Schools

Polio vaccine clinics will be held in Kingston public schools tomorrow and Thursday, it was announced today by Dr. Dudley Hargrave, Ulster county health commissioner.

The clinics have been made possible by the response of local physicians volunteering their services and by the cooperation of school personnel, Dr. Hargrave said. They will be staffed by public health and school nurses.

THE FOLLOWING schedule was announced by Dr. Irving Josephson, medical director of Kingston schools:

Wednesday—9 a. m. to 11 a. m. George Washington School, Schools 4 and 6; 1 to 3 p. m. Schools 8 and 3 and Immaculate Conception.

Thursday—9 a. m. to 11 a. m.

FORD FOUNDATION OFFICIALS AND ADVISER — H. Rowan Gaither, Jr., left, president of the Ford Foundation, and Henry Ford II, right, board chairman of the Foundation trustees meet with Devereaux C. Josephs, seated, in New York (Dec. 10). On Dec. 12 the Ford Foundation in one stroke gave away a half-billion dollars, the largest single appropriation in the history of philanthropy. The grants went to colleges and hospitals. Josephs served as chairman of the board of the College Grants Advisory Committee whose recommendations were acted on by Ford Foundation. Bipartisan Attitude Favorable

Democrats Give Partial Approval to GOP Plans

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower reviewed his foreign and defense programs with congressional leaders of both parties today, and won at least a partially favorable reaction from Democrats.

Details of the programs were not disclosed, but the White House said administration officials laid before the lawmakers a stepped up program of foreign aid and overseas information.

Chairman Russell (D.-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee told reporters: "I think the defense program looks fairly good."

But Russell added that congressional committees will want to go over the administration proposals in detail before committing themselves.

After the meeting, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President volunteered the following comment to the senators and House members who met with him from 8:30 a. m. to 11:10 a. m. EST.

"I want to give my thanks and my very real gratitude to the leaders on both sides of the aisle in the Senate and the house of Representatives for the very great contributions they have made and are making to true bipartisanship."

Hagerty also read a statement approved by all those at the meeting. It said.

Chest Lacks $30,000 of Goal

Returns in Red Feather Drive $68,144 to Date

With returns still being received daily, the Kingston Area Community Chest today reported a total of $68,144.10 in pledges received in its 1956 Red Feather campaign.

Enough additional pledges to put the total "well over $70,000" have been received by campaign workers but not yet turned in to the Chest office, it was estimated by John R. Warren, executive director.

Follow-up work is continuing in most divisions in an attempt to achieve full coverage and to bring the total closer to the $100,000 goal established as minimum to meet the needs of the eight member agencies.

Mail solicitation is being conducted in several of the divisions so that donors wishing to do so may take advantage of the tax deduction on their 1955 incomes.

Although still about $30,000 from its goal, this year's drive is ahead of last year's initial drive conducted by the Community Chest. On this same date (Dec. 13) last year, pledges totaling $50,075.71 were reported. The final total on that camaign was slightly more than $58,000.

Workers still holding pledges were urged today to turn them in to the Chest office, 209 Clinton avenue, this week so that the budget committee and board of directors can determine the amount of the first 1956 allotment to be paid the member agencies. The first quarterly payment is due January 1.

Following are the pledges reported in each division up to noon on Dec. 12:

Industry	$33,355.00
Advance Gift	13,665.00
Commercial	7,931.00
Professional and Health	6,703.00
Gov't & Education	2,197.00
Residential	2,143.10
Clubs & Organizations	2,066.00
Suburban	84.00
	$68,144.10

½ Billion Is Biggest Giveaway

Institutions Get Aid in 48 States

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Ford Foundation has showered half a billion dollars on the nation's privately supported colleges, universities and hospitals in history's greatest giveaway.

THE HUGE GIFT, announced yesterday, was divided as follows:

To 615 regionally accredited, private colleges and universities, primarily to help raise teachers' pay—210 million dollars;

To 3,500 privately supported hospitals located in all 48 states, plus Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico—200 million dollars;

TO PRIVATELY supported medical schools—90 million dollars.

The grant to colleges and universities is in addition to 50 million dollars which the foundation announced last spring it would distribute to help raise teaching salaries.

Thirty-six colleges and universities received more than one million dollars each. The largest gift—five million—went to New York University.

OTHER TOP gifts went to Harvard—$4,510,000, University of Chicago—$4,324,200, and Yale —$4,000,900. The smallest college grant was $31,900 for the California School of Fine Arts, San Francisco.

For hospitals, the gifts ranged from $250,000—a sum awarded to 57 institutions—to $10,000.

The 90 million dollars for medical schools has not yet been broken down into specific grants.

THE GIGANTIC program was given final approval by the Foundation's board of trustees, headed by Henry Ford II, at a meeting last weekend. Recipients were notified by telegram and a number of institutions across the country at first thought the good news was a hoax.

The Foundation was quickly commended by medical and education leaders.

Harvard President Nathan Pusey called the grants a "splendid, imaginative effort to strengthen higher education in America . . . the special intent—to improve faculty salaries—is unreservedly praiseworthy."

CHANCELLOR Henry T. Heald of New York University stated, "The Ford Foundation is to be congratulated on recognizing in a dramatic way the great importance and need of privately supported education."

In Chicago the American Medical Assn. and the American Hospital Assn., issued statements by their presidents describing the grants as "inspiring and heartening" and making possible "tremendous improvement in hospital service to our people."

THE FOUNDATION parcelled its funds among colleges roughly in sums equal to their 1954-55 payrolls for instruction in the liberal arts and sciences. At least half of each grant is to be

Wide Interest in Horticulture Show

Many Exhibitors Listed From Ulster Sections

Exhibitors from many parts of the country will participate in the 101st Eastern Meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the state armory on Manor avenue.

There will be exhibitors from Cincinnati, O., Cleveland, O., Buffalo, Syracuse, Fort Wayne, Ind., Springfield, Mass., Pittsburgh, Pa., Morristown, N. J., and many other parts of the nation, it was reported by Daniel M. Dalrymple, secretary-treasurer of the society.

Among exhibitors will be manufacturers of irrigation equipment, new synthetic insulating materials, new machines for bagging apples, refrigeration equipment, saws, tools, insecticides and fungicides, etc. All major tractor manufacturers will be represented as will makers of chemical materials, sprayers, graders, all kinds of packages used in fruit bagging and dispensing, glove makers, new polythene bagging materials, etc.

Mr. Dalrymple said wide interest in the show had been indicated throughout the East and that people were coming from as far away as New Jersey, the Carolinas, Pennsylvania, Washington, D. C., and Canada.

One of the highlights of the opening program tomorrow morning will be a talk by Don Hamilton, entomologist-in-charge of the USDA Experiment Station, Vincennes, Ind., on the topic, Controlling Codling Moth in the Mid-West.

Mr. Hamilton is well-known from his work in Poughkeepsie. He is now working in an area where codling moth is very difficult to control and near an area where resistant strains are showing up. His experience is expected to be helpful in the Hudson valley where late codling moth was in evidence this year.

The show opens tomorrow morning at the armory with Abram Van Alystyne of Kinderhook as program chairman until noon. Gerard Maier of Newburgh will serve as chairman Wednesday afternoon, James Clarke of Milton as chairman Thursday morning, Al Cole of Red Hook as chairman Thursday afternoon and Ralph Smith of Poughkeepsie as chairman Friday morning.

At 7:45 p. m. Thursday at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Damon Boynton, former director of research for the International American Institute, Costa Rica, will present an illustrated talk on growing coffee and cocoa in Costa Rica. There will also be a film on the flood in New England.

Costs $952 to Run Autos

New York, Dec. 13 (Special)—How much does it cost residents of Ulster county per year to operate their cars? It is a question that owners ask themselves often, especially when their insurance bills come due. Few of them really know.

Figures produced by the American Automobile Association show that a car in the popular price range, driven less than 18,000 miles a year, costs $602 in fixed charges and 3.5 cents additional for every mile driven.

Applying this average to Ulster county, where last year's registration showed 33,100 passenger cars in use, gives $31,500,000 as the annual operating expenditure. Per car, it is $952.

This is based on local drivers travelling 10,000 miles a year, which is average. There is little variation in this respect between urban and rural dwellers.

Every day of the year, whether the car is used or not, its owner has a bill of $1.65. This fixed charge is for depreciation, by far the largest, property damage and liability insurance ($15,000 and $30,000), and fire and theft coverage. No allowance is made for deductible collision insurance, which many

'Substantial' Settlements Made

Tillson Residents to Get Paid for Thruway Blasts

Three actions arising out of blasting operations conducted at Tillson during the construction of the Thruway were settled in Supreme Court Monday after a long conference between the parties and Justice Harry E. Schirick.

The actions were brought on the theory of contract and negligence, a rather novel procedure since similar actions are usually brought on the theory of negligence alone although there are numerous cases upholding the contract theory. Norman Kellar, counsel for the three complainants, brought actions against John Arborio, Inc., and another, contractors for the Thruway section in the Tillson area. He alleged that charges of explosives amounting to as high as 44 tons had been fired in reducing a rock mountain to make way for the superhighway.

It was alleged the historic stone house of Cuyler Van Vechten, located about 1300 feet from the highway had been seriously damaged when one wall was caused to lean at a 10 per cent angle. Chris Zimmer of Tillson sued to recover for damage to his premises and Kellar also sued to recover for damage to a large barn on his premises which was damaged by concussion, causing one corner of the structure to lean.

In an examination before trial it was admitted by the defendant that in reducing the 95 foot stone mountain, charges of several tons of dynamite had been exploded. One charge was 88,600 pounds, or over 44 tons, while others varied from 10,000 to 50,000 pounds exploded in as high as 100 drilled holes for one shot.

Alleging that the state of New York had awarded a contract to the defendant company to do the work in a safe manner, it was the duty of the contractor to carry out the work in such manner and resulting damage was the responsibility of the contractor under the contract. On that theory the action was brought for violation of contract, making it unnecessary to prove negligence but simply show "cause and effect."

Settlement was made after several long conferences with

Wharton Assures Flood Study to Help

A thorough study of the Esopus and Rondout creeks and watersheds is being undertaken by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, Congressman J. Ernest Wharton told members of the national legislative affairs committee of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce at a special luncheon meeting yesterday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

He said the study "will help us in Congress in the appropriation of moneys" required in a program of permanent flood control.

A wide range of national issues of local interest were discussed at the meeting attended by committee members, directors of the Chamber of Commerce and interested persons. Frank E. Bourke, chairman of the committee, presided.

The congressman traced briefly the history of the August and October floods, designated by the Corps of Engineers as Noah No. 1 and Noah No. 2, pointing out that the Corps had received 74 requests for flood projects from Ulster county alone. He said the Corps had begun working in the area about September 1, closing up about November 1, and that the work had been "fairly effective as far as it went."

He said he was giving some thought to the problems of flood insurance and that a bill was being drawn up by Sen. Herbert Lehman of New York state for presentation at the next session of Congress.

The question of federal aid to education was touched upon briefly. Some of those present felt that the cost of new school construction would be increased if schools were built by the federal government and that income taxes would be increased. Another suggested that if the

HARRY KAPLAN

Harry Kaplan, president of Kaplan Furniture Co., was re-elected president of the board of the Ulster County Health Department last night for the fifth time.

Election of Mr. Kaplan, long active in city and county affairs, was unanimous. Dr. Eugene F. Galvin of Rosendale was elected vice-president.

Mr. Kaplan served as secretary of the Board of Public Works for 12 years under the Heiselman administration, was president of the board of fire commissioners for two years and a former director of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Ulster county commissioner of health serves as secretary of the board.

The health department includes the Ulster County Tuber-

Tillson Residents to Get Paid for Thruway Blasts

Three actions arising out of blasting operations conducted at Tillson during the construction of the Thruway were settled in Supreme Court Monday after a long conference between the parties and Justice Harry E. Schirick.

The actions were brought on the theory of contract and negligence, a rather novel procedure since similar actions are usually brought on the theory of negligence alone although there are numerous cases upholding the contract theory. Norman Kellar, counsel for the three complainants, brought actions against John Arborio, Inc., and another, contractors for the Thruway section in the Tillson area. He alleged that charges of explosives amounting to as high as 44 tons had been fired in reducing a rock mountain to make way for the superhighway.

It was alleged the historic stone house of Cuyler Van Vechten, located about 1300 feet from the highway had been seriously damaged when one wall was caused to lean at a 10 per cent angle. Chris Zimmer of Tillson sued to recover for damage to his premises and Kellar also sued to recover for damage to a large barn on his premises which was damaged by concussion, causing one corner of the structure to lean.

In an examination before trial it was admitted by the defendant that in reducing the 95 foot stone mountain, charges of several tons of dynamite had been exploded. One charge was 88,600 pounds, or over 44 tons, while others varied from 10,000 to 50,000 pounds exploded in as high as 100 drilled holes for one shot.

Alleging that the state of New York had awarded a contract to the defendant company to do the work in a safe manner, it was the duty of the contractor to carry out the work in such manner and resulting damage was the responsibility of the contractor under the contract. On that theory the action was brought for violation of contract, making it unnecessary to prove negligence but simply show "cause and effect."

Settlement was made after several long conferences with

$148,100 Donated Locally

Three Ulster county hospitals, two in this city, are listed for a grant of $148,100 in the world's biggest giveaway by the Ford Foundation.

Gifts to the three hospitals are designated as follows:

Benedictine Hospital, Kingston, $62,600.

Kingston Hospital, this city, $60,100.

Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, $25,400.

IN DONATING to the nation's voluntary nonprofit hospitals, the foundation noted:

"Several hundred thousand additional general hospital beds are needed. Old or obsolete buildings require replacement or modernization. Many hospitals need better equipment. All hospitals need to extend the scope of their services if they are to serve satisfactorily as health and rehabilitation centers in their communities.

"Moreover, the rising cost of both hospital construction and hospital operation places these institutions in a serious financial dilemma. Many still manage to continue operating without deficits, but they do so only through the sacrifice or curtailment of services of facilities important to community health and welfare.

"The pressing need is for funds to expand or modernize present facilities, and extend services to keep pace with the rapid development of medical science."

GRANTS TO OTHER area hospitals are:

Northern Dutchess Health Center, Rhinebeck $26,000.

Cornwall Hospital, Cornwall $23,300.

Delhi Hospital, Delhi $10,000.

Bipartisan Attitude Favorable

Democrats Give Partial Approval to GOP Plans

Washington, Dec. 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower reviewed his foreign and defense programs with congressional leaders of both parties today, and won at least a partially favorable reaction from Democrats.

Details of the programs were not disclosed, but the White House said administration officials laid before the lawmakers a stepped up program of foreign aid and overseas information.

Chairman Russell (D.-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee told reporters: "I think the defense program looks fairly good."

But Russell added that congressional committees will want to go over the administration proposals in detail before committing themselves.

After the meeting, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President volunteered the following comment to the senators and House members who met with him from 8:30 a. m. to 11:10 a. m. EST.

"I want to give my thanks and my very real gratitude to the leaders on both sides of the aisle in the Senate and the house of Representatives for the very great contributions they have made and are making to true bipartisanship."

Hagerty also read a statement approved by all those at the meeting. It said.

Chest Lacks $30,000 of Goal

Returns in Red Feather Drive $68,144 to Date

With returns still being received daily, the Kingston Area Community Chest today reported a total of $68,144.10 in pledges received in its 1956 Red Feather campaign.

Enough additional pledges to put the total "well over $70,000" have been received by campaign workers but not yet turned in to the Chest office, it was estimated by John R. Warren, executive director.

Follow-up work is continuing in most divisions in an attempt to achieve full coverage and to bring the total closer to the $100,000 goal established as minimum to meet the needs of the eight member agencies.

Mail solicitation is being conducted in several of the divisions so that donors wishing to do so may take advantage of the tax deduction on their 1955 incomes.

Although still about $30,000 from its goal, this year's drive is ahead of last year's initial drive conducted by the Community Chest. On this same date (Dec. 13) last year, pledges totaling $50,075.71 were reported. The final total on that camaign was slightly more than $58,000.

Workers still holding pledges were urged today to turn them in to the Chest office, 209 Clinton avenue, this week so that the budget committee and board of directors can determine the amount of the first 1956 allotment to be paid the member agencies. The first quarterly payment is due January 1.

Following are the pledges reported in each division up to noon on Dec. 12:

Industry	$33,355.00
Advance Gift	13,665.00
Commercial	7,931.00
Professional and Health	6,703.00
Gov't & Education	2,197.00
Residential	2,143.10
Clubs & Organizations	2,066.00

½ Billion Is Biggest Giveaway

Institutions Get Aid in 48 States

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Ford Foundation has showered half a billion dollars on the nation's privately supported colleges, universities and hospitals in history's greatest giveaway.

THE HUGE GIFT, announced yesterday, was divided as follows:

To 615 regionally accredited, private colleges and universities, primarily to help raise teachers' pay—210 million dollars;

To 3,500 privately supported hospitals located in all 48 states, plus Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico—200 million dollars;

TO PRIVATELY supported medical schools—90 million dollars.

The grant to colleges and universities is in addition to 50 million dollars which the foundation announced last spring it would distribute to help raise teaching salaries.

Thirty-six colleges and universities received more than one million dollars each. The largest gift—five million—went to New York University.

OTHER TOP gifts went to Harvard—$4,510,000, University of Chicago—$4,324,200, and Yale —$4,000,900. The smallest college grant was $31,900 for the California School of Fine Arts, San Francisco.

For hospitals, the gifts ranged from $250,000—a sum awarded to 57 institutions—to $10,000.

The 90 million dollars for medical schools has not yet been broken down into specific grants.

THE GIGANTIC program was given final approval by the Foundation's board of trustees, headed by Henry Ford II, at a meeting last weekend. Recipients were notified by telegram and a number of institutions across the country at first thought the good news was a hoax.

The Foundation was quickly commended by medical and education leaders.

Harvard President Nathan Pusey called the grants a "splendid, imaginative effort to strengthen higher education in America . . . the special intent—to improve faculty salaries—is unreservedly praiseworthy."

CHANCELLOR Henry T. Heald of New York University stated, "The Ford Foundation is to be congratulated on recognizing in a dramatic way the great importance and need of privately supported education."

In Chicago the American Medical Assn. and the American Hospital Assn., issued statements by their presidents describing the grants as "inspiring and heartening" and making possible "tremendous improvement in hospital service to our people."

THE FOUNDATION parcelled its funds among colleges roughly in sums equal to their 1954-55 payrolls for instruction in the liberal arts and sciences. At least half of each grant is to be

Wharton Assures Flood Study to Help

A thorough study of the Esopus and Rondout creeks and watersheds is being undertaken by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, Congressman J. Ernest Wharton told members of the national legislative affairs committee of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce at a special luncheon meeting yesterday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

He said the study "will help us in Congress in the appropriation of moneys" required in a program of permanent flood control.

A wide range of national issues of local interest were discussed at the meeting attended by committee members, directors of the Chamber of Commerce and interested persons. Frank E. Bourke, chairman of the committee, presided.

The congressman traced briefly the history of the August and October floods, designated by the Corps of Engineers as Noah No. 1 and Noah No. 2, pointing out that the Corps had received 74 requests for flood projects from Ulster county alone. He said the Corps had begun working in the area about September 1, closing up about November 1, and that the work had been "fairly effective as far as it went."

He said he was giving some thought to the problems of flood insurance and that a bill was being drawn up by Sen. Herbert Lehman of New York state for presentation at the next session of Congress.

The question of federal aid to education was touched upon briefly. Some of those present felt that the cost of new school construction would be increased if schools were built by the federal government and that income taxes would be increased. Another suggested that if the

Plans Started for Permanent Flood Control in Local Area

The Flood Control Advisory Committee recently appointed by the board of supervisors met Monday evening at the Court House, organized and took steps to develop a coordinated program of permanent flood control in Ulster county. Meeting with the committee was Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, State Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, and Allan L. Hanstein, director of the Ulster-Kingston Defense Council.

Another meeting of the committee will be held as soon as arrangements can be made to have representatives of the Corps of Army Engineers meet with them.

ARRANGEMENTS with the Army Engineers will be made by Congressman Wharton.

The purpose of the next meeting will be to ascertain what progress has been made toward a complete study of the watersheds of the Esopus and Rondout creeks and the Wallkill river. Also, what steps, if any, are necessary to assure the completion of the study and the execution of a comprehensive program of permanent flood control.

The discussion at the meeting Monday night clearly indicated that local groups and officials in all areas concerned with flooding can assist the county-wide advisory group by providing information as to the extent of damage to private as weil as public property, supporting an adequate program of permanent flood control and helping establish the absolute need for such a program.

Charles Relyea, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, presided at Monday nights meeting. H. Edgar Timmerman was named chairman; William C. Rose, vice chairman and Albert Kurdt, secretary of the Flood Control Advisory Board.

Relyea presented in turn Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, Congressman J. Ernest Wharton and Allan L. Hanstein. All spoke on various phases of the flood control problem. It was pointed out that the Corps of Army Engineers have jurisdiction over all streams and permanent flood control but that the cooperation of other agencies like State Department of Public Works, the State Flood Control Commission and local officials is necessary.

MEMBERS OF the Ulster County Flood Control Advisory Committee present at the meeting included John A. Aalto of Ashokan, A. J. Anderson of Kerhonkson, Edward C. Craig of Stone Ridge, Bernard A. Feeney of Kingston, James A. Guttridge of Kingston, Edward M. Huben of Rosendale, Irving I. Kauder of New Paltz, Albert Kurdt of Kingston, Jay LeFever of New Paltz, Frank Matthews of Kingston, Henry Millonig of Kingston, George Mollenhauer of Tillson, Joseph E. O'Connor of Rosendale, William C. Rose of Ellenville, and Supervisors W. Morton Bertrand of Pine Hill, Claude Bell of West Shokan, Fred DuBois of New Paltz, Harry Snyder of Stone Ridge and Donald A. Sprague of Ellenville.

Only three members of the committee could not attend. They were Supervisor Burton Marshall of Accord; Roland Green of Hurley and Charles Kaiser of Ellenville.

Local Death Record

Mary L. De Graff

The funeral of Mrs. Mary L. De Graff, widow of George W. De Graff of Stone Ridge who died on Friday, was held at the parlors of A. Carr and Son, 1 Pearl street, Monday at 11 a. m. Jersey Man Held On Check Charge

Bert Sichel, 25, of RD No 1, Monmouth Junction, N. J., was arrested Monday on a warrant executed by Officers Charles McCullough and George Dougherty, and listing a charge dealing with alleged issuance of a fradulent check.

City Judge Raymond J. Mino today moved the hearing date to Saturday. The defendant is under $500 bail.

Authorities indicated that more than one check is involved and the charge arises of transactions between the defendant as a member of a contracting or building corporation and Miron Building Products Co., Inc., of this city.

World News in Brief

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP)—Nationalist China today blasted the UN membership package deal as "illegal and immoral" and appealed to the Security Council to reject it.

The Chinese Nationalist delegate, Dr. T. F. Tsiang, also sought to overturn an agreement between Russia and the western powers on voting procedure for the admission of 18 new members to the world organization.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 13 (AP)—Albert Benjamin (Happy) Chandler today solemnly promised Kentucky a state-government administration worthy of confidence and respect.

The former baseball commissioner, who staged a remarkable political comeback to win the governorship again — after a lapse of 20 years—called for cooperation and assistance in achieving his aim of good government.

Chandler, 57-year-old Democrat, said "the elation of victory is weighted with the burden of responsibility. Pride is tempered with humility."

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 (AP)—The head of the nation's largest farm organization today called for a soil bank plan that would be part of the flexible farm price support program.

Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, made the suggestion at the Federation's annual meeting.

The "soil bank" idea has been proposed as a means to help solve the present problem of increasing surpluses and declining prices of farm products.

TETUAN, Spanish Morocco, Dec. 13 (AP)—Spanish border guards say all eight airmen aboard a U. S. military transport plane were killed when the craft hit a 5,000-foot peak in the rugged Riff mountains and exploded.

The plane was a four-engine C54 of the U. S. Air Force's 1700 Air Transport Group, based at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Tex. The transport crashed Sunday night in the Gomora district, near the border between French and Spanish Morocco.

Teamsters Elect Opposition Slate

Yonkers, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP)—Members of a milk truck drivers union rebelled against their secretary-treasurer, a convicted extortionist, last night and elected an opposition slate.

The ousted official, Francis Stickles of AFL-CIO Teamster Local 445, disputed the election and declared the meeting illegal. It was expected that the union struggle would eventually be taken to court.

Stickles had notified members of the union, which represents milk truck drivers from New York city to Albany, that the evening meeting had been called off. Nevertheless some 250 members from five counties showed up and declared the meeting in session.

The opposition group then elected its leader, Theodore Daley of Poughkeepsie, as secretary-treasurer. Other officers elected were James Hopkins, Liberty, president; Owen Kinary Rhinebeck, vice president; and Warren Hickman, Middletown, recording secretary.

A spokesman for the insurgents could not say when the new officials would take office. Daley reported that five business agents and three trustees were also chosen but did not give their names.

The opposition group had been trying for some time to oust Stickles and Business Agent Philip Massiello of Middletown, both of whom have been convicted of extorting $64,000 from employers by threatening labor trouble. The two men are free on bail pending appeal.

Daley reported that members attending the meeting were from Westchester, Putnam, Rockland, Orange, Ulster, Sullivan and Dutchess counties.

Don't Do It Yourself

East Moline, Ill. (AP)—Do-it-yourself fire fighting is deplorable, says Fire Chief George Larette. Don't be embarrassed to call for an investigation by the fire department at once if you smell smoke or even suspect a fire," he urged in a declaration on the subject. "There's no sorrier sight than the person who thought he could handle a small fire and then had to watch as the house and all his possessions were destroyed by the flames," he said.

Late Weather News

Waynesburg, Pa. (AP) — What goes up must come down even if it takes several years. W. A. Wilson, of nearby Graysville, found a weather balloon with its parachute still attached hanging from a tree. Inscribed on the instrument box was a faded but still legible: "Lexington, Ky. Dispatched July 26, 1952."

Driver Is Held For 3 Alleged Auto Violations

Michael Christoforo, 18, of 54 Yeomans street, was arrested at 2:12 a. m. today on East Union street by Officers Joseph Keller and Gilbert Gray for three alleged traffic violations.

The defendant appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today on charges of speeding, driving without a license, and having no proof of insurance. The case was put over until Wednesday morning.

Robert T. Fisher, of 132 Chambers street, was arrested at 8:10 p. m. yesterday on Chambers street on a charge that he was driving a car after dark with a junior operator's license. He was fined $15 and his license was suspended for 60 days.

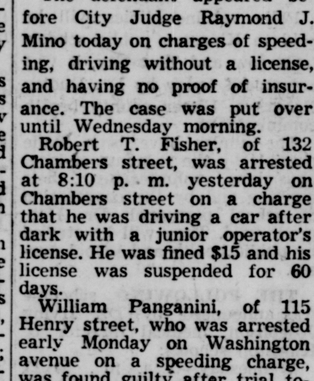

William Panganini, of 115 Henry street, who was arrested early Monday on Washington avenue on a speeding charge, was found guilty after trial today before Judge Mino and was fined $15.

Marbletown Boys Are Told of Hunting Rules

Each member of the Rondout Valley Lions Club brought a teenage boy to the dinner meeting last week at the SRS Home in Cottekill.

A lecture was given by Game Protector Burgin on hunting rules and regulations. The talk was followed by a showing of a film by Lion Charles Ayasse entitled "Trigger Happy Harry," concering shooting safety.

New members elected were Art Casperson and Donald Muller of Stone Ridge, Norman Wilson and Joseph Stein of High Falls and Amos Stokes, the local road superintendent.

Mail early. The earlier gifts and cards are mailed, the more the post office's work load is spread out, ensuring better delivery.

Seven Are Named New CC Directors

Seven men have been elected as directors of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce for a term of three years. They are James Abernethy, Raymond W. Garraghan, Lawrence A. Quilty, Robert B. O'Reilly, William O'Reilly, William E. Rylance and Robert L. Sabin.

The election committee, which canvassed the ballots Monday night, made this announcement today and reported a total of 292 ballots which represents over 50 per cent of the eligible voting members in the Chamber of Commerce.

THE SEVEN new directors will meet with the remaining 14 directors on the second Tuesday in January at which time officers for 1956 will be elected.

The 14 incumbent directors are as follows: One year term, Harold H. Baltz, George L. Chilson, Bernard A. Feeney, Floyd W. Flint, John H. Haulenbeek, Edward K. Lefren, Harry Rigby, Jr. For two year term, Vincent R. Burns, James G. Connelly, Gavin A. Cullen, Herbert C. Myers, Louis R. Netter, George J. Silkworth, William R. Stall.

Meanwhile, invitations to the coming annual banquet of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce were mailed to all members today. The letter was signed by Chamber President J. Ellis Briggs and Clarence H. Buddenhagen, chairman of the banquet committee.

ALTHOUGH the banquet will not take place until January 25, 1956, the indicated demand for tickets caused the committee to issue the official notice and invitation somewhat earlier than usual.

As announced, the speaker at the banquet will be Thomas J. Watson, Jr., president of the International Business Machines Corporation. It will be held in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The notice states that preference will be given to members of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce in the purchase of tickets until January 10 when the sale of tickets will be opened to the public. Members are being asked to purchase tickets at the Chamber office or return the reservation blank attached to the notice. The tickets are now available and all will be handled at the office.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—The stock market advanced a little today, reversing yesterday's downtrend.

Progress today wasn't very great nor was it universal, but the market nevertheless held higher.

Prices were up between 1 and 2 points in the best areas. Most changes either way were fractional.

Democrats Give

with the leaders of both political parties in the Senate and the House of Representatives for a bipartisan conference on the problems of foreign affairs and national defense which will be submitted to the 1956 Congress.

"Subjects under discussion included foreign affairs, the national defense budget, mutual security appropriations, the program of the U. S. Information Agency, policies on the question of disarmament and the organization for trade cooperation.

"At the start of the meeting the President thanked the leaders for accepting his invitation to discuss these subjects.

"He pointed out that he desired to discuss them on a bipartisan basis with the leaders of the legislative branch of the government and to receive their observations and suggestions prior to the opening of Congress.

"The secretary of state presented a review of world conditions since the foreign ministers' meeting at Geneva. He said that his department placed special emphasis on the economic aspects of foreign policy, particularly in view of the stepped up Soviet campaign in this field in southeast Asia and the Middle East.

"He also urged approval by the Congress of American participation in the organization for trade cooperation.

"The secretary of defense reviewed with the leaders the program of the defense establishment of the United States and the force levels which must be maintained to protect the nation against attack and to assure the maintenance of peace in this atomic age.

"The director of the International Cooperation Administration (John B. Hollister) outlined the aspects of mutual security, including mutual military support and economic and technical assistance for our allies and friends.

"The President discussed the program of the U. S. Information Agency. The President and the deputy director of the agency stressed the necessity for expanding the agency's program to present America's proposals for peace to all the peoples of the world.

"The special assistant to the President for disarmament (Harold E. Stassen) discussed in detail proposals for disarmament, particularly those phases dealing with the President's open sky recommendation. He pointed to the overwhelming vote taken yesterday at the United Nations as an indication of world wide support and interest in our country's pursuit of world peace.

"A general discussion was presented."

Vice president Nixon called the meeting "a very constructive and successful session in every respect — constructive in the sense of building foreign policy on true bipartisanship."

paid next July 1 and the remainder a year later.

The advisory committee which determined the gifts said it did not want to disrupt "the carefully evolved patterns of our system of high education..."

IN ITS announcement the Foundation quoted the committee as saying it "did not attempt to compare the calibre of these many different colleges, their general excellence or reputation ...variety is a healthy aspect of our entire system of higher education...this variety cannot be readily reduced to mathematical comparisons or scores."

The college grants were given in the form of 10-year endowments, the interest in that period to be used solely for increasing teachers salaries. After 10 years the college may use the money as it sees fit.

The 50 million dollar grant of last spring, which was not then distributed, will be allotted to 126 colleges as supplemental grants. The foundation said these will go to institutions that have "led the way in their regions in improving the status and compensation of American college teachers."

THE HOSPITAL grants are for improvement and expansion of service and not to be used for operating expenses. Final approval of individual hospital grants was held up pending submission of certain information.

The Foundation's total gift was 150 million dollars more than all the money given away in its previous 19 years.

Henry Ford, a pioneering giant of the motor industry, started the Foundation in 1936 for "the advancement of human welfare."

AT PRESENT some three million shares of non-voting Ford stock make up the Foundation's assets. Sixteen years ago this was valued at $135 a share for estate tax purposes, putting the Foundation's worth at about half a billion dollars.

However, the Foundation recently announced plans to sell a portion of the stock. Financial experts figure the market price to be brought by this stock will boost the Foundation's worth to 2½ to 3 billion dollars.

pealed to the zoning board for a ruling, contending that the property as a "non-conforming" site, had been used as a commercial property for many years. It also contended that areas around it were both business and industrial in character.

The aldermen, in rejecting the application, indicated that they were guided by sentiment represented on a petition circulated in the neighborhood.

As late as the last Common Council meeting Dec. 6, Corporation Counsel Abernethy was asked by the aldermen to determine which body had right to conclusive rulings on such zoning applications. It was indicated then that the forthcoming high court decision could determine the issue.

This conflict of interest and opinion between the city's legislative body and an administrative board. Abernethy indicated today, leaves him with no other alternative that to explain his position before Justice Hamm in Troy Friday.

Plans Started for Permanent Flood Control in Local Area

The Flood Control Advisory Committee recently appointed by the board of supervisors met Monday evening at the Court House, organized and took steps to develop a coordinated program of permanent flood control in Ulster county. Meeting with the committee was Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, State Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, and Allan L. Hanstein, director of the Ulster-Kingston Defense Council.

Another meeting of the committee will be held as soon as arrangements can be made to have representatives of the Corps of Army Engineers meet with them.

ARRANGEMENTS with the Army Engineers will be made by Congressman Wharton.

The purpose of the next meeting will be to ascertain what progress has been made toward a complete study of the watersheds of the Esopus and Rondout creeks and the Wallkill river. Also, what steps, if any, are necessary to assure the completion of the study and the execution of a comprehensive program of permanent flood control.

The discussion at the meeting Monday night clearly indicated that local groups and officials in all areas concerned with flooding can assist the county-wide advisory group by providing information as to the extent of damage to private as weil as public property, supporting an adequate program of permanent flood control and helping establish the absolute need for such a program.

Charles Relyea, chairman of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, presided at Monday nights meeting. H. Edgar Timmerman was named chairman; William C. Rose, vice chairman and Albert Kurdt, secretary of the Flood Control Advisory Board.

Relyea presented in turn Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson, Congressman J. Ernest Wharton and Allan L. Hanstein. All spoke on various phases of the flood control problem. It was pointed out that the Corps of Army Engineers have jurisdiction over all streams and permanent flood control but that the cooperation of other agencies like State Department of Public Works, the State Flood Control Commission and local officials is necessary.

MEMBERS OF the Ulster County Flood Control Advisory Committee present at the meeting included John A. Aalto of Ashokan, A. J. Anderson of Kerhonkson, Edward C. Craig of Stone Ridge, Bernard A. Feeney of Kingston, James A. Guttridge of Kingston, Edward M. Huben of Rosendale, Irving I. Kauder of New Paltz, Albert Kurdt of Kingston, Jay LeFever of New Paltz, Frank Matthews of Kingston, Henry Millonig of Kingston, George Mollenhauer of Tillson, Joseph E. O'Connor of Rosendale, William C. Rose of Ellenville, and Supervisors W. Morton Bertrand of Pine Hill, Claude Bell of West Shokan, Fred DuBois of New Paltz, Harry Snyder of Stone Ridge and Donald A. Sprague of Ellenville.

Only three members of the committee could not attend. They were Supervisor Burton Marshall of Accord; Roland Green of Hurley and Charles Kaiser of Ellenville.

Jersey Man Held On Check Charge

Bert Sichel, 25, of RD No 1, Monmouth Junction, N. J., was arrested Monday on a warrant executed by Officers Charles McCullough and George Dougherty, and listing a charge dealing with alleged issuance of a fradulent check.

City Judge Raymond J. Mino today moved the hearing date to Saturday. The defendant is under $500 bail.

Authorities indicated that more than one check is involved and the charge arises of transactions between the defendant as a member of a contracting or building corporation and Miron Building Products Co., Inc., of this city.

World News in Brief

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP)—Nationalist China today blasted the UN membership package deal as "illegal and immoral" and appealed to the Security Council to reject it.

The Chinese Nationalist delegate, Dr. T. F. Tsiang, also sought to overturn an agreement between Russia and the western powers on voting procedure for the admission of 18 new members to the world organization.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—The Dixon-Yates power group today sued the government for $3,534,778 for expenses in connection with the now-canceled contract for a private power plant in the Tennessee Valley Authority area.

The suit was filed by the Mississippi Valley Generating Co. in the U. S. Court of Claims.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13 (AP)—Another 16½ cents an hour in pay and health benefits for 750,000 non-operating rail employes hinged today on railroad and union acceptance.

There was no immediate comment from either side on the recommendation, contained in a fact-finding report filed at the White House yesterday by a special three-man board appointed by President Eisenhower.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 13 (AP)—Albert Benjamin (Happy) Chandler today solemnly promised Kentucky a state-government administration worthy of confidence and respect.

The former baseball commissioner, who staged a remarkable political comeback to win the governorship again — after a lapse of 20 years—called for cooperation and assistance in achieving his aim of good government.

Chandler, 57-year-old Democrat, said "the elation of victory is weighted with the burden of responsibility. Pride is tempered with humility."

CHICAGO, Dec. 13 (AP)—The head of the nation's largest farm organization today called for a soil bank plan that would be part of the flexible farm price support program.

Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, made the suggestion at the Federation's annual meeting.

The "soil bank" idea has been proposed as a means to help solve the present problem of increasing surpluses and declining prices of farm products.

TETUAN, Spanish Morocco, Dec. 13 (AP)—Spanish border guards say all eight airmen aboard a U. S. military transport plane were killed when the craft hit a 5,000-foot peak in the rugged Riff mountains and exploded.

The plane was a four-engine C54 of the U. S. Air Force's 1700 Air Transport Group, based at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Tex. The transport crashed Sunday night in the Gomora district, near the border between French and Spanish Morocco.

Teamsters Elect Opposition Slate

Yonkers, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP)—Members of a milk truck drivers union rebelled against their secretary-treasurer, a convicted extortionist, last night and elected an opposition slate.

The ousted official, Francis Stickles of AFL-CIO Teamster Local 445, disputed the election and declared the meeting illegal. It was expected that the union struggle would eventually be taken to court.

Stickles had notified members of the union, which represents milk truck drivers from New York city to Albany, that the evening meeting had been called off. Nevertheless some 250 members from five counties showed up and declared the meeting in session.

The opposition group then elected its leader, Theodore Daley of Poughkeepsie, as secretary-treasurer. Other officers elected were James Hopkins, Liberty, president; Owen Kinary Rhinebeck, vice president; and Warren Hickman, Middletown, recording secretary.

A spokesman for the insurgents could not say when the new officials would take office. Daley reported that five business agents and three trustees were also chosen but did not give their names.

The opposition group had been trying for some time to oust Stickles and Business Agent Philip Massiello of Middletown, both of whom have been convicted of extorting $64,000 from employers by threatening labor trouble. The two men are free on bail pending appeal.

Daley reported that members attending the meeting were from Westchester, Putnam, Rockland, Orange, Ulster, Sullivan and Dutchess counties.

Don't Do It Yourself

East Moline, Ill. (AP)—Do-it-yourself fire fighting is deplorable, says Fire Chief George Larette. Don't be embarrassed to call for an investigation by the fire department at once if you smell smoke or even suspect a fire," he urged in a declaration on the subject. "There's no sorrier sight than the person who thought he could handle a small fire and then had to watch as the house and all his possessions were destroyed by the flames," he said.

Late Weather News

Waynesburg, Pa. (AP) — What goes up must come down even if it takes several years. W. A. Wilson, of nearby Graysville, found a weather balloon with its parachute still attached hanging from a tree. Inscribed on the instrument box was a faded but still legible: "Lexington, Ky. Dispatched July 26, 1952."

Driver Is Held For 3 Alleged Auto Violations

Michael Christoforo, 18, of 54 Yeomans street, was arrested at 2:12 a. m. today on East Union street by Officers Joseph Keller and Gilbert Gray for three alleged traffic violations.

The defendant appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today on charges of speeding, driving without a license, and having no proof of insurance. The case was put over until Wednesday morning.

Robert T. Fisher, of 132 Chambers street, was arrested at 8:10 p. m. yesterday on Chambers street on a charge that he was driving a car after dark with a junior operator's license. He was fined $15 and his license was suspended for 60 days.

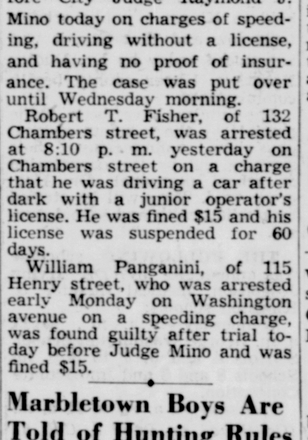

William Panganini, of 115 Henry street, who was arrested early Monday on Washington avenue on a speeding charge, was found guilty after trial today before Judge Mino and was fined $15.

Marbletown Boys Are Told of Hunting Rules

Each member of the Rondout Valley Lions Club brought a teenage boy to the dinner meeting last week at the SRS Home in Cottekill.

A lecture was given by Game Protector Burgin on hunting rules and regulations. The talk was followed by a showing of a film by Lion Charles Ayasse entitled "Trigger Happy Harry," concering shooting safety.

New members elected were Art Casperson and Donald Muller of Stone Ridge, Norman Wilson and Joseph Stein of High Falls and Amos Stokes, the local road superintendent.

Mail early. The earlier gifts and cards are mailed, the more the post office's work load is spread out, ensuring better delivery.

Seven Are Named New CC Directors

Seven men have been elected as directors of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce for a term of three years. They are James Abernethy, Raymond W. Garraghan, Lawrence A. Quilty, Robert B. O'Reilly, William O'Reilly, William E. Rylance and Robert L. Sabin.

The election committee, which canvassed the ballots Monday night, made this announcement today and reported a total of 292 ballots which represents over 50 per cent of the eligible voting members in the Chamber of Commerce.

THE SEVEN new directors will meet with the remaining 14 directors on the second Tuesday in January at which time officers for 1956 will be elected.

The 14 incumbent directors are as follows: One year term, Harold H. Baltz, George L. Chilson, Bernard A. Feeney, Floyd W. Flint, John H. Haulenbeek, Edward K. Lefren, Harry Rigby, Jr. For two year term, Vincent R. Burns, James G. Connelly, Gavin A. Cullen, Herbert C. Myers, Louis R. Netter, George J. Silkworth, William R. Stall.

Meanwhile, invitations to the coming annual banquet of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce were mailed to all members today. The letter was signed by Chamber President J. Ellis Briggs and Clarence H. Buddenhagen, chairman of the banquet committee.

ALTHOUGH the banquet will not take place until January 25, 1956, the indicated demand for tickets caused the committee to issue the official notice and invitation somewhat earlier than usual.

As announced, the speaker at the banquet will be Thomas J. Watson, Jr., president of the International Business Machines Corporation. It will be held in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The notice states that preference will be given to members of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce in the purchase of tickets until January 10 when the sale of tickets will be opened to the public. Members are being asked to purchase tickets at the Chamber office or return the reservation blank attached to the notice. The tickets are now available and all will be handled at the office.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—The stock market advanced a little today, reversing yesterday's downtrend.

Progress today wasn't very great nor was it universal, but the market nevertheless held higher.

Prices were up between 1 and 2 points in the best areas. Most changes either way were fractional.

with the leaders of both political parties in the Senate and the House of Representatives for a bipartisan conference on the problems of foreign affairs and national defense which will be submitted to the 1956 Congress.

"Subjects under discussion included foreign affairs, the national defense budget, mutual security appropriations, the program of the U. S. Information Agency, policies on the question of disarmament and the organization for trade cooperation.

"At the start of the meeting the President thanked the leaders for accepting his invitation to discuss these subjects.

"He pointed out that he desired to discuss them on a bipartisan basis with the leaders of the legislative branch of the government and to receive their observations and suggestions prior to the opening of Congress.

"The secretary of state presented a review of world conditions since the foreign ministers' meeting at Geneva. He said that his department placed special emphasis on the economic aspects of foreign policy, particularly in view of the stepped up Soviet campaign in this field in southeast Asia and the Middle East.

"He also urged approval by the Congress of American participation in the organization for trade cooperation.

"The secretary of defense reviewed with the leaders the program of the defense establishment of the United States and the force levels which must be maintained to protect the nation against attack and to assure the maintenance of peace in this atomic age.

"The director of the International Cooperation Administration (John B. Hollister) outlined the aspects of mutual security, including mutual military support and economic and technical assistance for our allies and friends.

"The President discussed the program of the U. S. Information Agency. The President and the deputy director of the agency stressed the necessity for expanding the agency's program to present America's proposals for peace to all the peoples of the world.

"The special assistant to the President for disarmament (Harold E. Stassen) discussed in detail proposals for disarmament, particularly those phases dealing with the President's open sky recommendation. He pointed to the overwhelming vote taken yesterday at the United Nations as an indication of world wide support and interest in our country's pursuit of world peace.

"A general discussion was presented."

Vice president Nixon called the meeting "a very constructive and successful session in every respect — constructive in the sense of building foreign policy on true bipartisanship."

paid next July 1 and the remainder a year later.

The advisory committee which determined the gifts said it did not want to disrupt "the carefully evolved patterns of our system of high education..."

IN ITS announcement the Foundation quoted the committee as saying it "did not attempt to compare the calibre of these many different colleges, their general excellence or reputation ...variety is a healthy aspect of our entire system of higher education...this variety cannot be readily reduced to mathematical comparisons or scores."

The college grants were given in the form of 10-year endowments, the interest in that period to be used solely for increasing teachers salaries. After 10 years the college may use the money as it sees fit.

The 50 million dollar grant of last spring, which was not then distributed, will be allotted to 126 colleges as supplemental grants. The foundation said these will go to institutions that have "led the way in their regions in improving the status and compensation of American college teachers."

THE HOSPITAL grants are for improvement and expansion of service and not to be used for operating expenses. Final approval of individual hospital grants was held up pending submission of certain information.

The Foundation's total gift was 150 million dollars more than all the money given away in its previous 19 years.

Henry Ford, a pioneering giant of the motor industry, started the Foundation in 1936 for "the advancement of human welfare."

AT PRESENT some three million shares of non-voting Ford stock make up the Foundation's assets. Sixteen years ago this was valued at $135 a share for estate tax purposes, putting the Foundation's worth at about half a billion dollars.

However, the Foundation recently announced plans to sell a portion of the stock. Financial experts figure the market price to be brought by this stock will boost the Foundation's worth to 2½ to 3 billion dollars.

pealed to the zoning board for a ruling, contending that the property as a "non-conforming" site, had been used as a commercial property for many years. It also contended that areas around it were both business and industrial in character.

The aldermen, in rejecting the application, indicated that they were guided by sentiment represented on a petition circulated in the neighborhood.

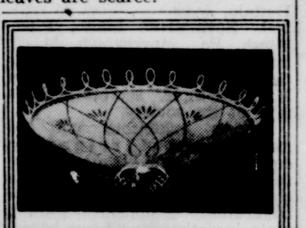

As late as the last Common Council meeting Dec. 6, Corporation Counsel Abernethy was asked by the aldermen to determine which body had right to conclusive rulings on such zoning applications. It was indicated then that the forthcoming high court decision could determine the issue.

This conflict of interest and opinion between the city's legislative body and an administrative board. Abernethy indicated today, leaves him with no other alternative that to explain his position before Justice Hamm in Troy Friday.

Honest Fishermen

Lawton, Mich. (AP)—Boat liveryman Ed Wagner puts fishermen on their honor when they rent his boats. Wagner, 73, has installed a system of slots on his garage at nearby Cedar Lake. Slot numbers correspond with those of boats. A sign directs the customer to insert his fee and help himself to a boat. Wagner says that in two years of operating his system he has been "beat out" of only one or two fees. The price is $1 a day.

No Political Bloc In View, Leaders Say

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—Top leaders of the AFL-CIO say the united labor organization intends to be politically active but does not want to build a dominating labor bloc within or outside existing parties.

George Meany, president of the newly merged AFL-CIO, said on the CBS television program "Face the Nation" yesterday, "We support candidates who are sympathetic with the needs of labor."

He said organized labor does not want to form a third party or to exercise control within the framework of any existing party. However, he repeated a previous statement that if legally barred from political activity, labor could be "compelled" to form a third party.

"But let me say," he added, "I don't think that will happen."

On another program, Walter P. Reuther, vice president of the AFL-CIO, denied reports that the big union would form any single political bloc.

Surplus, Textile Rifts Figure In

World Problems Affect U. S. Cotton Quotas

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—Cotton farmers voting today on marketing quotas for next year's crop are entangled in world problems as well as the domestic ones.

The cotton surplus problem has a part in such things as the United States and Russia jockeying for the friendship of Egypt. It is involved in the American textile mills' quarrel with the Japanese textile industry. It will be watched by the millhands in Manchester, England.

IN THIS country there are sectional disputes as well. The interests of the southeastern cotton grower with a small farm aren't the same as those of the big acreage farmer in the irrigated southwest.

There are also the basic disputes between the textile mill operators who think the price of cotton is held artificially high and the cotton farmer who fears any change that might pull the rug out from under his income.

And there is the dispute, common to all farm products that are government price supported, between the city taxpayer who puts up a large share of the support money while paying high prices for food and clothing made of farm products and the farmers who see their incomes slowly but steadily dipping.

RIGHT NOW the whole muddle is twice confounded because the farm problem is becoming so entangled with party politics that the objective view will be hard to sight amid the clutter of partisan election-year statements.

The United States now has a cotton supply on hand of more than 25 million bales. Domestic mills use about nine million bales a year. Of the remaining 16 million bales, some 1¾ million may move overseas through various foreign aid programs, and some 2½ to 3 million more may be exported through regular trade channels.

That will leave the United States holding some 13 to 14 million bales of unsold cotton in addition to whatever the cotton farmers grow in the coming season, as set by today's voting on limitation of acreage to be planted this spring.

MORE. COULD move into world trade except for the international and domestic disputes involved.

The huge cotton surplus plays a big role in the United States' hesitancy to fight it out with Soviet Russia for Egypt's favor. Egypt has its heart set on building the high Aswan Dam which would irrigate many acres of land that could produce long staple cotton—in competition in particular with the fast growing fine cotton output of our own southwest, as well as with every American cotton farmer over whose head a world cotton surplus hangs.

THE RUSSIANS HAVE offered to help build Egypt's dam. Washington doubts if the Soviets could fulfill their promise, but it fears the propaganda effect on the Arab world of the offer itself. Yet to jump in and furnish the money ourselves would be working against the interests of our own cotton farmers.

Uncle Sam could dump part of his surplus cotton on the world market at lower than support prices. But that would bring howls not only from other cotton producing countries, but also from our own cotton textile mills who would see their competitors in England and Japan benefiting by getting a lower priced cotton at the expense of American mills buying at a higher price. Already Americans are fighting hard against the influx of cotton fabrics and garments from the rapidly growing Japanese textile industry.

THIS IS THE chief argument against the two-price system put forth by some cotton state congressmen. This system would maintain one price for the cotton consumed in this country and a lower one for the surplus our government might sell abroad.

It's against all this confused world picture our cotton farmers are voting today on quotas for their new crop.

FRIENDS OF SALVATION ARMY

The Salvation Army kettles in the uptown business section of the city are being manned on Fridays and Saturdays by members of the local service clubs. These men who stand for hours ringing bells at the kettles know that the contributions made in this cause will benefit many families who will enjoy something of the happiness of the Christmas season.

From now on through Christmas Eve the kettles will be on sidewalks to receive whatever you care to give to this worthy cause. Your contribution to the Salvation Army Service Unit Christmas Appeal will be greeted by the ringing of a bell, which clearly sounds the true Christmas message. It has been observed by the service club workers that a very large percentage of the children drop coins in the kettles.

The gifts of a generous public to this important program of the Salvation Army make it possible also for them to distribute gifts in state and local hospitals, veterans' hospitals and many other institutions.

It is well to remember this as you pass one of these kettles during the remaining days before Christmas.

PERIOD OF UNCERTAINTY

Politicians as a breed are given to wishful thinking. Probably no harder wishing was ever done than the Republicans are engaged in right now as they await President Eisenhower's decision whether or not run again.

It is in this light that the hopeful comments of Leonard Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, must be viewed. He thinks the President will try for a second term "if he feels he is able."

But Hall is by nature an especially cheerful politician, given to reading bright promise in the signs he finds about him. We must realize that is what he has done in this case.

Hall has not actually talked to Mr. Eisenhower about a second term. Indeed, by his own word we know that the President said nothing that even indirectly could be taken as a cue to his intentions for 1956.

What Hall is reporting are his impressions of Mr. Eisenhower's health, his mood and temper, and his interest in affairs political and otherwise. He finds that the President looks well, is eager for work, and maintains a lively curiosity about matters of national and world concern.

On the other hand, he finds no discouraging evidence, no signs of physical strain, no wistful comment about settling down on his farm, and so on. Perhaps it was the absence of this negative evidence that more than anything convinced Hall he had real reason to hope.

In any event, we must understand that no positive cue has been given. We are still in the phase of uncertainty, where men can only give us their impressions of what the President might do. It is a phase that may last for many weeks to come.

IMPROVEMENTS IN ORDER

About the only people who might be expected to be satisfied with the way Congress is run are the congressmen and not many of them are contented. If this is true, perhaps they will examine and even adopt some of the recommendations for improvement submitted by a governmental expert, Dr. George B. Galloway of the Library of Congress.

Dr. Galloway says that party leadership in our national legislature could be strengthened. There should be frequent meetings of the entire membership of each party in Congress, and provision made for binding caucus decisions. Genuine party policy committees should be created which can direct fellow-partisans to concerted action.

Above all, committee chairmen should not be selected by seniority, but chosen by the Speaker of the House and the majority leader of the Senate, respectively. These should have power to change the chairmanships from time to time.

This last reform would prevent a vital committee from being held in the grip of a member whose sole recommendation is that he keeps getting reelected in his district. Alert and public spirited committee chairmen could do much to improve lawmaking, even if no other of Dr. Galloway's proposed changes were adopted.

OUTER MONGOLIA

The proposal to include Mongolia in the membership of the United Nations is a dishonest trick, designed to bring Red China into that body by another name. Outer Mongolia is by all the rules of international law a province of Red China. It has never been recognized as a sovereign state except by Red China and the Soviet Universal State.

The Mongols under Genghis Khan and his descendants in the 12th Century conquered both Russia and China, as well as India. On the whole, it can be said that the Mongols were better conquerors than administrators. They lacked a sense of nationality; they were not race conscious nor did they have religious prejudices. Therefore they were absorbed by those whom they conquered. Leaving their lair in the vicinity of Lake Baikal a power people, they changed into a soft, effete race in a short time and were overcome in Russia by the Duke of Moscow, in China by the Ming Dynasty and in India by the British. The descendants of the Mongols are everywhere in small pockets under various names.

Mongolia is an undefined territory lying between Siberia and China, sparsely settled, about 1,700,000 square miles in area. Up to about 1925, these Mongols lived in a pre-Genghis Khan economy and social structure, grazing sheep, horses, and cattle. About one quarter of their land is desert, with small rivers that disappear. Since 1925, there has been a degree of industrialization and urbanization. The richest area is in the Altai mountains which is well watered. However, the Gobi Desert alone covers about 200,000 square miles, and no important culture can exist there. The Mongols therefore, have often in their history been forced to push forward for food. Urga, a city with which I have some familiarity, is the most important in the entire region.

Because of geographical propinquity and Russian activity, even under the Czars, while all the provinces of Mongolia were part of China, the pull of sentiment was toward Russia. The Chinese tried to solve this particular problem by sending hordes of Chinese into Mongolia for permanent settlement, as China had done successfully in Manchuria. However, the Mongols resented Chinese occupation, a resentment that was stimulated by the Russians and by Mongols who lived in Siberia, in such cities as Irkutsk, Verkne-Udinsk, Kiakhta and Chita.

After the Revolution of 1911 in China, Russia set up a protectorate of Mongolia, particularly as the Mongol princes contended that they owed no loyalty to the Republic of China, only to the Manchu Emperors who had been dethroned.

Outer Mongolia made itself independent of China but under the protection of Russia; Inner Mongonia consisted of Chinese provinces. In a series of secret treaties with Japan, beginning in 1912, Mongolia was divided into two spheres of influence, one Russian, the other Japanese. China never recognized these arrangements as valid, but China did, in 1913, recognize the autonomy of Outer Mongolia, Czarist Russia recognized China a suzerain. This was confirmed by the Treaty of Kiakhta in 1915.

After the Russian Revolution of 1917, China pushed back into Mongolia, ostensibly to prevent Attaman Semenov from establishing a Pan-Mongolian state with himself at the head of it.

A revolution occurred in Mongolia in September 1921, and the Peoples Revolutionary Government came into existence as a Russian satellite—the first satellite. They signed a secret treaty which contained this clause:

"1. The Russian Soviet and the Revolutionary Mongol Government recognize each other as the only government in the territory of Russia and Mongolia."

This eliminated China completely. However, by the Sino-Soviet Treaty of 1924, Outer Mongolia was recognized nominally as an integral part of China. Nevertheless, the Mongolian Republic became part of the Soviet Universal State and has been since 1921. The advent of Mao Tze-tung's Red Chinese regime only confirmed the fact that Mongolia is a Russian satellite.

It is obvious that as Red China has not been able to get into the United Nations, the present fight to get Mongolia into it is a Red Chinese trick to get in vicariously. The United States has no reason to consent to such a device, never having recognized Mongolia as a sovereign state.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

A LITTLE KNOWLEDGE

We have all heard the saying, "A little knowledge is a dangerous thing," but frequently, a little knowledge is much more valuable than no knowledge at all. I am thinking of the case of two women, working side by side in an office. One receives a call from her husband that he has a pain in his stomach, feels a little "sick" and is leaving his job to go home. The wife feels a little perturbed, since it is not usual for her husband to go home ill, and asks the other woman if she thinks there is any need for worry.

The second woman, having suffered herself from a ruptured appendix which had not been diagnosed early, immediately suggested that the husband might have early appendicitis and prevailed on the wife to get a physician for her husband. This was done, over the husband's objections who stated he had only a "stomachache," and an emergency appendectomy was performed within a few hours. The appendix was badly inflamed and the early operation forestalled peritonitis and enabled him to be back on his feet within a week or so.

Too often the early pain of appendicitis is mistaken for just a stomachache. It is a mistaken idea on many of our parts that appendix pain begins in the right lower side, in the region of the appendix. Although the pain eventually ends up in the appendix region, it does not do so until the illness is well advanced and it is wiser not to leave calling a physician until that stage.

The symptoms of acute appendicitis begin with violent pain in the abdomen, colicky pain about the navel, nausea and loss of appetite. Later, during the attack, the violent pain goes down to the lower right side of abdomen. There is an old saying that "If fever and vomiting come on before the pain, it is probably not appendicitis." There is pain and tenderness on pressure in appendix region, pain in rectum, and the abdomen becomes hard. Of course, as in every other condition, symptoms are not always the same in every person, and the wise thing to do is to consult your physician. He will not advise operation unless he has reason to believe this is the thing to do. No foods, no laxative, not even a glass of water should be given until the diagnosis has been made nor should any pain-killers be given until the patient has been seen by the physician. Patient should be kept lying flat, not sitting up. Several authorities recommend the use of an ice-bag to the abdomen till the physician arrives.

We should not overlook cases of chronic appendicitis which are usually the result of one or more attacks which have made changes in and about the appendix, such as adhesions, deformity or displacment of the appendix. The symptoms are usually pain and soreness in the right lower abdomen, not usually associated with meals and which may be constantly present or come on in attacks. Here again operation is usually recommended.

"But If Pop Doesn't Get a Raise---You Can Skip It"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—They're throwing mush in the fans again.

This is the only plausible explanation for all the fuss over tiny Portuguese Goa, on India's west coast.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles probably never intended to get smeared by it as he has. But now that he's in it, he's standing by his guns.

It began when Portugal's foreign minister, Dr. Paulo Cunha, was in Washington a few days ago. He made one of the most unblushing defenses of colonialism since the Victorian era.

His statement was so out of step with modern political thought that it got practically no space in the American press. There was a spontaneously polite reluctance to show up the distinguished guest in a bad light.

"THE THOUGHTLESS spread of the anticolonialist movement urgently requires reappraisal," said Dr. Cunha.

"Acting as an inflexible 'anti-colonialist,' the man of the West is unconsciously rendering the greatest service to his mortal enemy, the Communist agitator," he said.

"There is good colonialism and there is bad colonialism," Dr. Cunha went on. "Let us correct the latter. But let us not act blindly, simply by opposition to all colonialism and to everything resembling colonialism."

What the Portuguese foreign minister was obviously trying to do here was defend what he considered his government's "good colonialism" in its hold on Portuguese West Africa, Mozambique, Guinea, the Azores and other Atlantic islands, Macao on the Red China coast, Timor in the Pacific, and the three tiny holdings of Damao, Diu and Goa, near Bombay.

Dr. Cunha made his unabashed defense of colonialism to whip up support in an amazed and unbelieving Washington. He did it deliberately just after Russian Premier Bulganin and Communist party Secretary Khrushchev gave their support to India's efforts to get the Portuguese out of Goa.

Speaking in Madras, Bulganin had declared that Portugal "was like an insect feeding on human blood." A Portuguese-ruled Goa was "a shame" to civilized people, he said, as the Indians cheered.

IN SHORT, THE RUSSIAN TRIED not too subtly to stir up the Indians to drive the Portuguese out.

When Dulles and Cunha came to issue the final communique on their Washington talks, they had this very much in mind.

"...Various statements attributed to the Soviet rulers...and allegations concerning the Portuguese provinces in the Far East were discussed by the two foreign ministers," they said. "They considered that such statements do not represent a contribution to the cause of peace . . ."

They thought they were taking a swing at "Bulgy' and "Krush" in this communique. But that word "provinces" bounced off their bat. The Indians fielded it and carried, "Foul."

There was no specific mention of Goa in this communique, though Dr. Cunha talked about it a lot while here. But in a later press conference, Dulles not only mentioned Goa, but reiterated that it is a Portguese province.

The official U. S. position on Goa is that of neutrality. It wants only to see the issue settled peacefully.

THE PREVAILING OPINION among Washington officials is undoubtedly that colonialism is a dead duck and there isn't any use trying to revive it. Portugal just hasn't realized that yet.

Sooner or later, it is recognized that "Goa will have to go," as the saying is.

But if and when it does go, it should be permitted to go peacefully. There should be full recognition of the Goans' rights to express their preference. They should not be forced into union with India, if they don't want it, in what Dr. Cunha calls "enslavement by Indian imperialism."

But what this souped-up excitement illustrates again is how the United States—as the leading power—can get sucked into terrible troubles defending the self-determination of small peoples in such remote real estate developments as Quemoy, Matsu, Dien Bien Phu and now Goa.

Public Getting Full Story On Condition of Eisenhower

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 13 — They are certainly building up public confidence in the sincerity of the statements made at the White House about President Eisenhower's health. Every bit of important information is being given to the press by the President's physicians.

This is in contrast to what happened when the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt was a candidate for a fourth term and, it turned out, lived less than three months after being inaugurated. Even today there is a controversy as to what was the true condition of Mr. Roosevelt when he went to Yalta in 1945. The press photographers, too, cooperated under the Roosevelt regime. They never took pictures that showed Mr. Roosevelt's physical handicap, and the newspapers refrained from telling the American people that their President couldn't walk unaided.

THIS WAS a proper and commendable courtesy to a President, but not long ago President Eisenhower wasn't permitted the privacy of a convalesence at the Denver hospital. On one occasion some press photographers hired a plane to fly over the hospital to take pictures.

Frankness and candor on the news side have today wisely supplanted the secrecy and evasion of the past. If President Eisenhower is or is not physically able to run for a second term, the American people will have no doubt about what the physicians in attendance think about it. All the facts will be available to the public.

This is as it should be, and the White House staff advisers deserve commendation for having suppressed nothing since the President became ill. In fact, their zealous devotion to detail may even have given the impression that there is something extraordinary about the way the President has been convalescing in recent days, when the truth is he is making an ordinary recovery. When, for instance, he is told to slow down, it naturally gets into the headlines, though many a physician has told many a patient the same thing and it hasn't meant that an important change has taken place in the patient's condition.

MR. EISENHOWER is naturally an energetic person. He does things with a zest and vigor that comes from his military training and his conscientious devotion to duty. Having heard perhaps that the presidential office wasn't operating under full steam while he was ill in Denver, he now endeavors to make up for lost time.

The pressures, of course, are bound to continue. But there is nothing in the Constitution which tells a President that he must work fourteen hours a day, or four. Nor is there any obligation to hold press conferences, either. President Wilson during the entire period of World War 1 did not hold a single press conference, and the Republic survived—and we won the war. Mr. Wilson felt it was risky to discuss international matters in an impromptu way.

There are many persons, including this correspondent, who believe that the press conference is the biggest single strain Mr. Eisenhower has borne during his term of office. The idea that the press may catechise a President and cross-examine and needle him on any subject, political or otherwise, and that this is necessary or else "freedom of the press" perishes, is not likely to be approved by the people generally if an issue is made of it some day. The television showing of the press conferences has revealed again and again the movement of the tense muscles of the President's neck as he waits for the next question to be asked.

The press conference of today is an ordeal to which no President should be subjected. The same objective can be obtained through written questions, the answers to which can be prepared with care, as is fitting in a government whose spokesman might with a single phrase carelessly spoken under the stress of impromptu utterance undo the progress made by months of painstaking diplomacy.

THE FACTS can and should be given to the people, and there are many ways to do it. A Presidential press conference is unlike the successful and orderly system of questions in the free parliaments abroad where the queries are prepared many days in advance, so that due notice is given and only those questions are answered which it is deemed good public policy to answer.

The strain imposed on a President to do things really not required of him is what makes the office today a superhuman job.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

James F. Byrnes, our secretary of state under Truman, has written a defense of the State Department against ridicule and other forms of attack which greatly exaggerates and misrepresents the case. In general, the department has the respect of most Americans whose opinions matter, including politicians, specifically Senator Joe McCarthy. As one who carefully watched the development of the pro Communist campaign within the Eisenhower cabal to discredit McCarthy because he was exposing vicious conditions in the State Department, I can agree with both Byrnes and McCarthy.

McCarthy would be the last to deny Byrnes' declaration that the people of our career foreign service are "alert, intelligent sentinels on constant duty in all our diplomatic outposts," except that Byrnes does not note the existence of dangerous exceptions. When he writes that it is time "to stop shooting our sentries" he insinuates that the decent, non-partisan, non-political members of this corps suffer the same public contempt which the wicked deserve and too seldom receive.

He resorts to innocence by association, which is far different from guilt by association. A corrupt person does not acquire innocence by associating with the innocent majority. He is still corrupt — a Communist traitor, perhaps, or a homosexual or a drunken flannel-mouth. Neither does he contaminate the innocent. But anyone who knowingly consorts with persons who are flagrantly corrupt positively condones corruption and thus incurs guilt by association. He deserves legitimate punishment.

Mr. Byrnes admitted that soon after the war Harry Truman dumped into the State Department "more than 10,000 persons from the Office of War Information, the Office of Inter-American Affairs and the Office of Strategic Services." All three of these bureaus were evil, nasty concentrations of parasites, to say the best of most of them, and Communist traitors at worst. Byrnes and Truman well know this by now if they did not know it then. I certainly knew it then without any of the official sources of information which were at their service, and congressional inquiries since 1945 have proved many facts which sailed right past the public eye and ear. There were small minorities of technically decent but useless bureaucrats in each of these aggregations, but all three were on the whole rotten.

The OSS was worst, the OWI was little better and the Office of Inter-American Affairs was more futile and stupid than sinister, as far as our knowledge went at the time. However, the decay of Latin-American politics since the war undoubtedly is the result of infections incurred through the office during the war. It is a sorry fact that the OSS, the worst concentration of Reds, was organized and, in a loose, haphazard way, managed by a great patriot and hero, William J. Donovan, of New York, who won the Medal of Honor in battle with the 69th New York of the 42nd or Rainbow Division in the first war. He is a Republican in politics and, in religion, a Catholic, so it were unthinkable that he should have permitted Communists to infest his OSS to promote their own purposes. Like John L. Lewis (in the organizing days of the CIO) he thought he could use Communists in European espionage without allowing them to use the OSS for the purposes of Soviet Russia. He was badly mistaken. The slaughter of thousands of fine Italians of the anti-Communist, Fascist regime was a ghastly consequence of the flippant, cynical policy of the Roosevelt-Truman regime of "recognizing" the Communists in the enemy countries and cooperating with them merely because they were enemies of Mussolini and Hitler. They were also enemies of the United States as any knowing person knew then.

Mr. Byrnes knows, indeed most of Washington knows, that one of the highest officials of the State Department under Cordell Hull, a family favorite of the Roosevelts, was a notorious homosexual. A male secretary to William Bullitt, our ambassador in both Petrograd and Paris, was arrested and charged with such an offense in Washington and admitted later that in forfeiting his $25 bail-bond he tacitly acknowledged guilt. So, unfortunately, the department has suffered stains, including some which could have been rased by honest, courageous official action. It was not enough to permit this notorious friend of the Roosevelts to withdraw with honor. The State Department had a duty to the country and to its own people whom Mr. Byrnes is now defending against casual, unfair suspicion, to drum this individual out. Mr. Byrnes surely knows of this case but he says nothing about it.

When Whittaker Chambers went to A. A. Berle with his long, detailed story about Alger Hiss, Berle, an important secondary official of state, regarded it as a mere matter of internal bureaucratic rivalry. He soon went sailing gaily off to Rio as ambasssador. When Walter Winchell, then a naval officer on active service, took the same facts to Roosevelt, Roosevelt scoffed the situation away. The State Department was not innocent. It was badly infected with treachery not only by this sudden access of 10,000 cats and dogs from the three rogue bureaus but by an intentional policy of the long Roosevelt regime.

Hwever, no decent man or woman in the American embassy in Rome or Bonn, for examples, today, can possibly feel conscious of suspicion. Like decent persons everywhere in American society they carry their heads high. Any mere rumorist or downright accuser would bring scorn on himself, not them.

Bakery Drivers Get $115 Pension Plan

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—Some 2,000 unionized bakery drivers in New York city were given a pension plan that will pay them $115 a month plus social security after 25 years of service.

The plan, covering members of the AFL-CIO Bakery Drivers Local 550 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, was outlined yesterday. It will be financed by weekly payments of $5 per driver by 10 large baking companies in New York city.

Full pension benefits are obtained by the drivers who served 25 years and retired at the age of 60. Partial benefits may be given workers with 15 years of service who retired at 55.

Company and union officials estimated that a driver retiring at full pension will receive a total of $223 monthly in combined pension - social security benefits.

The plan was described as one of the most generous yet agreed upon for industrial workers.

FRIENDS OF SALVATION ARMY

The Salvation Army kettles in the uptown business section of the city are being manned on Fridays and Saturdays by members of the local service clubs. These men who stand for hours ringing bells at the kettles know that the contributions made in this cause will benefit many families who will enjoy something of the happiness of the Christmas season.

From now on through Christmas Eve the kettles will be on sidewalks to receive whatever you care to give to this worthy cause. Your contribution to the Salvation Army Service Unit Christmas Appeal will be greeted by the ringing of a bell, which clearly sounds the true Christmas message. It has been observed by the service club workers that a very large percentage of the children drop coins in the kettles.

The gifts of a generous public to this important program of the Salvation Army make it possible also for them to distribute gifts in state and local hospitals, veterans' hospitals and many other institutions.

It is well to remember this as you pass one of these kettles during the remaining days before Christmas.

PERIOD OF UNCERTAINTY

Politicians as a breed are given to wishful thinking. Probably no harder wishing was ever done than the Republicans are engaged in right now as they await President Eisenhower's decision whether or not run again.

It is in this light that the hopeful comments of Leonard Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, must be viewed. He thinks the President will try for a second term "if he feels he is able."

But Hall is by nature an especially cheerful politician, given to reading bright promise in the signs he finds about him. We must realize that is what he has done in this case.

Hall has not actually talked to Mr. Eisenhower about a second term. Indeed, by his own word we know that the President said nothing that even indirectly could be taken as a cue to his intentions for 1956.

What Hall is reporting are his impressions of Mr. Eisenhower's health, his mood and temper, and his interest in affairs political and otherwise. He finds that the President looks well, is eager for work, and maintains a lively curiosity about matters of national and world concern.

On the other hand, he finds no discouraging evidence, no signs of physical strain, no wistful comment about settling down on his farm, and so on. Perhaps it was the absence of this negative evidence that more than anything convinced Hall he had real reason to hope.

In any event, we must understand that no positive cue has been given. We are still in the phase of uncertainty, where men can only give us their impressions of what the President might do. It is a phase that may last for many weeks to come.

IMPROVEMENTS IN ORDER

About the only people who might be expected to be satisfied with the way Congress is run are the congressmen and not many of them are contented. If this is true, perhaps they will examine and even adopt some of the recommendations for improvement submitted by a governmental expert, Dr. George B. Galloway of the Library of Congress.

Dr. Galloway says that party leadership in our national legislature could be strengthened. There should be frequent meetings of the entire membership of each party in Congress, and provision made for binding caucus decisions. Genuine party policy committees should be created which can direct fellow-partisans to concerted action.

Above all, committee chairmen should not be selected by seniority, but chosen by the Speaker of the House and the majority leader of the Senate, respectively. These should have power to change the chairmanships from time to time.

This last reform would prevent a vital committee from being held in the grip of a member whose sole recommendation is that he keeps getting reelected in his district. Alert and public spirited committee chairmen could do much to improve lawmaking, even if no other of Dr. Galloway's proposed changes were adopted.

A LITTLE KNOWLEDGE

We have all heard the saying, "A little knowledge is a dangerous thing," but frequently, a little knowledge is much more valuable than no knowledge at all. I am thinking of the case of two women, working side by side in an office. One receives a call from her husband that he has a pain in his stomach, feels a little "sick" and is leaving his job to go home. The wife feels a little perturbed, since it is not usual for her husband to go home ill, and asks the other woman if she thinks there is any need for worry.

The second woman, having suffered herself from a ruptured appendix which had not been diagnosed early, immediately suggested that the husband might have early appendicitis and prevailed on the wife to get a physician for her husband. This was done, over the husband's objections who stated he had only a "stomachache," and an emergency appendectomy was performed within a few hours. The appendix was badly inflamed and the early operation forestalled peritonitis and enabled him to be back on his feet within a week or so.

Too often the early pain of appendicitis is mistaken for just a stomachache. It is a mistaken idea on many of our parts that appendix pain begins in the right lower side, in the region of the appendix. Although the pain eventually ends up in the appendix region, it does not do so until the illness is well advanced and it is wiser not to leave calling a physician until that stage.

The symptoms of acute appendicitis begin with violent pain in the abdomen, colicky pain about the navel, nausea and loss of appetite. Later, during the attack, the violent pain goes down to the lower right side of abdomen. There is an old saying that "If fever and vomiting come on before the pain, it is probably not appendicitis." There is pain and tenderness on pressure in appendix region, pain in rectum, and the abdomen becomes hard. Of course, as in every other condition, symptoms are not always the same in every person, and the wise thing to do is to consult your physician. He will not advise operation unless he has reason to believe this is the thing to do. No foods, no laxative, not even a glass of water should be given until the diagnosis has been made nor should any pain-killers be given until the patient has been seen by the physician. Patient should be kept lying flat, not sitting up. Several authorities recommend the use of an ice-bag to the abdomen till the physician arrives.

We should not overlook cases of chronic appendicitis which are usually the result of one or more attacks which have made changes in and about the appendix, such as adhesions, deformity or displacment of the appendix. The symptoms are usually pain and soreness in the right lower abdomen, not usually associated with meals and which may be constantly present or come on in attacks. Here again operation is usually recommended.

"But If Pop Doesn't Get a Raise---You Can Skip It"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—They're throwing mush in the fans again.

This is the only plausible explanation for all the fuss over tiny Portuguese Goa, on India's west coast.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles probably never intended to get smeared by it as he has. But now that he's in it, he's standing by his guns.

It began when Portugal's foreign minister, Dr. Paulo Cunha, was in Washington a few days ago. He made one of the most unblushing defenses of colonialism since the Victorian era.

His statement was so out of step with modern political thought that it got practically no space in the American press. There was a spontaneously polite reluctance to show up the distinguished guest in a bad light.

"THE THOUGHTLESS spread of the anticolonialist movement urgently requires reappraisal," said Dr. Cunha.

"Acting as an inflexible 'anti-colonialist,' the man of the West is unconsciously rendering the greatest service to his mortal enemy, the Communist agitator," he said.

"There is good colonialism and there is bad colonialism," Dr. Cunha went on. "Let us correct the latter. But let us not act blindly, simply by opposition to all colonialism and to everything resembling colonialism."

What the Portuguese foreign minister was obviously trying to do here was defend what he considered his government's "good colonialism" in its hold on Portuguese West Africa, Mozambique, Guinea, the Azores and other Atlantic islands, Macao on the Red China coast, Timor in the Pacific, and the three tiny holdings of Damao, Diu and Goa, near Bombay.

Dr. Cunha made his unabashed defense of colonialism to whip up support in an amazed and unbelieving Washington. He did it deliberately just after Russian Premier Bulganin and Communist party Secretary Khrushchev gave their support to India's efforts to get the Portuguese out of Goa.

Speaking in Madras, Bulganin had declared that Portugal "was like an insect feeding on human blood." A Portuguese-ruled Goa was "a shame" to civilized people, he said, as the Indians cheered.

IN SHORT, THE RUSSIAN TRIED not too subtly to stir up the Indians to drive the Portuguese out.

When Dulles and Cunha came to issue the final communique on their Washington talks, they had this very much in mind.

"...Various statements attributed to the Soviet rulers ..and allegations concerning the Portuguese provinces in the Far East were discussed by the two foreign ministers," they said. "They considered that such statements do not represent a contribution to the cause of peace . . ."

They thought they were taking a swing at "Bulgy" and "Krush" in this communique. But that word "provinces" bounced off their bat. The Indians fielded it and carried, "Foul."

There was no specific mention of Goa in this communique, though Dr. Cunha talked about it a lot while here. But in a later press conference, Dulles not only mentioned Goa, but reiterated that it is a Portguese province.

The official U. S. position on Goa is that of neutrality. It wants only to see the issue settled peacefully.

THE PREVAILING OPINION among Washington officials is undoubtedly that colonialism is a dead duck and there isn't any use trying to revive it. Portugal just hasn't realized that yet.

Sooner or later, it is recognized that "Goa will have to go," as the saying is.

But if and when it does go, it should be permitted to go peacefully. There should be full recognition of the Goans' rights to express their preference. They should not be forced into union with India, if they don't want it, in what Dr. Cunha calls "enslavement by Indian imperialism."

But what this souped-up excitement illustrates again is how the United States—as the leading power—can get sucked into terrible troubles defending the self-determination of small peoples in such remote real estate developments as Quemoy, Matsu, Dien Bien Phu and now Goa.

Public Getting Full Story On Condition of Eisenhower

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 13 — They are certainly building up public confidence in the sincerity of the statements made at the White House about President Eisenhower's health. Every bit of important information is being given to the press by the President's physicians.

This is in contrast to what happened when the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt was a candidate for a fourth term and, it turned out, lived less than three months after being inaugurated. Even today there is a controversy as to what was the true condition of Mr. Roosevelt when he went to Yalta in 1945. The press photographers, too, cooperated under the Roosevelt regime. They never took pictures that showed Mr. Roosevelt's physical handicap, and the newspapers refrained from telling the American people that their President couldn't walk unaided.

THIS WAS a proper and commendable courtesy to a President, but not long ago President Eisenhower wasn't permitted the privacy of a convalesence at the Denver hospital. On one occasion some press photographers hired a plane to fly over the hospital to take pictures.

Frankness and candor on the news side have today wisely supplanted the secrecy and evasion of the past. If President Eisenhower is or is not physically able to run for a second term, the American people will have no doubt about what the physicians in attendance think about it. All the facts will be available to the public.

This is as it should be, and the White House staff advisers deserve commendation for having suppressed nothing since the President became ill. In fact, their zealous devotion to detail may even have given the impression that there is something extraordinary about the way the President has been convalescing in recent days, when the truth is he is making an ordinary recovery. When, for instance, he is told to slow down, it naturally gets into the headlines, though many a physician has told many a patient the same thing and it hasn't meant that an important change has taken place in the patient's condition.

MR. EISENHOWER is naturally an energetic person. He does things with a zest and vigor that comes from his military training and his conscientious devotion to duty. Having heard perhaps that the presidential office wasn't operating under full steam while he was ill in Denver, he now endeavors to make up for lost time.

The pressures, of course, are bound to continue. But there is nothing in the Constitution which tells a President that he must work fourteen hours a day, or four. Nor is there any obligation to hold press conferences, either. President Wilson during the entire period of World War 1 did not hold a single press conference, and the Republic survived—and we won the war. Mr. Wilson felt it was risky to discuss international matters in an impromptu way.

There are many persons, including this correspondent, who believe that the press conference is the biggest single strain Mr. Eisenhower has borne during his term of office. The idea that the press may catechise a President and cross-examine and needle him on any subject, political or otherwise, and that this is necessary or else "freedom of the press" perishes, is not likely to be approved by the people generally if an issue is made of it some day. The television showing of the press conferences has revealed again and again the movement of the tense muscles of the President's neck as he waits for the next question to be asked.

The press conference of today is an ordeal to which no President should be subjected. The same objective can be obtained through written questions, the answers to which can be prepared with care, as is fitting in a government whose spokesman might with a single phrase carelessly spoken under the stress of impromptu utterance undo the progress made by months of painstaking diplomacy.

THE FACTS can and should be given to the people, and there are many ways to do it. A Presidential press conference is unlike the successful and orderly system of questions in the free parliaments abroad where the queries are prepared many days in advance, so that due notice is given and only those questions are answered which it is deemed good public policy to answer.

The strain imposed on a President to do things really not required of him is what makes the office today a superhuman job.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

James F. Byrnes, our secretary of state under Truman, has written a defense of the State Department against ridicule and other forms of attack which greatly exaggerates and misrepresents the case. In general, the department has the respect of most Americans whose opinions matter, including politicians, specifically Senator Joe McCarthy. As one who carefully watched the development of the pro Communist campaign within the Eisenhower cabal to discredit McCarthy because he was exposing vicious conditions in the State Department, I can agree with both Byrnes and McCarthy.

McCarthy would be the last to deny Byrnes' declaration that the people of our career foreign service are "alert, intelligent sentinels on constant duty in all our diplomatic outposts," except that Byrnes does not note the existence of dangerous exceptions. When he writes that it is time "to stop shooting our sentries" he insinuates that the decent, non-partisan, non-political members of this corps suffer the same public contempt which the wicked deserve and too seldom receive.

He resorts to innocence by association, which is far different from guilt by association. A corrupt person does not acquire innocence by associating with the innocent majority. He is still corrupt — a Communist traitor, perhaps, or a homosexual or a drunken flannel-mouth. Neither does he contaminate the innocent. But anyone who knowingly consorts with persons who are flagrantly corrupt positively condones corruption and thus incurs guilt by association. He deserves legitimate punishment.

Mr. Byrnes admitted that soon after the war Harry Truman dumped into the State Department "more than 10,000 persons from the Office of War Information, the Office of Inter-American Affairs and the Office of Strategic Services." All three of these bureaus were evil, nasty concentrations of parasites, to say the best of most of them, and Communist traitors at worst. Byrnes and Truman well know this by now if they did not know it then. I certainly knew it then without any of the official sources of information which were at their service, and congressional inquiries since 1945 have proved many facts which sailed right past the public eye and ear. There were small minorities of technically decent but useless bureaucrats in each of these aggregations, but all three were on the whole rotten.

The OSS was worst, the OWI was little better and the Office of Inter-American Affairs was more futile and stupid than sinister, as far as our knowledge went at the time. However, the decay of Latin-American politics since the war undoubtedly is the result of infections incurred through the office during the war. It is a sorry fact that the OSS, the worst concentration of Reds, was organized and, in a loose, haphazard way, managed by a great patriot and hero, William J. Donovan, of New York, who won the Medal of Honor in battle with the 69th New York of the 42nd or Rainbow Division in the first war. He is a Republican in politics and, in religion, a Catholic, so it were unthinkable that he should have permitted Communists to infest his OSS to promote their own purposes. Like John L. Lewis (in the organizing days of the CIO) he thought he could use Communists in European espionage without allowing them to use the OSS for the purposes of Soviet Russia. He was badly mistaken. The slaughter of thousands of fine Italians of the anti-Communist, Fascist regime was a ghastly consequence of the flippant, cynical policy of the Roosevelt-Truman regime of "recognizing" the Communists in the enemy countries and cooperating with them merely because they were enemies of Mussolini and Hitler. They were also enemies of the United States as any knowing person knew then.

Mr. Byrnes knows, indeed most of Washington knows, that one of the highest officials of the State Department under Cordell Hull, a family favorite of the Roosevelts, was a notorious homosexual. A male secretary to William Bullitt, our ambassador in both Petrograd and Paris, was arrested and charged with such an offense in Washington and admitted later that in forfeiting his $25 bail-bond he tacitly acknowledged guilt. So, unfortunately, the department has suffered stains, including some which could have been rased by honest, courageous official action. It was not enough to permit this notorious friend of the Roosevelts to withdraw with honor. The State Department had a duty to the country and to its own people whom Mr. Byrnes is now defending against casual, unfair suspicion, to drum this individual out. Mr. Byrnes surely knows of this case but he says nothing about it.

When Whittaker Chambers went to A. A. Berle with his long, detailed story about Alger Hiss, Berle, an important secondary official of state, regarded it as a mere matter of internal bureaucratic rivalry. He soon went sailing gaily off to Rio as ambasssador. When Walter Winchell, then a naval officer on active service, took the same facts to Roosevelt, Roosevelt scoffed the situation away. The State Department was not innocent. It was badly infected with treachery not only by this sudden access of 10,000 cats and dogs from the three rogue bureaus but by an intentional policy of the long Roosevelt regime.

Hwever, no decent man or woman in the American embassy in Rome or Bonn, for examples, today, can possibly feel conscious of suspicion. Like decent persons everywhere in American society they carry their heads high. Any mere rumorist or downright accuser would bring scorn on himself, not them.

Bakery Drivers Get $115 Pension Plan

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—Some 2,000 unionized bakery drivers in New York city were given a pension plan that will pay them $115 a month plus social security after 25 years of service.

The plan, covering members of the AFL-CIO Bakery Drivers Local 550 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, was outlined yesterday. It will be financed by weekly payments of $5 per driver by 10 large baking companies in New York city.

Full pension benefits are obtained by the drivers who served 25 years and retired at the age of 60. Partial benefits may be given workers with 15 years of service who retired at 55.

Company and union officials estimated that a driver retiring at full pension will receive a total of $223 monthly in combined pension - social security benefits.

The plan was described as one of the most generous yet agreed upon for industrial workers.

Briefly Told

THE ACID TEST

Again and again, for thirty years, Lenin and Stalin said: "The existence of the Soviet Republic side by side with Imperialist states (that's what they call us) is unthinkable - - - - - We must make zig-zags and retreats, but remain true to the task of preparing the way for world revolution."

Hence we were solemnly told that we faced a terrible and continuing crisis—to last 50 years or more.

Mr. Hutton

Then came "the spirit of Geneva," and various people here clapped the rest of us on the back and said: "Peaceful coexistence is just around the corner. Lenin and Stalin are dead. Let's forgive and forget."

The old "peace-loving Democrats," — the Dealers — boob-bait of F.D.R., came to life again!

When can you believe the new Masters of the Kremlin, Khrushchev and Co.? I'll tell you. It will be when they expunge from their Communist text-books EVERY PARAGRAPH about the necessity of revolutions in all countries.

You can believe them when they tell their own children and students in schools and colleges that Russia must, and will, respect the right of all peoples to have their own form of government.

You can believe them when they tell their own people — not us — that Lenin, Stalin, Molotov and Karl Marx were all wrong — in talking about the necessity of world revolution.

That, neighbor, will be the acid test.

Etna Is Becoming Tamed Giant for Sicilian Tourists

Catania, Sicily, Dec. 13 (AP)—Eastern Sicilians are beginning to take a different view of the great volcano which has brooded over their fields as long as mankind can remember.

Mt. Etna once was the terror of the Mediterranean. Awed ancients called it the Forge of Vulcan.

Once, in the year 1169, it destroyed the city of Catania and her 15,000 inhabitants. For 17 years of the 17th century it erupted almost continually. Another time it exploded with fury and tore a 12-mile chunk from its own side.

ALMOST EVERY year recently it has been erupting, spilling its lava into the Valley of the Bull, threatening the highest farm fields on its 11,000-foot slopes.

Now Etna has been booming like a fitful cannon for more than five months, sending red lava jets shooting into the clear Sicilian sky. And Sicilians are beginning to like it. Etna is becoming their tame giant, something to show tourists.

"Etna no longer gives fear to anyone," said one Catanian. "It is almost as though this old volcano, marching towards extinction, has become good, incapable of harm.

VOLCANOLOGISTS, still studying it closely, say it indeed seems harmless—this year. Although Etna has vomited as much as 50,000 cubic yards of lava a day, it has seemed spent. Only five years ago one of its eruptions poured forth two and a half million cubic yards a day.

"You should see it now, at night, when the snow is on the mountain," say Sicilians. "It is even pleasing. The little stream of lava makes strange arabesques on the white slopes."

From time to time, people on the mountainside still pause in fear when dull booms come from the active northeast crater and the earth shakes a little.

Then silence returns. Men go back to work, scratching a living from the old sides of the Forge of Vulcan.

Milk Drops Cent

Newark, N. J., Dec. 13 (AP)—Housewives in northern New Jersey today paid a penny-a-quart less for milk. The unexpected cut in the retail price came yesterday when one national milk distributor launched one-cent reduction and competitors followed suit. Food chains in New York city made a similar cut in the wake of an announcement by the Grand Union Co. last week that the price would be lowered starting yesterday. Prices at some independent stores in New York had dropped earlier.

Glacier Priest Has Hemorrhage

Newark, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP)—The Rev. Bernard R. Hubbard, famed "Glacier Priest" who led numerous scientific expeditions into the Artic wastes of Alaska, was in serious condition here today from a cerebral hemorrhage.

The 67-year-old priest from Santa Clara, Calif., was stricken Saturday wwhile visiting friends. He was on his way to Hartford, Conn., for a lecture engagement.

Dr. James Palmeri described Father Hubbard's condition as "serious but not critical."

Father Hubbard led his first expedition to Alaska in 1926 while a professor of geology at the University of Santa Clara.

For several years he has been an advisor to the U. S. Army on cold weather clothing.

Say Murder Trail Cold

Omaha, Dec. 13 (AP)—Police termed the trail cold today and Detective Inspector Ernest Brown said "we're just hoping for a break" in the slaying of Omaha University co-ed Carolyn Nevins, 20. Miss Nevins, described by her mother, Mrs. Arthur J. Nevins, as a girl "actually afraid of the dark, "was shot four times at close range last Friday night or early Saturday after working late at the school library where she had a part time job.

Student to Die

Santa Monica, Calif., Dec. 13 (AP)—The death sentence has been imposed on law student John R. Crooker Jr. for the murder of wealthy divorcee, Mrs. Norma McCauley, his former sweetheart. Superior Judge Stanley Mosk pronounced the sentence yesterday and denied the motion of Crooker's counsel to have the jury verdict set aside on the ground they indulged in a pre-dinner drink during a recess in their deliberations.

Shady Deal

Culver City, Calif. (AP)—You can buy excellent window shades and shutters at a factory here. A sign over the door proudly boasts, "Come in—and get the shadiest deal in town."

No matter how hard your job, the pavements are a lot harder.

More Cooperative Farms

Tokyo, Dec. 13 (AP)—Peiping radio said today Red China has almost doubled the number of cooperative farms since August, in possibly the most sweeping agricultural overhaul of a nation in history. The Red radio, quoting the official government newspaper, the Peiping peoples daily, said that from Aug. 1 to Nov. 10 more than 590,000 new agricultural cooperatives of a semi-socialist nature were set up. China now has over 1,240,000 agricultural producer cooperatives, the broadcast added. Red China's No. 1 man, Mao Tse-tung, last summer ordered a full scale drive to put Chinese peasants on cooperative farms.

Newark, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP)—The Rev. Bernard R. Hubbard, famed "Glacier Priest" who led numerous scientific expeditions into the Artic wastes of Alaska, was in serious condition here today from a cerebral hemorrhage.

The 67-year-old priest from Santa Clara, Calif., was stricken Saturday wwhile visiting friends. He was on his way to Hartford, Conn., for a lecture engagement.

Dr. James Palmeri described Father Hubbard's condition as "serious but not critical."

Father Hubbard led his first expedition to Alaska in 1926 while a professor of geology at the University of Santa Clara.

For several years he has been an advisor to the U. S. Army on cold weather clothing.

Say Murder Trail Cold

Omaha, Dec. 13 (AP)—Police termed the trail cold today and Detective Inspector Ernest Brown said "we're just hoping for a break" in the slaying of Omaha University co-ed Carolyn Nevins, 20. Miss Nevins, described by her mother, Mrs. Arthur J. Nevins, as a girl "actually afraid of the dark, "was shot four times at close range last Friday night or early Saturday after working late at the school library where she had a part time job.

Student to Die

Santa Monica, Calif., Dec. 13 (AP)—The death sentence has been imposed on law student John R. Crooker Jr. for the murder of wealthy divorcee, Mrs. Norma McCauley, his former sweetheart. Superior Judge Stanley Mosk pronounced the sentence yesterday and denied the motion of Crooker's counsel to have the jury verdict set aside on the ground they indulged in a pre-dinner drink during a recess in their deliberations.

Shady Deal

Culver City, Calif. (AP)—You can buy excellent window shades and shutters at a factory here. A sign over the door proudly boasts, "Come in—and get the shadiest deal in town."

No matter how hard your job, the pavements are a lot harder.

More Cooperative Farms

Tokyo, Dec. 13 (AP)—Peiping radio said today Red China has almost doubled the number of cooperative farms since August, in possibly the most sweeping agricultural overhaul of a nation in history. The Red radio, quoting the official government newspaper, the Peiping peoples daily, said that from Aug. 1 to Nov. 10 more than 590,000 new agricultural cooperatives of a semi-socialist nature were set up. China now has over 1,240,000 agricultural producer cooperatives, the broadcast added. Red China's No. 1 man, Mae Tse-tung, last summer ordered a full scale drive to put Chinese peasants on cooperative farms.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

From time to time Kingston is struck by feverish development. Back in 1865 and 1866 the railway fever struck Kingston with full force. According to a writer of those days: "In the latter year it broke out on two sides of the town, and local capitalists were induced to start the projects. Both proved costly for the people of Kingston and the various towns through which the roads ran," wrote Howard Hendricks back in the early 1900's. The Rondout and Oswego, was the original title of the company, later known as the Ulster and Delaware Railroad, which when in full operation ran from Kingston Point to Oneonta, 108 miles, and from Phoenicia to Hunter and Kaaterskill, 22 miles. The track was made of steel, standard gauge. It had proved, at the time the great developing factor of the Catskills as a summer resort. It also brought trade and produce from the interior mountain region of Ulster and other counties to Kingston. It also became an important outlet for coal. At the time many Rondout folks remember, the extensive U and D railway shops which were run by electricity and furnished employment to hundreds of Kingstonians the year around. Samuel D. Coykendall was president and owner of the U and D which carried some 500,000 passengers a year back in the early 1900's.

When it rains, it pours, as they used to say. The next railway line to come to Kingston was the Wallkill Valley Railroad in 1866, from Montgomery, Orange county to Kingston, first terminating at New Paltz, next at Rosendale, and then reached Kingston. It later passed into the hands of Messrs. Cornell and Coykendall in June of 1877, and later became a part of the N. Y. Central. Then came our famous West Shore Line, that most of us used in the good old days. Remember the $2.00 round trip excusions to New York and back? The last ones I remember were in 1939 during the World's Fair. The completion of this double track road to Kingston was a very important progressive event. During the formal opening on June 25, 1883, every incoming train was met with bands of music and ringing of bells. How times have changed.

During that time, there was only a horse-stage line from Kingston to Ellenville, and of course the old D and H Canal. Then in 1902 came the Ellenville and Kingston branch of the Ontario and Western Railway, the first train of which left Kingston December 22, 1902. So Kingston came to be known as a railroad terminus. Buses would arrive from boarding houses all over the county to unload their passengers and pick them up from the trains. Kingston became a beehive as the summer boarders shopped all around town.

Another form of transportation was opened with music and fanfare in Kingston was the horse cars in August of 1866 with a fare of only 10 cents. Before that there were horse-stages running at frequent intervals between two ends of town, and to Kingston Point to meet river steamers. The fare for this long ride was 12½ cents. At the time there was a toolgate midway, there being a so-called plank road from which the company naturally was entitled to profit.

U. S. Starts Suit To Recover From Project Directors

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—The federal government has started a suit to recover $3,158,000 which it says are windfall profits taken by 14 former directors of a Brooklyn housing project.

The suit was filed yesterday in Brooklyn Federal Court by Albert V. Buschmann, chief of the civil division of the U. S. attorney's office.

THE COMPLAINT, which must me answered in 20 days, said the defendants voted themselves dividends from funds that represented the difference between the cost of the project and the amount of its FHA mortgage.

The government considers this difference a "windfall profit."

The government said Farragut Gardens, a Brooklyn project housing more than 10,000 people, cost $18,113,987 to build. The FHA mortgage was for $21,719,300. The difference between these figures is more than the sum the government is seeking to collect because the directors did not pay out the full amount of the difference.

FARRAGUT GARDENS was one of the projects checked on by a congressional subcommittee in a recent probe of FHA-sponsored building programs.

Named as defendants in the suit were: Alexander P. Hirsch; Henry and Myrtle Hirsch; Morris and Faye Kazy; Martin and Leonore Benedek; Howard A. Hirsch; Gladys P. Hirsch; and Gilbert Kazy, all of Ossining, N. Y.; Louis and Jeanette Benedek of New York city, and Bertram Kazy and Yale Adelsohn of Brooklyn.

India estimates there are a million cases of leprosy in the country.

Projected Sound

Helena, Mont. (AP)—In the municipal bandstand shell, which is like a teacup on its side, someone—at midnight—set off a charge of dynamite. In the wake of the sound wave, darkened homes were lit up by awakened citizens. Hundreds called police, who were as mystified as the callers. One said: "It about knocked me out of bed."

Projected Sound

Helena, Mont. (AP)—In the municipal bandstand shell, which is like a teacup on its side, someone—at midnight—set off a charge of dynamite. In the wake of the sound wave, darkened homes were lit up by awakened citizens. Hundreds called police, who were as mystified as the callers. One said: "It about knocked me out of bed."

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Sly Play Cuts Dummy Tricks

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

There was a time when the newspaperman's favorite game was poker, but the modern newspaperman is more likely than not to be a bridge fan. Typical of this younger generation of news gatherers is Bill Gallico, well known New York newspaperman who manages to give a good account of himself in bridge tournaments when he can find time away from his professional duties.

When today's hand was played in a recent tournament, Gallico held the West cards. Naturally he thought of leading the king of spades against the contract of six hearts, but he stopped to think matters over and came to a better solution to his problem.

The bidding made it obvious that South had the ace of spades. It was also clear that South had a self-sufficient trump suit. If Gallico led the king of spades, as every other West player did, South would win with the ace of spades, draw trumps, and take whatever diamond tricks dummy could furnish.

Was there any way to scotch this plan? Gallico saw that the only chance was to cut the communications between the North and South hands. This might be done if he led a diamond immediately instead of giving declarer the chance to draw trumps before diamonds were tackled.

Gallico thereupon opened the ten of diamonds, and this brilliant lead defeated the slam contract. Declarer had to win in dummy with the ace of diamonds, and he had to continue the diamonds at once or give them up forever.

Declarer cashed the king of diamonds, discarding a spade from his hand, and then agonized in the attempt to choose between a third diamond and a round of clubs.

It didn't matter which South chose. If he led the third diamond, West would ruff and take the ace of clubs. If declarer, instead, led a club from the dummy, West would take his ace of clubs and return a trump, to make sure that South would eventually lose a second club trick.

Yule Parade & Party Contributors Listed

Saugerties, Dec. 13 — According to an announcement by Mrs. Marzell Roming, chairman of the Christmas parade and party held Friday night, 14 merchants, industries, professional men and local organizations have thus far donated toward the fund to defray the costs of the party and parade.

More than 600 youngsters were feted Friday night at the party which was held at the Municipal auditorium. Movies were shown with a projector furnished by Saugerties Sales and Service and a gift bag was distributed to each of the youngsters by Santa Claus and his helper, Miss Crystal Jobst, Miss Saugerties of 1955.

Those individuals and companys who did not contribute towards the Christmas lighting fund which made lighting available in the business district have been sent a fund raising note asking for their support for the parade and party.

Mrs. Roming has issued an appeal to those who have not made their contributions to do so as quickly as possible. Names of contributors will be listed as soon as they are received.

The list so far includes: Flamingo Restaurant, Henry Knaust, Schoentag's Colonial Tavern, Ferroxcube Corporation, F. L. Russell Corporation, Martin Cantine Company, Saugerties Coal and Lumber Company, Simmons Dairy, Schirmer and Carnright, Dr. B. W. Gifford, Dr. Herman Ash, Anthony Vicevich, John C. Sauger and Robert A. Snyder.

Merchants located in the business area where Christmas lighting is available were not canvassed for the Christmas party and parade fund.

Mrs. Roming said checks may be made out to the Christmas Fund and addressed to the Chamber of Commerce, Saugerties.

Revenue Service Designs Program To Help Taxpayers Prepare Forms

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—Officials of the New York state region of the Internal Revenue Service have announced a "do-it-yourself" campaign to get taxpayers to prepare their own returns.

The program is designed to cut man-hours of taxpayer aid given by revenue agents, Regional Commissioner A. W. Fleming said yesterday. A similar campaign has already been tried out in other parts of the country, he added.

FLEMING SAID the Internal Revenue office would be set up to handle an increased number of telephone inquiries. He added that the government is discontinuing its past practice of encouraging taxpayers to come to the tax office to have an agent fill out their forms.

However, he continued, special aid will be available as before to illiterate, foreign-language or handicapped persons.

"FROM THE standpoint of convenience alone," Fleming said, "it certainly is to the taxpayers advantage to prepare his return in the comfort of his own home. And here is an added-feature—if a question or problem arises, the answer may be no further away than the telephone."

Fleming said a new group instruction system will be tried out on designated days at revenue offices throughout the region. Tax agents will assemble 10 or 12 taxpayers at a time and, using an enlarged form visible to all, will demonstrate how to fill it out and answer questions.

"WE HOPE to help taxpayers file their own returns," Fleming said.

He added that the revenue service intended to "give just as much service as before" but wanted to cut down time wasted by taxpayers standing in line and by agents who made out complete returns for those able to do the job themselves.

In the past, Fleming said, a "minority" of taxpayers has cost too much.

HE REPORTED that more than 365,868 man-hours were devoted to taxpayers assistance during the 1955 filing period, estimated to cost the government $856,532, most of it for personal aid to about one million persons.

Out of this lump cost, about $677,867 represented actual filling out of tax returns for about 10 per cent of taxpayers in New York state, he said, while $90,000 was the cost of handling telephone inquiries and $87,000 represented indirect assistance.

"Those figures should be reversed," Fleming said.

HE SAID that "over the years" the government encouraged taxpayers to depend on revenue agents to make out their returns.

"It has now come to our attention that some taxpayers feel they have to come in and have them prepared," he said.

He said it was estimated that the auditing of returns, which is the regular work of agents, produces about $500 daily per man in additional revenue, representing "just the honest mistakes."

Fleming advised the public not to fear "undue penalty" for mistakes in "do-it-yourself" tax returns.

"Our revenue people are sufficiently trained and experienced to distinguish between an honest mistake and an attempt to evade the tax," he said.

In announcing the new procedures, Fleming said the "self-help" system had been successful in other parts of the nation in trials in the last two years.

The idea was tried out in Syracuse last year "on limited scales," he said.

The annual congregational and corporate meeting of the Rondout Presbyterian Church will be held today at 7:30 p. m. in the Fellowship Hall. All members are requested to attend as matters of importance will be discussed.

Kilmer New Head Of Ulster Hose; To Treat Kiddies

Alfrederick Kilmer of Glenerie Lake Park was elected president of Ulster Hose Company No. 5 during the annual elections Monday night at the firehouse on Albany avenue extension.

Also named were:

George Berry, Harwich street, vice-president; Donald Beaumont, Glenerie Lake Park, secretary; Paul Stevenson, Lake Katrine, financial secretary; Gerald Woodvine, Lawrenceville street, treasurer. Directors named were Edward Dingeldey, Otis street; Daniel Morehouse, Saugerties road and William Harbig, Harwich street.

Harry Lowe of Albany avenue extension was elected chief; Harry Hill of Columbia street, assistant chief; Donald Reed of Forest Glen Park, captain; Roy Thomas of Lake Katrine, first lieutenant; Joe Senor of Flatbush Road, second lieutenant; Norman Caunitz of Esopus avenue, third lieutenant.

FOLLOWING the election a roast pork dinner was served by Ted Musialkiewicz and his committee which comprised Ernest Petersen, Martin Petersen and Joseph Maiola. Edward Dingeldey retired from the office of president after holding the office six years. He was given a cordial rising vote of thanks by the company.

Percy Bush, supervisor of the town of Ulster, acted as chairman of the meeting and spoke briefly outlining the growth of the company from one small truck to a modern building and modern equipment. The equipment now comprises two large pump trucks, one tank truck and an emergency truck. Mr. Bush also spoke of the fine job the retiring president had done. Mr. Bush was the first vice-president of the company which was organized in 1944.

On Saturday, Dec. 17, the company will be host to Santa Claus for the annual Christmas cheer party. Santa will ride the fire truck throughout the fire district and fire protection district distributing candy to the children. Santa's appearance will be signaled by the fire siren.

CC to Consider By-Laws Revision

The December meeting of the board of directors of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce at the Governor Clinton Hotel this evening will be preceded by a special membership meeting at 7:30 to consider a proposed revision of the by-laws.

The proposed by-law revision is designed to establish a new form of non-voting membership at a much higher annual fee. It is proposed to have the directors establish the amount. The plan to limit any firm to four votes regardless of the number of annual memberships subscribed, will be continued.

President J. Ellis Briggs urges a full attendance of directors as several very important items appear on the agenda for consideration including possible county office building location, farm price supports and off-street parking.

Detroit Paper Strike Now in 13th Day

Detroit, Dec. 13 (AP)—Detroit's newsaper strike entered its 13th day today amid growing indications that none of six printing craft unions would return to work without new contracts.

Contracts between the six and the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Assn. have expired, but only the AFL-CIO stereotypers officially are on strike.

When stereotypers walked out Dec. 1, following expiration of their contract, other craft unions respected their picket lines and the morning Free Press and the afternoon Times and the News closed down. Combined the three dailies have 4,500 employes and a daily circulation of around 1,400,000.

Presidents of the six craft unions declared after a joint meeting yesterday "we are in agreement in our feelings concerning the strike."

Adult Law Class Will Meet in Tillson

The Adult Education class in Law Everyone Should Know will meet at Tillson Public School Wednesday, Dec. 14, at 8 p. m. Attorney Robert M. Ortale of Kingston and director of the program in this area for the New York State Bar Association, will speak on the subject of "Wills" at that time.

Briefly, some of the topics which Mr. Ortale will discuss are as follows: "What is a last Will and Testament, Why you should have a Will, What happens if you leave no Will, Who can make a Will, Where and how to execute your Will, Where to keep your Will, How your estate will be administered if you leave a Will, What you may and may not include in a Will and Estate planning."

Backs Red Charges

Hong Kong, Dec. 13 (AP)—Richard Roger Tenneson, 22, turncoat GI former war prisoner, arrived here today from Red China. He said he was neither for nor against communism but that he believed the Red charges that the United States used germ warfare in Korea. Tenneson, who comes from Alden, Minn., was among 21 Americans who refused repatriation after the Korean war. In September he said he wanted to go home, and the Communists gave him permission to leave. American consular officials who met him at the border drove him to Kowloon, this British crown colony's mainland city opposite Hong Kong Island. He hold a news conference in a hotel room provided by the Red Cross, the same room occupied by three other turncoats who came home last summer.

Revenue Service Designs Program To Help Taxpayers Prepare Forms

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—Officials of the New York state region of the Internal Revenue Service have announced a "do-it-yourself" campaign to get taxpayers to prepare their own returns.

The program is designed to cut man-hours of taxpayer aid given by revenue agents, Regional Commissioner A. W. Fleming said yesterday. A similar campaign has already been tried out in other parts of the country, he added.

FLEMING SAID the Internal Revenue office would be set up to handle an increased number of telephone inquiries. He added that the government is discontinuing its past practice of encouraging taxpayers to come to the tax office to have an agent fill out their forms.

However, he continued, special aid will be available as before to illiterate, foreign-language or handicapped persons.

"FROM THE standpoint of convenience alone," Fleming said, "it certainly is to the taxpayers advantage to prepare his return in the comfort of his own home. And here is an added-feature—if a question or problem arises, the answer may be no further away than the telephone."

Fleming said a new group instruction system will be tried out on designated days at revenue offices throughout the region. Tax agents will assemble 10 or 12 taxpayers at a time and, using an enlarged form visible to all, will demonstrate how to fill it out and answer questions.

"WE HOPE to help taxpayers file their own returns," Fleming said.

He added that the revenue service intended to "give just as much service as before" but wanted to cut down time wasted by taxpayers standing in line and by agents who made out complete returns for those able to do the job themselves.

In the past, Fleming said, a "minority" of taxpayers has cost too much.

HE REPORTED that more than 365,868 man-hours were devoted to taxpayers assistance during the 1955 filing period, estimated to cost the government $856,532, most of it for personal aid to about one million persons.

Out of this lump cost, about $677,867 represented actual filling out of tax returns for about 10 per cent of taxpayers in New York state, he said, while $90,000 was the cost of handling telephone inquiries and $87,000 represented indirect assistance.

"Those figures should be reversed," Fleming said.

HE SAID that "over the years" the government encouraged taxpayers to depend on revenue agents to make out their returns.

"It has now come to our attention that some taxpayers feel they have to come in and have them prepared," he said.

He said it was estimated that the auditing of returns, which is the regular work of agents, produces about $500 daily per man in additional revenue, representing "just the honest mistakes."

Fleming advised the public not to fear "undue penalty" for mistakes in "do-it-yourself" tax returns.

"Our revenue people are sufficiently trained and experienced to distinguish between an honest mistake and an attempt to evade the tax," he said.

In announcing the new procedures, Fleming said the "self-help" system had been successful in other parts of the nation in trials in the last two years.

The idea was tried out in Syracuse last year "on limited scales," he said.

Kilmer New Head Of Ulster Hose; To Treat Kiddies

Alfrederick Kilmer of Glenerie Lake Park was elected president of Ulster Hose Company No. 5 during the annual elections Monday night at the firehouse on Albany avenue extension.

Also named were:

George Berry, Harwich street, vice-president; Donald Beaumont, Glenerie Lake Park, secretary; Paul Stevenson, Lake Katrine, financial secretary; Gerald Woodvine, Lawrenceville street, treasurer. Directors named were Edward Dingeldey, Otis street; Daniel Morehouse, Saugerties road and William Harbig, Harwich street.

Harry Lowe of Albany avenue extension was elected chief; Harry Hill of Columbia street, assistant chief; Donald Reed of Forest Glen Park, captain; Roy Thomas of Lake Katrine, first lieutenant; Joe Senor of Flatbush Road, second lieutenant; Norman Caunitz of Esopus avenue, third lieutenant.

FOLLOWING the election a roast pork dinner was served by Ted Musialkiewicz and his committee which comprised Ernest Petersen, Martin Petersen and Joseph Maiola. Edward Dingeldey retired from the office of president after holding the office six years. He was given a cordial rising vote of thanks by the company.

Percy Bush, supervisor of the town of Ulster, acted as chairman of the meeting and spoke briefly outlining the growth of the company from one small truck to a modern building and modern equipment. The equipment now comprises two large pump trucks, one tank truck and an emergency truck. Mr. Bush also spoke of the fine job the retiring president had done. Mr. Bush was the first vice-president of the company which was organized in 1944.

On Saturday, Dec. 17, the company will be host to Santa Claus for the annual Christmas cheer party. Santa will ride the fire truck throughout the fire district and fire protection district distributing candy to the children. Santa's appearance will be signaled by the fire siren.

CC to Consider By-Laws Revision

The December meeting of the board of directors of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce at the Governor Clinton Hotel this evening will be preceded by a special membership meeting at 7:30 to consider a proposed revision of the by-laws.

The proposed by-law revision is designed to establish a new form of non-voting membership at a much higher annual fee. It is proposed to have the directors establish the amount. The plan to limit any firm to four votes regardless of the number of annual memberships subscribed, will be continued.

President J. Ellis Briggs urges a full attendance of directors as several very important items appear on the agenda for consideration including possible county office building location, farm price supports and off-street parking.

Detroit Paper Strike Now in 13th Day

Detroit, Dec. 13 (AP)—Detroit's newsaper strike entered its 13th day today amid growing indications that none of six printing craft unions would return to work without new contracts.

Contracts between the six and the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Assn. have expired, but only the AFL-CIO stereotypers officially are on strike.

When stereotypers walked out Dec. 1, following expiration of their contract, other craft unions respected their picket lines and the morning Free Press and the afternoon Times and the News closed down. Combined the three dailies have 4,500 employes and a daily circulation of around 1,400,000.

Presidents of the six craft unions declared after a joint meeting yesterday "we are in agreement in our feelings concerning the strike."

Adult Law Class Will Meet in Tillson

The Adult Education class in Law Everyone Should Know will meet at Tillson Public School Wednesday, Dec. 14, at 8 p. m. Attorney Robert M. Ortale of Kingston and director of the program in this area for the New York State Bar Association, will speak on the subject of "Wills" at that time.

Briefly, some of the topics which Mr. Ortale will discuss are as follows: "What is a last Will and Testament. Why you should have a Will, What happens if you leave no Will, Who can make a Will, Where and how to execute your Will, Where to keep your Will, How your estate will be administered if you leave a Will, What you may and may not include in a Will and Estate planning."

Pamphlets entitled "Do you Need a Will" have been made available by the New York State Bar Association and will be distributed at this class.

Americans Have Gone Color Mad, Comments Elsa Schiaparelli, Famous French Designer

(By the Associated Press)

Elsa Schiaparelli, who prefers an unadorned black dress and an understated hat above all other costumes, says she is having to wear dark glasses to protect her eyes from the blaze of color that assails her on all sides during her current visit to New York.

"Color is a fine thing, in small doses," says the famous Frenchwoman, who now is designing everything from bathing suits to eyeglass frames for American manufacturers. "But an unrelieved blast of color is like turning up the radio full force in a small tile bathroom.

"I look at the automobiles in a parking lot and it is like looking at a scrambled rainbow. And then I see women who choose their clothes to match a pink car with a purple top, and I can conclude only that they want to be invisible.

"It does seem that this country has gone color mad. When people become color conscious, that's good. But please let's think which color goes with which, and please let's not wear them all at once."

The amazing Schiaparelli at present is branching out into a score of fields of big business, after closing her Paris dressmaking house last season. Says she:

"I am now going to use my Paris salon as a laboratory of design. There I will design everything. And I am going to make it a sort of club for American business people, too, where they can come in whenever they like and find out about the latest trends and the newest ideas and how to get things done and save time in Paris.

"I'm having the time of my life. I'm designing like mad—everything. So far I have not designed a locomotive, an automobile or an airplane, but I have my eye on them."

Schiaparelli's American enterprises include at present: jewelry, sweaters, bathing suits, hats, gloves, stationery, stockings, lingerie umbrellas, men's beachwear, pajamas, robes, mufflers and ties; furs, eyeglass frames, closet accessories, shower curtains bedspreads, tablecloths, shoes and, of course, perfume.

Speaking of her men's wear designs, she says:

"When designing for men I proceed with caution, because I prefer men to look like men and not like peacocks. I do not like to suggest that they wear red ties and green shirts and purple hatbands, because I believe they look better as a background for women. At least that's the way women should like to see them. So any change in men's wear must be subtle and in good taste —never garish."

Schiaparelli has made one purchase of clothes while in New York — a navy officer's coat which she saw and coveted while being entertained at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. Says she:

"I'm going to wear it back to Paris. Probably it will start an international fashion trend."

WSCS

The WSCS of Trinity Methodist Church will hold its Christmas meeting in the church parlors, Thursday at 2 p. m. Mrs. John Riebhoff will conduct carol singing and devotions. A box will be packed for the Puerto Rican children of the Methodist Mission in New York. A Christmas tea and social hour will follow the meeting.

Anita Morin Weds Medical Student

Miss Anita Ann Morin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Ludger Morin of Ticonderoga, became the bride of John Eugene Glennon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Glennon of 62 Fair street, November 24 before a nuptial Mass at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Ticonderoga. The Rev. Francis Ruddy performed the double ring ceremony.

Miss Margaret O'Rourke was at the organ and Miss Bette Potter sang, On This Day, O Beautiful Mother, Panis Angelicus and the Ave Maria.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore an imported ivory lace and satin gown with a portrait neckline, long sleeves and a chapel train. Her crown was trimmed with iridescent sequins and held a fingertip length French illusion veil. She carried an orchid on a prayerbook.

Miss Mary Eole of Schenectady was the maid of honor and she wore a floor length velvet and tulle turquoise gown with a sweetheart neckline. She also wore a matching velvet cap with a jeweled veil and carried a cascade of rust-colored mums.

Bridesmaids included Miss Margaret Glennon of Kingston, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Yolanda Bonano of Ticonderoga. Their gowns were identical to that of the maid of honor's.

William J. Glennon was the best man for his brother. Ushers were Joseph Armand Morin, brother of the bride and Paul Castrucci of Schenectady.

A reception was held at Michalaks for approximately 100 guests.

Miss Morin is a graduate of Ticonderoga High School and the Ellis Hospital School of Nursing in Schenectady. She is employed at the Albany Hospital.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School, received his BS at Union College in Schenectady and is at present a member of the sophomore class at Albany Medical College. He is also a member of the Sigma Chi Fraternity.

The couple will reside at 130 Knox street in Albany.

Speaking of her men's wear designs, she says:

"When designing for men I proceed with caution, because I prefer men to look like men and not like peacocks. I do not like to suggest that they wear red ties and green shirts and purple hatbands, because I believe they look better as a background for women. At least that's the way women should like to see them. So any change in men's wear must be subtle and in good taste —never garish."

Schiaparelli has made one purchase of clothes while in New York—a navy officer's coat which she saw and coveted while being entertained at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. Says she:

"I'm going to wear it back to Paris. Probably it will start an international fashion trend."

WSCS

The WSCS of Trinity Methodist Church will hold its Christmas meeting in the church parlors, Thursday at 2 p. m. Mrs. John Riebhoff will conduct carol singing and devotions. A box will be packed for the Puerto Rican children of the Methodist Mission in New York. A Christmas tea and social hour will follow the meeting.

Anita Morin Weds Medical Student

Miss Anita Ann Morin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Ludger Morin of Ticonderoga, became the bride of John Eugene Glennon, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Glennon of 62 Fair street, November 24 before a nuptial Mass at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Ticonderoga. The Rev. Francis Ruddy performed the double ring ceremony.

Miss Margaret O'Rourke was at the organ and Miss Bette Potter sang, On This Day, O Beautiful Mother, Panis Angelicus and the Ave Maria.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore an imported ivory lace and satin gown with a portrait neckline, long sleeves and a chapel train. Her crown was trimmed with iridescent sequins and held a fingertip length French illusion veil. She carried an orchid on a prayerbook.

Miss Mary Eole of Schenectady was the maid of honor and she wore a floor length velvet and tulle turquoise gown with a sweetheart neckline. She also wore a matching velvet cap with a jeweled veil and carried a cascade of rust-colored mums.

Bridesmaids included Miss Margaret Glennon of Kingston, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Yolanda Bonano of Ticonderoga. Their gowns were identical to that of the maid of honor's.

William J. Glennon was the best man for his brother. Ushers were Joseph Armand Morin, brother of the bride and Paul Castrucci of Schenectady.

A reception was held at Michalaks for approximately 100 guests.

Miss Morin is a graduate of Ticonderoga High School and the Ellis Hospital School of Nursing in Schenectady. She is employed at the Albany Hospital.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School, received his BS at Union College in Schenectady and is at present a member of the sophomore class at Albany Medical College. He is also a member of the Sigma Chi Fraternity.

The couple will reside at 130 Knox street in Albany.

Kingston Fruit Show Will Feature Local 4-H Club Girls

Paula Abelove, a member of the Port Ewen Homemaking Club will represent Ulster County this year in the Apple Pie Baking Contest at the New York State Horticultural Show on Dec. 15 at the Kingston Armory. Paula will compete for high honors with girls from nine other counties by baking an apple pie.

Baking "Peach Pie" will be Mary Ellsworth of Port Ewen. She is Ulster County's 4-H representative in the other fruit pie contest. Competing with her will be girls from eight other counties makers of cherry and huckleberry pies.

Margaret Mary Gaffney of Highland and Enid Goetchius of Hurley will also make pies in the demonstration contests. Margaret Mary will make a quick apple pie and Enid Goetchius will make a cherry pie.

Chairman of the day will be Mrs. Edmund Bower of Hurley. Judges will be Mrs. Ruth Clements, Liberty; Mrs. Marjorie Cross, Kyserike; Mrs. Anne Goetchius, Hurley; Mrs. Charles Haas, Saratoga County; Mrs. Estes, Dutchess County; Mrs. Howard Sanford, Delaware County and Mrs. Natalie Straub, Green County.

MISINTERPRETED KINDNESS

A reader writes me as follows: "I am very anxious to have your advice on the following situation: In the community in which I lived before moving here I belonged to a bridge club. After a guest was asked to fill in a few times she would invite the club members to her house to a bridge party. We always thought this a considerate and gracious thing to do. I now live in another city and just recently invited the members of a bridge club to my house for an afternoon of cards. I do not belong to this club but I have filled in for them on several occasions. I have no time to become a regular member of any bridge club as I am working at the present time. Several of the women in the club misinterpreted my invitation as a bid to become a member of the club. Was I wrong to invite them?"

I think inviting the members of the club to a bridge party at your house was a gesture of friendliness, and as you say you cannot join any clubs, your asking them could hardly be misinterpreted as a bid to become a member of this one.

Christmas Card to Doctor

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like to send my doctor a Christmas card but don't know quite how to address it. His wife is a stranger to me and I would like to know if I should include her name on the envelope. Also, should I sign my husband's name to the card (my husband is unknown to the doctor), or should I sign it with my name alone?

Answer: Send the card to your doctor addressed to his office. It is not necessary to include either your husband or his wife.

A Glove Question

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been invited to a dance at my boy friend's school. I am going to wear a floor-length evening dress. I would like to know if elbow-length gloves are necessary, or would short ones be in order?

Answer: Long gloves would be prettier.

Greco-Tiano Nuptials Held

MRS. FRANK TIANO

Miss Carrie R. Greco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Greco Sr., of Glasco, wed Frank Augustus Tiano of Inglewood, Calif., son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Fabino of Glasco, Saturday, Dec. 10 at 2 p. m. in a civil ceremony at the bride's home. Glenford Myers, town justice of the peace, performed the double ring ceremony.

The room was decorated with white roses and carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of rose point lace over bridal satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and a standing collar. The lace bodice was embroidered in iridescent sequins. Her bouffant skirt, with deep lace edge terminated in a chapel length train. The bride's French illusion veil was secured to a scalloped bridal cap of a starched lace completely covered with iridescent sequins.

Miss Greco carried a colonial bouquet of white roses with an orchid in the center of the roses.

Mrs. Louis Greco Jr., sister-in-law of the bride was the matron of honor. Her gown was of robin's egg blue and made of nylon net and satin with matching bolero with a floor length train. She also wore a matching picture hat and carried a colonial bouquet of red roses.

The bride's mother wore a pink lace dress with a corsage of pink roses.

The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue dress trimmed with pink and a corsage of pink roses.

Best man for his brother-in-law was John Perseley of Poughkeepsie.

A reception was held at Sparky's in Glasco for approximately 50 people.

The bride chose as her traveling ensemble a beige suit with black accessories and an orchid.

Miss Greco was an employe of Exquisite Form Company of Barclay Heights.

The bridegroom is employed by the Douglas Aircraft Company in Inglewood, Calif.

After a wedding journey through the southern states, the couple will tour across the United States to take up residence in Inglewood, Calif.

Harmony Plan Is Suggested by Mediation Head

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—The chairman of the State Mediation Board has offered to promote a "live-and-let-live" agreement between management and labor on a state-wide level.

Merlyn S. Pitzele said yesterday such an agreement would include mutual recognition of labor's right to organize and management's right to manage as well as a pledge to settle disputes as amicably as possible.

Pitzele was a witness at a public hearing of the joint legislative committee on industry and labor conditions.

The labor-management pact, Pitzele said, could be effected as soon as the state AFL and CIO follow the lead of the national organizations to merge. Talks on a state merger are expected to begin early next year.

HE SAID the State Mediations board will "explore the possibility of doing on the state level what it appeared the time was not ripe for on the national level."

The merger on the state level of the two federations would reduce the number of jurisdictional disputes between unions and would provide a "more meaningful moral standard" of union conduct, Pitzele said.

State Industrial Commissioner Isadore Lubin, another witness at the hearing, said maximum disability benefits for workers sick or injured off the job should be increased from $33 to $36 a week while the present 13-week maximum term for payments should be doubled.

HE SAID the two steps would add about 25 per cent of the employers' present share of the cost.

Commerce Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson told the hearing he is trying to persuade 17 major industries to locate plants or operations in the state. He called the 17 a record number and said the industries range from electronics to paper pulp products. He did not amplify.

Dickinson said the only distressed employment area in the state was Amsterdam and that he is trying to have an industry located there.

Convicted in Slaying

Paterson, N. J., Dec. 13 (AP)—James Cerce today was convicted of second degree murder in the fatal shooting of his 45-year-old blonde wife. The Passaic county jury of 10 men and 2 women took almost 11 hours to reach its verdict in the case. Upon hearing the verdict, Cerce's eyes filled with tears and his lawyer announced he would appeal. Cerce, 53, a convicted tax dodger, was charged with slaying his wife Roberta after suprising her in bed with another man in their fashionable Clifton home last July 28.

Rita Wins Divorce

Reno, Dec. 13 (AP)—Actress Rita Hayworth yesterday won a "mail order" divorce from Dick Haymes, her fourth husband. Rita is in Paris, France, with her children. Haymes is singing in Las Vegas, Nev. Dist. Judge Grant L. Bowen granted the decree with only lawyers of the principals present. Rita in a deposition charged extreme mental cruelty. Her former husbands were oilman Edward C. Judson, actor Orson Welles and Moslem Prince Aly Khan. She and Haymes were married Sept. 24, 1953.

A Frenchman reached Michigan's upper peninsula in 1618, two years before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

Court Ruling Is No Arbitration in Barnett Dismissal

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—A State Supreme Court justice has ruled against efforts by the New York Newspaper Guild to arbitrate the dismissal of a New York Times copyreader who pleaded the Figth Amendment before a Senate committee.

In granting a Times motion to stay arbitration, Justice Felix C. Benvenga pointed out that the Times unit of the Guild local had voted "in no uncertain terms" against arbitrating the dismissal of Melvin L. Barnet.

..BENVENGA SAID the Guild local could not invoke arbitration over the Times unit vote of 337 to 235 against it. If it did, the justice said, "The Guild would be acting not as agent for the Times employes but in spite of them."

The Guild said the decision would be appealed. M. Michael Potoker, secretary-treasurer of the local said of the decision:

"This is another way of saying that though it is the Guild local which has a contract with the Times, a section of that local can overrule the Guild."

BARNET WAS dismissed by the Times last July after invoking the Fifth Amendment in refusing to tell the Senate Internal Security Committee whether he had been a Communist in the 1930's.

Some New York Guild leaders have declared that a person should not be automatically dismissed for invoking the consitutional privilege when asked about Communist connections dating years back.

The Guild has said, however, it would not dispute dismissals if based on refusal to tell about Communist activities in the immediate past.

Kefauver May Give Out Plans Friday

Los Angeles, Dec. 13 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) plans a news conference in Washington on Friday. It will come as no surprise should he announce then that he seeks the Democratic presidential nomination.

The senator, taking off today on a three-city southern California visit, has been saying publicly that he would announce his decision on whether to seek the Democratic nomination later this month or early in January, also that "if I run for anything it will be president, not vice president."

But yesterday the Chattanooga Times said that Kefauver was reported to have made a "firm decision" to enter the presidential race and announce it in Washington on Friday. Kefauver said in San Francisco that he could not confirm the report.

Wipe Your Wheels!

Charlottesville, Va. (AP) — Trucks will please wipe their wheels before driving into Charlottesville. Council also told the city attorney to draft an ordinance to make the request enforceable.

SAVE YOUR WOODEN NICKELS—The guy who tells you not to take any wooden nickels just doesn't know what's going on in Beloit, Wis. The Beloit State Bank is giving a real dollar for every 20 wooden nickels you bring in. Of course, the "coins" must be the ones they make and hand out to customers who pay for parking when they come to the bank. For every real nickel dropped in the parking meter, the customer gets a wooden one, shown in insert above. Ginny Jesse, Belcit College senior from Appleton, Wis., is taking a "bath" in the wooden nickels that are worth money.

Youth Is Convicted

Chicago, Dec. 13 (AP)—Clarence Baugh, 18-year-old son of deaf mutes, was convicted yesterday of the rape-murder of 8-year-old Mary Manzo. Criminal Court Judge Daniel Roberts, who heard the case without a jury, set Dec. 28 for a hearing on a motion for a new trial or passing sentence. Mary's body was found July 7 under a viaduct on the south side. A statement Baugh gave to police, which was admitted as evidence over defense protests, said Baugh abducted the girl, raped her and hit her over the head with a piece of pipe.

Harmony Plan Is Suggested by Mediation Head

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—The chairman of the State Mediation Board has offered to promote a "live-and-let-live" agreement between management and labor on a state-wide level.

Merlyn S. Pitzele said yesterday such an agreement would include mutual recognition of labor's right to organize and management's right to manage as well as a pledge to settle disputes as amicably as possible.

Pitzele was a witness at a public hearing of the joint legislative committee on industry and labor conditions.

The labor-management pact, Pitzele said, could be effected as soon as the state AFL and CIO follow the lead of the national organizations to merge. Talks on a state merger are expected to begin early next year.

HE SAID the State Mediations board will "explore the possibility of doing on the state level what it appeared the time was not ripe for on the national level."

The merger on the state level of the two federations would reduce the number of jurisdictional disputes between unions and would provide a "more meaningful moral standard" of union conduct, Pitzele said.

State Industrial Commissioner Isadore Lubin, another witness at the hearing, said maximum disability benefits for workers sick or injured off the job should be increased from $33 to $36 a week while the present 13-week maximum term for payments should be doubled.

HE SAID the two steps would add about 25 per cent of the employers' present share of the cost.

Commerce Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson told the hearing he is trying to persuade 17 major industries to locate plants or operations in the state. He called the 17 a record number and said the industries range from electronics to paper pulp products. He did not amplify.

Dickinson said the only distressed employment area in the state was Amsterdam and that he is trying to have an industry located there.

Convicted in Slaying

Paterson, N. J., Dec. 13 (AP)—James Cerce today was convicted of second degree murder in the fatal shooting of his 45-year-old blonde wife. The Passaic county jury of 10 men and 2 women took almost 11 hours to reach its verdict in the case. Upon hearing the verdict, Cerce's eyes filled with tears and his lawyer announced he would appeal. Cerce, 53, a convicted tax dodger, was charged with slaying his wife Roberta after suprising her in bed with another man in their fashionable Clifton home last July 28.

Rita Wins Divorce

Reno, Dec. 13 (AP)—Actress Rita Hayworth yesterday won a "mail order" divorce from Dick Haymes, her fourth husband. Rita is in Paris, France, with her children. Haymes is singing in Las Vegas, Nev. Dist. Judge Grant L. Bowen granted the decree with only lawyers of the principals present. Rita in a deposition charged extreme mental cruelty. Her former husbands were oilman Edward C. Judson, actor Orson Welles and Moslem Prince Aly Khan. She and Haymes were married Sept. 24, 1953.

Court Ruling Is No Arbitration in Barnett Dismissal

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—A State Supreme Court justice has ruled against efforts by the New York Newspaper Guild to arbitrate the dismissal of a New York Times copyreader who pleaded the Figth Amendment before a Senate committee.

In granting a Times motion to stay arbitration, Justice Felix C. Benvenga pointed out that the Times unit of the Guild local had voted "in no uncertain terms" against arbitrating the dismissal of Melvin L. Barnet.

..BENVENGA SAID the Guild local could not invoke arbitration over the Times unit vote of 337 to 235 against it. If it did, the justice said, "The Guild would be acting not as agent for the Times employes but in spite of them."

The Guild said the decision would be appealed. M. Michael Potoker, secretary-treasurer of the local said of the decision:

"This is another way of saying that though it is the Guild local which has a contract with the Times, a section of that local can overrule the Guild."

BARNET WAS dismissed by the Times last July after invoking the Fifth Amendment in refusing to tell the Senate Internal Security Committee whether he had been a Communist in the 1930's.

Some New York Guild leaders have declared that a person should not be automatically dismissed for invoking the consitutional privilege when asked about Communist connections dating years back.

The Guild has said, however, it would not dispute dismissals if, based on refusal to tell about Communist activities in the immediate past.

Kefauver May Give Out Plans Friday

Los Angeles, Dec. 13 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) plans a news conference in Washington on Friday. It will come as no surprise should he announce then that he seeks the Democratic presidential nomination.

The senator, taking off today on a three-city southern California visit, has been saying publicly that he would announce his decision on whether to seek the Democratic nomination later this month or early in January, also that "if I run for anything it will be president, not vice president."

But yesterday the Chattanooga Times said that Kefauver was reported to have made a "firm decision" to enter the presidential race and announce it in Washington on Friday. Kefauver said in San Francisco that he could not confirm the report.

Youth Is Convicted

Chicago, Dec. 13 (AP)—Clarence Baugh, 18-year-old son of deaf mutes, was convicted yesterday of the rape-murder of 8-year-old Mary Manzo. Criminal Court Judge Daniel Roberts, who heard the case without a jury, set Dec. 28 for a hearing on a motion for a new trial or passing sentence. Mary's body was found July 7 under a viaduct on the south side. A statement Baugh gave to police, which was admitted as evidence over defense protests, said Baugh abducted the girl, raped her and hit her over the head with a piece of pipe.

Early Yule Mail Response Is Good

Postmaster William R. Kraft today expressed his thanks to "everyone in Kingston," for cooperating so far, with the annual "Mail Early for Christmas," campaign.

Time is running out rapidly for late mailers, he reminded, and he urged use of air parcel post for gift packages and air mail postage for cards going to other states.

Cards for local delivery, he said, should be sent by first class mail.

Although the mail rush, to date, is not nearing the peak expected in the last week or 10 days, he indicated, records are toppling in both outgoing and incoming mail "and every postal employe is digging in for the final big rush."

If all cooperate by mailing now, he said, "Your Christmas cards and gifts will arrive by Dec. 25. Let's help the postmaster and his hard working staff by taking care of all Christmas mailings immediately."

NLRB Would Dismiss Piscopo Labor Charge

New York, Dec. 13 (Special)—A National Labor Relations Board trial examiner has recommended the dismissal of an unfair labor charge, issued by the NLRB against a refrigeration company upon the complaint of Louis Piscopo of Accord, it was disclosed here today.

Piscopo had alleged that he was fired from his position with the Seaboard Terminal and Refrigeration Company at Pier 48, North River, New York, on October 20, 1954, because he had filed an unfair labor charge with the NLRB against the firm.

In his recommendation to the labor board, Trial Examiner James A. Shaw said that he found the motivating factor behind the company's action was Piscopo's "own misconduct and not because he filed charges."

A decision by the NLRB on whether or not to accept Examiner Shaw's recommendation for dismissal of the complaint will be forthcoming shortly.

BETTER HEARING

If you have a hearing loss — even a slight one — you may find yourself getting very tired and nervous, just trying to hear. Nowadays, intelligent people use hearing aids to prevent fatigue that comes from straining to hear. They find hearing aids increase the efficiency of their hearing. The modern hearing aid is so small no one need know you're wearing one. And what a comfort it can be. No more blurred, half hearing sounds, no more trying to laugh at jokes you didn't hear, no more exasperated friends and family. Wearing a hearing aid puts you back in circulation again, increases your business efficiency and makes you better company.

Special Meeting On Israel Slated Here Wednesday

RABBI I. D. PASSOW

A local emergency meeting is scheduled Wednesday to consider an appeal for $25 million to help Israel in its present plight, according to an announcement made today.

Tomorrow's session at the Kingston Jewish Community Center, 265 Wall street, is open to all interested in the Near East, it was stressed.

Speaker for the meeting will be Rabbi Isidore David Passow, well-known Zionist, who has been closely associated with the new Jewish state over a period of years.

ARRANGEMENTS for the meeting are under direction of two prominent Jewish laymen, Herman J. Eaton, president of the Kingston Jewish Community Council, and Herman G. Rafaiowsky, chairman of the United Jewish Welfare Fund, also members of the emergency campaign committee.

Rabbi Passow, a native New Yorker, emigrated to Israel with his family in 1948. He taught at Ahad Ha'am School in Tel Aviv and later became director of public relations for Weizmann Institute of Science in Rehovoth. At present he is assistant-to-the president of world-famous Dropsie College for advanced Hebrew learning in Philadelphia.

RABBI PASSOW, who has been at the college since 1954, has served in conservative and reform congregations in Ithaca, Philadelphia and Boston. In years preceding the establishment of Israel, he gave leadership to the Zionist movement as executive director of New England Zionist Emergency Council and through his association with American Christian Palestine committee.

An eloquent speaker, Rabbi Passow, the committee says, has an immense fund of knowledge of economic social and scientific developments in Israel enriched by his residence there.

Rabbi Passow will point out the need for the $25 million special fund to help Israel keep its doors open for the influx of displaced persons from North Africa who seek shelter.

Costs $952 . . .

carry. The fixed daily cost varies somewhat for different areas.

As to the 3.5 cents a mile figure, it covers gas, oil, tires and maintenance, including $25 a year for repairs.

For the driver who registers 10,000 miles a year it boils down to an overall cost of 9.5 cents a mile.

The 5,000 mile driver fares worse on a mileage basis. His fixed costs are the same and his variable costs come to $175, a total of $777. This amounts to 15.5 cents a mile.

On the other hand, cars driven 20,000 miles require $1,324 a year, or only 6.6 cents a mile.

Ulster county's filling stations and garages have benefited by the auto boom. Their business last year, reports Consumer Markets, climbed to $7,705,000.

Buffalo Bomb Threat

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP)—Travel plans for hundreds of people were disrupted today and the city's main post office, swamped with Christmas mail, was closed for an hour and a half as a result of a bomb threat. Police said they had received an anonymous letter warning that the terminal, the post office and Albright Art Gallery would be blown up at noon (EST) because they were "architechtural monstrosities." The buildings were closed at 11:30 a. m.

Mike, Key Members Assist Motor Club

Two members of the Ulster County Mike and Key Club were assigned to assist the Woodstock Motor Club Sunday afternoon during the motor clubs annual rally. Operating their amateur radio mobile units Joe Bonse W2PGE of Kingston and John Schmitz K2BCU of Saugerties acted as check points from eight separate locations. They were required to shift positions quite frequently to keep ahead of the many participating cars. They were assisted by John Gallagher W2VAQ who relayed occasional traffic from his home station in Boiceville. Also helping out were Charles Spader K2IZE, Ray Cord and "Skip" Miller.

Vince Coons, representative of the motor club who had made the arrangements with the radio club had nothing but praise and thanks for the amateurs for doing such a fine job and cooperating the way they did.

The rally lasted from noon until about 5 p. m. and terminated at the Barn where all concerned enjoyed dinner.

LAKE KATRINE GRANGE 1065 held a regular meeting at the Grange Hall Monday, Dec. 5. After a short business session, Lecturer Virginia Hookey presented the literary program and several songs were sung by the patrons.

Brother Harold Keator gave a talk on guns, showing their manufacturing progress. He exhibited part of his large collection of guns, some of which have been in his family for four generations. He showed a pair of dueling pistols of the year 1645, hand carved, muzzle loading, which had been carried in saddle holsters; also a percussion cap gun, over and under, manufactured about 1835 and a gun using a paper cartridge, fired with a percussion cap; this gun was a forerunner of the modern gun of today, which uses a brass shell with the detonator in the center. He also showed a 36 calibre powder and ball colt pistol and a modern colt to demonstrate the comparison between the two. He said that the old gun is just as accurate as the new one.

A short discussion was held on hunting dogs. This was followed by a game "Concentration."

On Monday, Dec. 19, the Christmas party will be held with supper at 6:30. All are asked to bring a covered dish, own silver and dishes, and a small present for each one attending. There will be a Christmas tree and Santa Claus will make a visit. The lecturer will present a special Christmas program.

Wharton Assures

government got into the building end it might also get into the policy end of education.

On the other hand, some felt that educational opportunity should not depend on whether a child happened to be born in a rich or poor area of the nation and that federal aid was the best assurance that each child would enjoy equal educational opportunity. It was felt that teacher pay in some sections should be raised to a level which would attract good teachers to the profession.

Also discussed briefly were federal highway programs, supports for farmers, taxes and spending and the relations with the Soviet Union.

Congressman Wharton agreed with some members of the group that the "majority" feeling in the nation favored a program of "flexible supports for farmers."

It was the feeling of the Congressman that the group probably favored a balanced budget and would not favor tax cuts as long as the budget was not balanced. However, he pointed out that many proposals would be presented to Congress for tax cuts this year and that he wouldn't be surprised to see some "small cuts" passed.

As to the relationship with the Soviet, the Congressman said he believed the situation was now a "little more favorable" and that there had been some progress in the right direction.

In reply to a question, he said a communication to him from a recognized organization, such as the Chamber of Commerce, carried considerable weight and received immediate consideration in his Congressional activity.

Present at the meeting were Mayor Frederick H. Stang, Albert C. Kurdt, executive secretary of the local Chamber, J. Ellis Briggs, president of the Chamber, Gavin Cullen, manager of Kingston IBM and a member of the national legislative affairs committee, Robert E. Denton, Edward Lefren, Walter Donnaruma, N. Jansen Fowler, Robert W. Peebles, George Silkworth, Edwin T. Strong, C. C. DuMond, Jr., Dr. John A. Cooke, Robert Sabin, Abraham Streifer and Mr. Bourke.

Major Plays Cupid

Western Front, Korea, Dec. 13 (AP)—An American major played cupid yesterday for the first wedding in the allied half of the truce zone between North and South Korea. Maj. Francis Birnley of Pittsburgh, Pa., civil affairs officer for the U. S. 24th Division, arranged transportation special passes so Chung Il Tong, 27-year-old South Korean soldier, could meet and marry a girl he had never seen. The bride and about 125 other persons live in Tae Song Dung, smack in the middle of the 2½ mile wide demilitarized zone and one of the most heavily guarded villages in the world. Roads northward are guarded by North Koreans; roads southward are guarded by Americans.

Cherry-Apricot Bavarian Is Yummy Yule Dessert

BY GAYNOR MADDOX, NEA Food and Markets Editor

For a light but delightful end to the family Christmas dinner, this Cherry-Apricot Bavarian seems about right.

Cherry-Apricot Bavarian
(Makes 6-8 Servings)

Two tablespoons unflavored gelatin, ½ cup water, 1½ cups sieved canned apricots, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup water, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 cups heavy cream, whipped, 1 cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained (about 20 cherries).

Soften gelatin in water: dissolve over boiling water. Combine apricots, lemon juice, sugar and salt; stir until sugar is dissolved. Add gelatin and mix well. Chill until mixture is slightly thickened. Fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into 3-cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with additional cherries if desired.

Cherry-Rice Delight
(Makes 6 servings)

Two-thirds cup rice, 3 cups milk ¼ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained (about 10 cherries), ½ cup heavy cream, whipped, 12 canned apricot halves, drained, 6 maraschino cherries, drained, ¼ cup water, 1½ teaspoons cornstarch, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ cup boiling water, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1½ teaspoons lemon juice.

Combine rice and milk; cook until mixture boils. Simmer until rice is tender, about 20 minutes. Add ¼ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt and cinnamon; mix well. Cool 5 minutes; chill. Fold rice mixture and chopped cherries into cream. Turn into serving dishes. Top with apricots and cherries. Meanwhile, combine ¼ cup sugar, cornstarch and ⅛ teaspoon salt. Gradually add water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened and clear. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Chill and pour over apricot-cherry mixture.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Roast loin of pork, applesauce, baked potatoes, Brussels sprouts, seeded rolls, butter or margarine, cherry-apricot Bavarian, coffee, tea, milk.

Lions of Esopus Hear Brown Talk On Youth Problem

Arthur H. Brown, county investigator of the Ulster County Sheriffs office was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Town of Esopus Lions Club held Monday night.

Following introduction by Clifford Every, president, Mr. Brown dwelled on the subject of youthful offenders and correctional methods being used by his department to combat the spread of irresponsibility among the juvenile element of society.

HIS ADDRESS WAS followed by a question and answer period at which time he gave answers to many problems affecting not only the youth of our area but the parents as well.

The board of directors held a meeting afterward and it was the consensus of the members present to announce that Monday night's meeting will be the last for 1955 due to the holidays.

Shipyard Unions Elect Officers, Yerry's 14th Term

The Kingston Metal Trades Council, representing the seven shipyard unions, last evening held its annual election and re-elected George E. Yerry, Jr., business agent for the 14th time. Joseph Rodden was re-elected president, Max Haselmayer was re-elected vice-president; John Fitzgerald was re-elected treasurer. Trustees named are Kenneth Jolin, David Dalton, Peter Johansen, John Belsito and Frank Ostrander.

Thomas Mitchell, business agent of the electricians local, was elected a trustee of the welfare fund to replace George Geisler.

Britain Condemns Israel

London, Dec. 13 (AP)—Britain today condemned Israel for attacking Syrian forces along the shores of the Sea of Galilee. A Foreign Office spokesman told newsmen that from information available here the Sunday night assault by the Jewish forces appeared to have been "unprovoked," and was "all out of proportion to even the provocation which Israel claims led to the attack."

Gets 20 to Life

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—Martin Yamin, former Baltimore police magistrate, got a sentence of 20 years to life today for a Brooklyn slaying in which he hired the killer. It was the minimum which could be assessed. Although the sentencing judge said he deserved no mercy, Yamin apparently got the lowest term because he entered a plea of guilty to a second degree murder charge. Yamin was permitted to enter the plea after his trial on a first degree murder charge had proceeded briefly. Kings County Judge George Joyce set the penalty for Yamin in the Feb. 15 killing of Joseph Aronowitz.

Early Yule Mail Response Is Good

Postmaster William R. Kraft today expressed his thanks to "everyone in Kingston," for cooperating so far, with the annual "Mail Early for Christmas," campaign.

Time is running out rapidly for late mailers, he reminded, and he urged use of air parcel post for gift packages and air mail postage for cards going to other states.

Cards for local delivery, he said, should be sent by first class mail.

Although the mail rush, to date, is not nearing the peak expected in the last week or 10 days, he indicated, records are toppling in both outgoing and incoming mail "and every postal employe is digging in for the final big rush."

If all cooperate by mailing now, he said, "Your Christmas cards and gifts will arrive by Dec. 25. Let's help the postmaster and his hard working staff by taking care of all Christmas mailings immediately."

BETTER HEARING

If you have a hearing loss — even a slight one — you may find yourself getting very tired and nervous, just trying to hear. Nowadays, intelligent people use hearing aids to prevent fatigue that comes from straining to hear. They find hearing aids increase the efficiency of their hearing. The modern hearing aid is so small no one need know you're wearing one. And what a comfort it can be. No more blurred, half hearing sounds, no more trying to laugh at jokes you didn't hear, no more exasperated friends and family. Wearing a hearing aid puts you back in circulation again, increases your business efficiency and makes you better company.

NLRB Would Dismiss Piscopo Labor Charge

New York, Dec. 13 (Special)—A National Labor Relations Board trial examiner has recommended the dismissal of an unfair labor charge, issued by the NLRB against a refrigeration company upon the complaint of Louis Piscopo of Accord, it was disclosed here today.

Piscopo had alleged that he was fired from his position with the Seaboard Terminal and Refrigeration Company at Pier 48, North River, New York, on October 20, 1954, because he had filed an unfair labor charge with the NLRB against the firm.

In his recommendation to the labor board, Trial Examiner James A. Shaw said that he found the motivating factor behind the company's action was Piscopo's "own misconduct and not because he filed charges."

A decision by the NLRB on whether or not to accept Examiner Shaw's recommendation for dismissal of the complaint will be forthcoming shortly.

RABBI I. D. PASSOW

A local emergency meeting is scheduled Wednesday to consider an appeal for $25 million to help Israel in its present plight, according to an announcement made today.

Tomorrow's session at the Kingston Jewish Community Center, 265 Wall street, is open to all interested in the Near East, it was stressed.

Speaker for the meeting will be Rabbi Isidore David Passow, well-known Zionist, who has been closely associated with the new Jewish state over a period of years.

ARRANGEMENTS for the meeting are under direction of two prominent Jewish laymen, Herman J. Eaton, president of the Kingston Jewish Community Council, and Herman G. Rafalowsky, chairman of the United Jewish Welfare Fund, also members of the emergency campaign committee.

Rabbi Passow, a native New Yorker, emigrated to Israel with his family in 1948. He taught at Ahad Ha'am School in Tel Aviv and later became director of public relations for Weizmann Institute of Science in Rehovoth. At present he is assistant-to-the president of world-famous Dropsie College for advanced Hebrew learning in Philadelphia.

RABBI PASSOW, who has been at the college since 1954, has served in conservative and reform congregations in Ithaca, Philadelphia and Boston. In years preceding the establishment of Israel, he gave leadership to the Zionist movement as executive director of New England Zionist Emergency Council and through his association with American Christian Palestine committee.

An eloquent speaker, Rabbi Passow, the committee says, has an immense fund of knowledge of economic social and scientific developments in Israel enriched by his residence there.

Rabbi Passow will point out the need for the $25 million special fund to help Israel keep its doors open for the influx of displaced persons from North Africa who seek shelter.

Costs $952 . . .

carry. The fixed daily cost varies somewhat for different areas.

As to the 3.5 cents a mile figure, it covers gas, oil, tires and maintenance, including $25 a year for repairs.

For the driver who registers 10,000 miles a year it boils down to an overall cost of 9.5 cents a mile.

The 5,000 mile driver fares worse on a mileage basis. His fixed costs are the same and his variable costs come to $175, a total of $777. This amounts to 15.5 cents a mile.

On the other hand, cars driven 20,000 miles require $1,324 a year, or only 6.6 cents a mile.

Ulster county's filling stations and garages have benefited by the auto boom. Their business last year, reports Consumer Markets, climbed to $7,705,000.

Buffalo Bomb Threat

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP)—Travel plans for hundreds of people were disrupted today and the city's main post office, swamped with Christmas mail, was closed for an hour and a half as a result of a bomb threat. Mike, Key Members Assist Motor Club

Two members of the Ulster County Mike and Key Club were assigned to assist the Woodstock Motor Club Sunday afternoon during the motor clubs annual rally. Operating their amateur radio mobile units Joe Bonse W2PGE of Kingston and John Schmitz K2BCU of Saugerties acted as check points from eight separate locations. They were required to shift positions quite frequently to keep ahead of the many participating cars. They were assisted by John Gallagher W2VAQ who relayed occasional traffic from his home station in Boiceville. Also helping out were Charles Spader K2IZE, Ray Cord and "Skip" Miller.

Vince Coons, representative of the motor club who had made the arrangements with the radio club had nothing but praise and thanks for the amateurs for doing such a fine job and cooperating the way they did.

The rally lasted from noon until about 5 p. m. and terminated at the Barn where all concerned enjoyed dinner.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX, NEA Food and Markets Editor

For a light but delightful end to the family Christmas dinner, this Cherry-Apricot Bavarian seems about right.

Cherry-Apricot Bavarian
(Makes 6-8 Servings)

Two tablespoons unflavored gelatin, ½ cup water, 1½ cups sieved canned apricots, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup water, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 cups heavy cream, whipped, 1 cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained (about 20 cherries).

Soften gelatin in water: dissolve over boiling water. Combine apricots, lemon juice, sugar and salt; stir until sugar is dissolved. Add gelatin and mix well. Chill until mixture is slightly thickened. Fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into 3-cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with additional cherries if desired.

Cherry-Rice Delight
(Makes 6 servings)

Two-thirds cup rice, 3 cups milk ¼ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained (about 10 cherries), ½ cup heavy cream, whipped, 12 canned apricot halves, drained, 6 maraschino cherries, drained, ¼ cup water, 1½ teaspoons cornstarch, ⅛ teaspoon salt, ½ cup boiling water, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1½ teaspoons lemon juice.

Combine rice and milk; cook until mixture boils. Simmer until rice is tender, about 20 minutes. Add ¼ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt and cinnamon; mix well. Cool 5 minutes; chill. Fold rice mixture and chopped cherries into cream. Turn into serving dishes. Top with apricots and cherries. Meanwhile, combine ¼ cup sugar, cornstarch and ⅛ teaspoon salt. Gradually add water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened and clear. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Chill and pour over apricot-cherry mixture.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Roast loin of pork, applesauce, baked potatoes, Brussels sprouts, seeded rolls, butter or margarine, cherry-apricot Bavarian, coffee, tea, milk.

Maroons Play Monties in DUSO Game at Field House Tonight

Kingston Five To Seek Third Win of Season

UCAL Quintets in Afternoon Action

Kingston High School goes after basketball victory No. 3 tonight at the Kate Walton field house, taking on Monticello in a DUSO League contest.

The locals, who won with a 61-58 squeaker win at Liberty Friday night in their DUSO opener, may find the Monties somewhat easier game. The visitors lacked a scoring punch against Port Jervis and were bludgeoned, 57-40.

Tonight's game is one of four on the DUSO schedule. Poughkeepsie, favored to win the bunting, travels to Ellenville. Newburgh visits Fallsburgh while Liberty journeys to Monticello. Port Jervis is idle.

UCAL TEAMS play non-league opponents. Highland was host to Arlington and Roosevelt visited New Paltz this afternoon. Kerhonkson goes to Montgomery tonight. Saugerties, Marlboro and Onteora aren't scheduled.

Kingston coach Jack Gilligan reported two of his cagers suffering from virus infections. However, both are expected to be ready for full-time duty.

Gilligan plans to start the same team that took the court in the first two games. The lineup will be Tom Flemming and Tony Grimaldi at forwards, Richie Strong at center and Bob Smith and Al Long at guards. Jimmy Jackson and Melvin Williams will be the sixth and seventh men.

Jackson is recovering from a football injury to his achilles tendon and is able to move around better.

The Maroons have been stressing defensive work of late. They have worked on switching assignments in a man-to-man setup and also on rebounding.

THE OFFENSE is working in good order. "We've got our patterns down pretty well," Gilligan declared, "and I think that we will have a pair of new ones after the holidays."

The visitors will probably start Marvin Schwartz and Bob Rosen at forwards, Bob Stratton at center, and Mike Glick and Art Glick at guards.

This will be the Maroons' final DUSO game until Jan. 6, when they journey to Port Jervis. Catskill will play here Friday night in a non-league encounter.

The preliminary game will begin at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

Florida Punter No. 1 in Nation

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—Don Chandler of Florida won the punting championship among major college players in a close duel with All-America Earl Morrall of Michigan State.

Final N.C.A.A. football statistics showed today that Chandler, a native of Tulsa, Okla., averaged 44.3 yards for 22 points while Morrall had 42.9 yards for the same number.

Bill Rigney of the New York Giants, Fred Hutchinson of the St. Louis Cardinals and Bobby Bragan of the Pittsburgh Pirates are the new major league managers for 1956.

Williams Hints Another Season

Miami, Fla., Dec. 13 (AP)—Ted Williams says the chances are good he will play baseball for the Boston Red Sox again next season.

Williams said during an interview yesterday that "if I were traded I'd quit baseball immediately."

Regarding playing next season, Williams told reporters: "I can't say definitely yet, but I'd say the chances are good. I feel good and I can't see any reason why I don't play right now.'"

Dons Voted No. 1 Five

(By The Associated Press)

The University of San Francisco Dons head eastward tomorrow rated the nation's No. 1 college basketball team, but unranked Colorado moved into the picture today in a big way after knocking off Iowa.

In the first regular season poll of the Associated Press, San Francisco grabbed 60 first place ballots and on the basis of 10 for first, nine for second, etc., rolled up 910 points.

A total of 100 sports writers and sportscasters turned in ballots, and although North Carolina State received only four firsts the Wolfpack got heavy support to take over second place with 640 points, NS State displaced Kentucky, second in the pre-season balloting.

IOWA, RANKED No. 4 in this week's poll, was the only outfit in the top 10 teams to play last night. Colorado, defending Big Seven conference champions, ran its record to 3-0 by defeating the Big Ten titleholders 60-57. The poll was based on games through Dec. 10.

The top ten teams, with won-lost records through Saturday's games and first place votes in parenthesis (points on 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis):

1.	San Francisco (3-0)....	910
2.	NC State (4-0) (4)....	640

Pettit Top NBA Scorer With 415

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—National Basketball Assn. teams are scoring at a rate which may make adding machines an integral part of the scorekeepers' equipment.

After 69 starts, through Sunday's games, the pro circuit shows an all-time high rate of 98.1 points a game (for each team)—or better than two points a minute. In 44 of the games, one or both teams scored at least 100 points.

IN 14 GAMES last week, a total of 2,812 points were chalked up for an average of more than 200 points a game.

Bob Pettit still is taking advantage of the wide open attacks. The St. Louis Hawks' sophomore maintained his individual scoring lead with 415 points in 17 games for a 24.4 average.

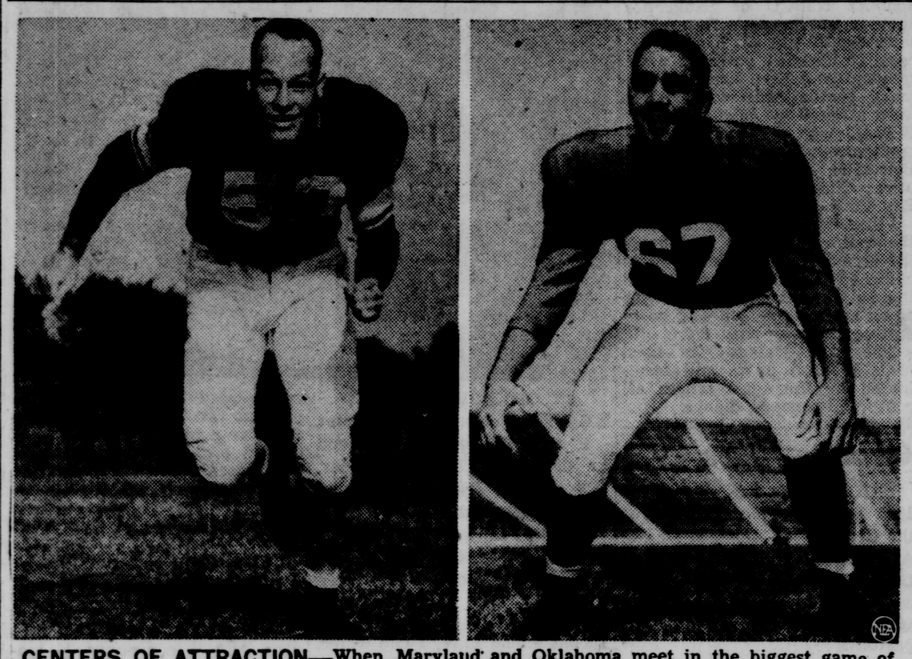

Big Clyde Lovellette of Minneapolis is second with 386 points (21.4 average). He's followed by Neil Johnston of Philadelphia with 379 points (22.3), Paul Arizin, also of the Warriors, with 376 (22.1) and Boston's Ed Macauley with 331 (22.1).

Ferraro Needs Big Series to Stay Alive in National Singles

CENTERS OF ATTRACTION—When Maryland and Oklahoma meet in the biggest game of the year at the Orange Bowl, Jan. 2, Miami fans will see two top centers in the Sooners' Jerry Tubbs, left, and Bob Pellegrini of the Terps. Tubbs received national acclaim, while Pellegrini rated NEA All-America honors. They anchor tremendous lines, the kind that go through unbeaten.

18-Game Total Of 3400 Places Ace in Jeopardy

Three Bad Games Hurt Chances

Needing a substantial six-game series to stay alive in the National Singles tournament in Chicago, Kingston's Johnny Ferraro was scheduled to make a last ditch bid on the 5:30 shift today in the Windy City.

Ferraro's 18-game total of 3400 placed him "somewhere in the middle" of the 160-man field. The field will be reduced to 48 semi-finalists at the end of today's shooting.

THREE POOR games—one in each block—seriously damaged the localite's chances of qualifying for the semi-final round.

Ferraro shot 1166 Saturday with a 153; 1124 Sunday with a 126 and 1110 Monday with a 156 start. His average for the 18 games to date is 188.16.

The 126 was a tough break for the Hudson valley's first representative in the National tourney, coming after four straight "200" sets.

From the fourth game of the Saturday block through the fourth on Sunday, Ferraro reeled off seven consecutive "200" scores.

SATURDAY—192, 180, 153, 234, 207, 200—1166.

SUNDAY—205, 205, 207, 215, 126, 166—1124.

MONDAY—156, 181, 170, 210, 187, 206—1110.

Total 3400; average 188.16.

A PAIR OF Detroit bowlers, Dolores Wroblewski and Eddie Lubanski, led the way today as the All-Star bowling preliminaries moved into pruning day at the Coliseum.

Lubanski, who missed taking the crown last season, took the men's lead yesterday with the meet's highest six-game series, a neat 1,343. His 18-game total of 3,864 gave him a 78-pin edge over Tom Hennessey, also of Detroit.

Miss Wroblewski, a bowling instructress, slipped to 738 yesterday but still clung to her No. 1 spot with 2,348. She was 34 pins ahead of Doris Porter of Los Angeles, who gained the No. 2 spot with 2,314, including a 768 series yesterday.

When the four-day preliminaries opened Saturday, there were 158 men and 62 women hopefuls eyeing the crowns now held by Steve Nagy, of Detroit, and Sylvia Wene, of Philadelphia.

Tonight however, these bulky fields will be reduced to the 46 high scorers in each division after the day's fourth tests—another six games for the men and four for the women.

Field House Clash To Start at 4 P. M.

Siena College opens athletic relations with Army in basketball Wednesday at 4 p. m. at the West Point field house.

Siena is winless in two starts against LeMoyne and St. Anselms. Army routed Ithaca and lost to Amherst.

Despite the two defeats Siena Coach Danny Cunha has seen marked improvement by some of his younger operatives. Cunha lauded John Obermayer, 6-foot-2 East Greenbush soph, on his scoring and rebounding and Jim Olsen, 5-foot-11 Albany junior who turned in a fine reserve job last time out.

CUNHA ALSO anticipates higher scoring by Timmy Hill, if the Yonkers speedster can wait until his teammates can screen for him.

Co-captain Frank Koenig of Kingston, Hill, Frank Connelly and Justin McCarthy loom as starters along with Obermayer. Sonny Skiff is still out of action.

Mark Bimstein is West Point's top scorer. Cunha, who scouted the Cadets, reports, "they're not overly tall, but they are solidly built and possess a fine bench."

Siena returns to the Albany Armory Saturday night to engage Georgetown.

Is Boxing Finished in State?

Helfand's Edict Banning Guild Move to Erase Mob Influence

Others Think New York Will Become Ring 'Ghost Town'

By JACK HAND

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—Will New York be a ghost town for boxing after Jan. 15? Or will the fight managers yield to Julius Helfand, hard-fisted chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission?

The showdown promises to be interesting with a strong possibility of a court battle while the International Boxing Club and the television networks fidget on the sidelines.

Helfand gave the managers who belong to the Boxing Guild of New York a "yes" or "no" choice. His nine-page decision following a seven-month inquiry, in effect, outlawed the local guild, an affiliate of the International Boxing Guild.

ALTHOUGH Helfand phrased it in more legal terms, his message was clear:

"Give up your Guild membership or lose your license."

If the 81 members of the Boxing Guild of New York refuse to turn in their cards before the Jan. 15 deadline, boxing may be dead in New York. One matchmaker said last night it would be impossible to put together more than one or two cards involving fighters whose managers now are non-Guild members.

"This definitely will be the end of boxing in New York," said one prominent manager who didn't wish to be identified.

If the managers stand pat, the television fights that come out of New York (Friday from Madison Square Garden and Monday from St. Nicholas Arena) probably would be piped from other states.

SOME MANAGERS, however, are understood to feel that New York is their home and they must make peace with the commission.

At the present time, it's hard to say what the attitude of other state commissions will be.

Nobody connected with the International Boxing Club would comment about any such possibility as boxing moving out of the state. There was only one brief statement from the IBC after Helfand's announcement. It came from Harry Markson managing director, and read like this:

"As a licensee of the New York State Athletic Commission we operate under the rules and regulations of that commission and the laws of New York state. Of course the commission decision today created a new problem for us in our negotiations each year on our televised commitments."

UNDER THE present agreement, each main event fighter on the Wednesday and Friday shows gets $4,000 from the TV and each Monday night fighter at St. Nicholas Arena gets $1,600.

Managers of practically all the champions and leading contenders are Guild members. Charlie Johnston, the International president, manages light heavyweight champ Archie Moore and featherweight champion Sandy Saddler as well as Eduardo Lausse, a middleweight contender. Al Weill, manager of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, also is a guildsman.

Helfand cut loose with both fists in blasting the Guild for his "vague and shadowy" activities and its "monopolistic practices." He called it a continuing menace to the integrity of boxing.

The Beaumont franchise in thee Texas League has been moved to Austin, formerly a member of thee Big State League. The team will continue to have a working agreement with the Milwaukee Braves.

When a Knock Is Really a Boost

Windsor, Dec. 13 (AP)—Milt Harrington, Windsor High School basketball player, bumped heads with a teammate in the third quarter of a game against Afton High, was knocked out for 30 seconds, regained consciousness and:

Scored 16 of his team's 20 points in the third period.

Scored seven more in the fourth period.

Beliveau Leads With 34 Points

Montreal, Dec. 13 (AP) — Jean Beliveau, graceful center of the pace-setting Montreal Canadiens, picked up 5 points in 3 games last week to move 5 points in front in the National Hockey league's individual scoring race.

Beliveau has rammed home 19 goals—most in the league—and 15 assists for 34 points while veteran Bert Olmstead, also of Montreal, has 6 goals and 23 assists, also a high figure, for 29 points.

Gordie Howe of Detroit and Andy Bathgate of the New York Rangers are deadlocked for third place with 28 points.

KBA Meets Tonight

The regular monthly meeting of the executive board of the Kingston Bowling Association will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at 277 Fair street. A full attendance of members is anticipated.

A Sad Story

Lulu Perez, 22, Washed Up and Rosi Proves It

New York, Dec. 13 (AP) — There was a day when Lulu Perez dreamed of becoming featherweight champion of the world. Last night he stood in a shower with head hung low and announced his retirement from the ring.

"Everybody tells me it's time to quit," said the 22-year-old Brooklyn youngster after his 42nd fight. He had taken a bad beating from Italian Paolo Rosi, losing a unanimous decision in 10 rounds at St. Nicholas Arena.

"Everybody tells me," he continued. "What do you think? I guess it's time. I could get hurt. No use going on. Where does it lead?"

IN THE DRESSING room, his manager, Andy Gregory, was telling reporters that it was "the kids last fight."

"He just hasn't got it anymore," said Gregory. "This is the end of the trail. I've got him under contract and he'll never fight again."

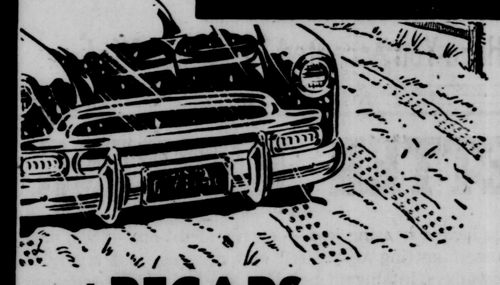

Dr. Alexander Schiff of the New York State Athletic Commission seconded the motion. He said he would so recommend in his report.

Perez weighed 133 to Rosi's 134¼ pounds and two judges voted 7-3, Referee Mark Conn 8-2 and the AP also 8-2 for Rosi.

And that is the story of Lulu Perez—washed up as a fighter at the age of 22.

Maroons Play Monties in DUSO Game at Field House Tonight

Kingston Five To Seek Third Win of Season

UCAL Quintets in Afternoon Action

Kingston High School goes after basketball victory No. 3 tonight at the Kate Walton field house, taking on Monticello in a DUSO League contest.

The locals, who won with a 61-58 squeaker win at Liberty Friday night in their DUSO opener, may find the Monties somewhat easier game. The visitors lacked a scoring punch against Port Jervis and were bludgeoned, 57-40.

Tonight's game is one of four on the DUSO schedule. Poughkeepsie, favored to win the bunting, travels to Ellenville. Newburgh visits Fallsburgh while Liberty journeys to Monticello. Port Jervis is idle.

UCAL TEAMS play non-league opponents. Highland was host to Arlington and Roosevelt visited New Paltz this afternoon. Kerhonkson goes to Montgomery tonight. Saugerties, Marlboro and Onteora aren't scheduled.

Kingston coach Jack Gilligan reported two of his cagers suffering from virus infections. However, both are expected to be ready for full-time duty.

Gilligan plans to start the same team that took the court in the first two games. The lineup will be Tom Flemming and Tony Grimaldi at forwards, Richie Strong at center and Bob Smith and Al Long at guards. Jimmy Jackson and Melvin Williams will be the sixth and seventh men.

Jackson is recovering from a football injury to his achilles tendon and is able to move around better.

The Maroons have been stressing defensive work of late. They have worked on switching assignments in a man-to-man setup and also on rebounding.

THE OFFENSE is working in good order. "We've got our patterns down pretty well," Gilligan declared, "and I think that we will have a pair of new ones after the holidays."

The visitors will probably start Marvin Schwartz and Bob Rosen at forwards, Bob Stratton at center, and Mike Glick and Art Glick at guards.

This will be the Maroons' final DUSO game until Jan. 6, when they journey to Port Jervis. Catskill will play here Friday night in a non-league encounter.

The preliminary game will begin at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

If the 81 members of the Boxing Guild of New York refuse to turn in their cards before the Jan. 15 deadline, boxing may be dead in New York. One matchmaker said last night it would be impossible to put together more than one or two cards involving fighters whose managers now are non-Guild members.

"This definitely will be the end of boxing in New York," said one prominent manager who didn't wish to be identified.

If the managers stand pat, the television fights that come out of New York (Friday from Madison Square Garden and Monday from St. Nicholas Arena) probably would be piped from other states.

SOME MANAGERS, however, are understood to feel that New York is their home and they must make peace with the commission.

At the present time, it's hard to say what the attitude of other state commissions will be.

Nobody connected with the International Boxing Club would comment about any such possibility as boxing moving out of the state. There was only one brief statement from the IBC after Helfand's announcement. It came from Harry Markson managing director, and read like this:

"As a licensee of the New York State Athletic Commission we operate under the rules and regulations of that commission and the laws of New York state. Of course the commission decision today created a new problem for us in our negotiations each year on our televised commitments."

UNDER THE present agreement, each main event fighter on the Wednesday and Friday shows gets $4,000 from the TV and each Monday night fighter at St. Nicholas Arena gets $1,600.

Managers of practically all the champions and leading contenders are Guild members. Charlie Johnston, the International president, manages light heavyweight champ Archie Moore and featherweight champion Sandy Saddler as well as Eduardo Lausse, a middleweight contender. Al Weill, manager of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, also is a guildsman.

Helfand cut loose with both fists in blasting the Guild for his "vague and shadowy" activities and its "monopolistic practices." He called it a continuing menace to the integrity of boxing.

The Beaumont franchise in thee Texas League has been moved to Austin, formerly a member of thee Big State League. The team will continue to have a working agreement with the Milwaukee Braves.

When a Knock Is Really a Boost

Windsor, Dec. 13 (AP)—Milt Harrington, Windsor High School basketball player, bumped heads with a teammate in the third quarter of a game against Afton High, was knocked out for 30 seconds, regained consciousness and:

Scored 16 of his team's 20 points in the third period.

Scored seven more in the fourth period.

Beliveau Leads With 34 Points

Montreal, Dec. 13 (AP) — Jean Beliveau, graceful center of the pace-setting Montreal Canadiens, picked up 5 points in 3 games last week to move 5 points in front in the National Hockey league's individual scoring race.

Beliveau has rammed home 19 goals—most in the league—and 15 assists for 34 points while veteran Bert Olmstead, also of Montreal, has 6 goals and 23 assists, also a high figure, for 29 points.

Gordie Howe of Detroit and Andy Bathgate of the New York Rangers are deadlocked for third place with 28 points.

KBA Meets Tonight

The regular monthly meeting of the executive board of the Kingston Bowling Association will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at 277 Fair street. A full attendance of members is anticipated.

A Sad Story

Lulu Perez, 22, Washed Up and Rosi Proves It

New York, Dec. 13 (AP) — There was a day when Lulu Perez dreamed of becoming featherweight champion of the world. Last night he stood in a shower with head hung low and announced his retirement from the ring.

"Everybody tells me it's time to quit," said the 22-year-old Brooklyn youngster after his 42nd fight. He had taken a bad beating from Italian Paolo Rosi, losing a unanimous decision in 10 rounds at St. Nicholas Arena.

"Everybody tells me," he continued. "What do you think? I guess it's time. I could get hurt. No use going on. Where does it lead?"

IN THE DRESSING room, his manager, Andy Gregory, was telling reporters that it was "the kids last fight."

"He just hasn't got it anymore," said Gregory. "This is the end of the trail. I've got him under contract and he'll never fight again."

Dr. Alexander Schiff of the New York State Athletic Commission seconded the motion. He said he would so recommend in his report.

Perez weighed 133 to Rosi's 134¼ pounds and two judges voted 7-3, Referee Mark Conn 8-2 and the AP also 8-2 for Rosi.

And that is the story of Lulu Perez—washed up as a fighter at the age of 22.

TULAREMIA TIPS

AVOID SKIN SCRATCHES WHEN RETRIEVING A BUNNY FROM A BRIAR PATCH. TULAREMIA GERMS CAN'T ENTER UNBROKEN, HEALTHY SKIN, BUT WASH HANDS AFTER HANDLING WITH SOAP AND WATER. THEN AVOID INTERNAL INFECTION BY EATING ONLY WELL-DONE RABBIT. SHUN PINK MEAT.

DOMESTIC RABBITS INFECT MORE PEOPLE THAN WILD RABBITS DO, BUT DON'T HANDLE ANY BUNNY THAT APPEARS LAZY OR SICK; SHOOT AND BURN, OR BURY IT. INSECTS THAT INFECT GAME VANISH AFTER HARD FROSTS, AND MOST GAME INFECTED BY THEM DIE IN 15 DAYS. SO, WINTER IS SAFEST.

Sam Turck powered games of 244, 236 and 173 to pace the Junior Major and the city's male trundlers with 653 last night.

Best female series was the 516 compiled by Marie Bechtold in the Women's Junior Major. Her games were 144, 212 and 160.

JUNIOR MAJOR keglers had one of their best scoring sprees of the season.

In addition to Turck's 653, there was a 634 by Jake Croswell (196-225-213); Tom Orr's 244-208-612, Robert Stenson's 233-219-636.

Harold Rockwell posted 509, Angelo Corrado 494, Ken Schupp 520, Frank Turck 200-548, M. Spano 563, C. Canzoneri 512, Ed Esposito 524, J. Peterson 461, Dick Waltman 207-529, Ernie Bartroff 486.

ART LANSPERRY shot 200-567, Will Wilkins 481, Milt Cole 507, Jim Noble 202-529, Paul Khederian 480, Fred Buchanan 488, Warren Wood 523, Jack Weishaupt 457, Matty Weishaupt 477, P. Malek 208-465, Phil Sinagra 518, Ralph Bush 466, Don Peterson 479, John Brady 208-494, Stan Warren 200-474.

Team results:

American Legion 2, Esposito's Shoes 1; Augustine's Ins. 2, Sam's Sandwich Shoppe 2; Kingston Ornamental Iron 1, Weishaupt's Market 2; Mountaineers 1, Sunnyside Grill 2.

DOT GEISLER fashioned the runnerup series of 470, with 189-122-159, in the Women's Junior Major.

TULAREMIA TIPS

AVOID SKIN SCRATCHES WHEN RETRIEVING A BUNNY FROM A BRIAR PATCH. TULAREMIA GERMS CAN'T ENTER UNBROKEN, HEALTHY SKIN, BUT WASH HANDS AFTER HANDLING WITH SOAP AND WATER. THEN AVOID INTERNAL INFECTION BY EATING ONLY WELL-DONE RABBIT. SHUN PINK MEAT.

DOMESTIC RABBITS INFECT MORE PEOPLE THAN WILD RABBITS DO, BUT DON'T HANDLE ANY BUNNY THAT APPEARS LAZY OR SICK; SHOOT AND BURN, OR BURY IT. INSECTS THAT INFECT GAME VANISH AFTER HARD FROSTS, AND MOST GAME INFECTED BY THEM DIE IN 15 DAYS. SO, WINTER IS SAFEST.

Sam Turck powered games of 244, 236 and 173 to pace the Junior Major and the city's male trundlers with 653 last night.

Best female series was the 516 compiled by Marie Bechtold in the Women's Junior Major. Her games were 144, 212 and 160.

JUNIOR MAJOR keglers had one of their best scoring sprees of the season.

In addition to Turck's 653, there was a 634 by Jake Croswell (196-225-213); Tom Orr's 244-208-612, Robert Stenson's 233-219-636.

Harold Rockwell posted 509, Angelo Corrado 494, Ken Schupp 520, Frank Turck 200-548, M. Spano 563, C. Canzoneri 512, Ed Esposito 524, J. Peterson 461, Dick Waltman 207-529, Ernie Bartroff 486.

BELIEVE US
If you are the right person for this house you will never find another buy like it. We don't know where to begin to tell you all the good things about it.
LOCATION—Country, 4 miles from Woodstock, 8 miles from I.B.M.
LAND — 8 valuable, level acres. Suitable for children, animals and pets, or just to call your own. Unquestionably worth $7,500. (And probably more) for building lots.
HOUSE—106 ft. long ranch, including a 2-car garage, enclosed breezeway, bus at front porch, large modern kitchen, separate dining room, enormous living room with fireplace, 4 (all on one floor) bedrooms, completely modern throughout. Every room knotty pine paneled. About 1700 sq. ft. of living area in all, including 10 closets, one of which would normally be called a bedroom by itself.
VIEW—out of this world panoramic scenery of all the surrounding mts.
PRICE—$25,000, and owner wants fast action.
Don't say we didn't tell you about this one. It's priced at least $10,000 under its reproduction value, and it's only 3 years old.

BELIEVE US
If you are the right person for this house you will never find another buy like it. We don't know where to begin to tell you all the good things about it.
LOCATION—Country, 4 miles from Woodstock, 8 miles from I.B.M.
LAND — 8 valuable, level acres. Suitable for children, animals and pets, or just to call your own. Unquestionably worth $7,500. (And probably more) for building lots.
HOUSE—106 ft. long ranch, including a 2-car garage, enclosed breezeway, bus at front porch, large modern kitchen, separate dining room, enormous living room with fireplace, 4 (all on one floor) bedrooms, completely modern throughout. Every room knotty pine paneled. About 1700 sq. ft. of living area in all, including 10 closets, one of which would normally be called a bedroom by itself.
VIEW—out of this world panoramic scenery of all the surrounding mts.
PRICE—$25,000, and owner wants fast action.
Don't say we didn't tell you about this one. It's priced at least $10,000 under its reproduction value, and it's only 3 years old.

HILLEBOE SAID 1,115 communities in the United States are now fluoridating water for more than 22 million persons.

Opposition to fluoridation, Hilleboe said, "stems from several sources, chiefly among food faddists, cultists, chiropractors, misguided and misinformed persons who are ignorant of the scientific facts on the ingestion of water fluorides, and strange as it may seem, even among a few physicians and dentists.

Talks Called Off

(By The Associated Press)

Joint bargaining talks between Westinghouse Electric Corp. and the striking AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers were called off today following a day of tension on picket lines and a rash of counter-charges by union and company spokesmen. Federal Mediator John R. Murray announced in Pittsburgh there would be no joint sessions as originally slated. He said he planned to confer separately with Westinghouse negotiators, and then meet later in the week with union officials in an effort to find ways of settling the 58-day-old strike.

Will Protest Road

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP)—Adirondack residents set out across Albany in an aging stagecoach today for a date with Gov. Harriman to complain about the condition of an ancient highway. The vehicle completed a 100-mile journey from Schroon Lake last night with help from modern transportation. Harriman, who was in Washington yesterday, planned to be back in time to greet the coach. The passengers are protesting the "horse and buggy" condition of a 7.8-mile stretch of Route 9, the main New York-Montreal highway, between Pottersville and Schroon Lake.

Denies Merger Offer

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—Cola G. Parker, president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers, says the group received no "live-and let-live" offer from the merged AFL-CIO. "The erroneous idea seems to have become current that George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, offered an olive branch to industry when he spoke at the NAM meeting in New York, and that NAM rejected his offer of peace," Parker said in a statement yesterday.

Residency Test

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—City Judge Laurence D. Childs has ruled a resident of 55 years has lived here a little too long to be considered a vagrant. Herman Sellers, 65, was charged with vagrancy after being found sleeping in a packing box. He explained he was locked out of his apartment by mistake. That explanation plus his long residence in St. Petersburg served to secure dismissal of the charge.

THE MARQUEE

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

STEVE ALLEN and "Tonight" draw all sorts of characters. But one recent evening they really had a lulu — and just escaped a large-sized mess.

While Allen was on the air, a man walked in the stage door with a pill in one hand and glass of water in the other and announced that he wanted to do away with himself on TV. Jules Green, Allen's manager, said, "Sorry, we can't use you." The police took over from there.

The harmonica is coming out of hiding. That's what Herb Shriner says. And he should know, because he's pretty much of a mouth organ expert, as well as a top comedian. At the moment, he's marketing a harmonica with his name on it, he's heading up a new harmonica band, and he's made a Columbia album which features the band. So he's up to his ears in harmonicas, which can be pretty uncomfortable. To plug all of his ventures, Herb is going around the country.

"I find lots of people are still playing the harmonica," he says. "When they see me coming they take it out of hiding. And kids are taking it up, too. The teachers say it's a good thing — I don't mean it's going to save anybody from juvenile delinquency, but it's something constructive and today people seem to have forgotten how to be constructive. Wood-carving would be just as good, but the harmonica is a help."

In addition to the cash-on-the-line reasons for Herb's current interest in the harmonica, there's a career consideration, too.

"It's rejuvenating my career," he says. "I'm getting to reach a new generation. You'd be surprised how fast a new generation can come along and it may not even know you. That's what happened to Bing Crosby — lots of kids today don't even know Bing."

So the harmonica is serving as a means to introduce Herb Shriner to the younger generation. He figures his TV show, "Two For the Money," appeals to a generally older group.

"The format of 'Two For the Money' is pretty confining," Herb says, "and it's getting more confining all the time. Chances are this will be my last season doing it. I've got some new ideas up my sleeve — some brand new, some are things I did years ago and some are things I've learned."

So you can expect to see Herb Shriner in a new format next season. But one thing is certain — he'll have the harmonica somewhere close by.

Mayor to Speak At Square Club Meeting Dec. 15

Mayor Frederick H. Stang will address the Woodstock Square Club Thursday evening at their regular monthly meeting.

A citizens committee headed by Leon Carey, the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, Frank Benson, Justice George Braendley, F. Henry Baertsch will select a man or woman who has done an outstanding job in the Woodstock community, and that citizen will be honored at the January President's dinner.

The club will hold its annual election of officers, including president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer at the meeting this week.

Kills Four, Is Shot

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 13 (AP)—A 32-year-old man accused of killing his wife and three small children early today was captured about five hours later after he was shot in a suburban drug store. Police headquarters said they could not tell from first reports if Buford V. Calhoun shot himself or was hit by bullets from officers' guns as they closed in on him. Killed in the attack were Mrs. Mary Calhoun, 32; her month-old twin daughters, and her 19-month-old son, Bobby. John Warren, 19, identified by police as Mrs. Calhoun's son-in-law by a previous marriage, was reported in a critical condition at a hospital.

Begin Defense Case

Oakland, Calif., Dec. 13 (AP)—Attorneys for Burton Abbott started their defense today against charges he committed the unwitnessed kidnaping and slaying of 14-year-old Stephanie Bryan. The prosecution wound up its circumstantial case yesterday with testimony by Dr. Paul Kirk, University of California criminologist. All that remained was the formality of announcing the state rested. Dr. Kirk testified the chances were at least 125,000 to 1 that two strands of hair he found in Abbott's car were from the head of the girl.

Phoenicia Nimrods Elect New Officers

During the annual meeting of the Phoenicia Fish and Game Association held Monday night at Woodland Valley Inn, Phoenicia, William McGrath, secretary during 1955, was elected president for the ensuing year. Elmer Loveless was elected vice president, Daniel Irvene was elected secretary and Herman Folkerts was reelected treasurer.

Floyd Smith was elected field superintendent and Patrick Murphy, who is now completing his term as president, was elected a trustee for three years to serve with Carl Muller and John McGrath.

Coast Paper Says Bell's Regime Near End in NFL

Los Angeles, Dec. 13 (AP)—A secret vote to oust Bert Bell as commissioner of the National Football League ended in a 6-6 tie, the Examiner reported today.

In a copyright story by Vincent X. Flaherty, the paper said Los Angeles, San Francisco, Green Bay, Detroit, Cleveland and the Chicago Cardinals voted to fire Bell who has a 10-year contract at approximately $40,000 annually.

It takes 10 of the 12 NFL members to remove a commissioner.

"BELL WOULD have been offered five years' salary in settlement for his contract," the story said. "Another vote concerning Bell's future will be taken when the league meets here late this month.

"When contacted here at his home, Edwin W. Pauley, one of the Rams' major stockholders, denied all knowledge of the secret vote to oust Bell. Fred Levy, Jr., another Ram stockholder, likewise said he didn't know anything about it."

The Examiner story said the newspaper had secured the club-by-club vote that showed New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and the Chicago Bears had voted to retain the commissioner.

State Pheasant Project Most Comprehensive Ever

Albany, Dec. 13 (AP)—Conservation Commissioner Louis A. Wehle reported today his department was conducting an experiment on propagation and stocking of game-farm pheasants that he described as the most compresensive ever carried out in the state.

Three groups of pheasants were freed in a 250,000-acre study area of Orleans county in western New York to determine their relative quality and survival to the hunting season. These were the results up to Dec. 1:

Of 5,000 half-grown pheasants stocked in mid-summer directly from game farms, 562 or about 11.2 per cent were bagged by hunters.

OF 2,879 FULL-grown pheasants reared to 10 weeks old on state game farms, transferred to Grenadier Island on Lake Ontario for further hardening and live-trapping and released as adult birds in mid-October, hunters took 821 or 28.5 per cent.

Of 4,950 adult pheasants bought from commercial game farms in mid-October, just before the hunting season, 1,260 or 25.5 per cent were taken by hunters.

Wehle said further analysis was being made of the returns, taking into account the relative costs of the groups of birds.

When these answers are received, he said, a much clearer picture will be available of how to get the most out of the license dollar in terms of better pheasant hunting.

Ameche, Graham Take Offensive Honors in NFL

Philadelphia, Dec. 14 (AP)—Rookie Alan (The Horse) Ameche of the Baltimore Colts and retiring veteran Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns captured the two big offensse titles for 1955 in the National Football League.

Ameche became the first freshman to win the ball carrying title since Bill Paschal of the New York Giants did it in 1943 while Graham made his swan-song season with the Browns another year atop the league's passers, final NFL statistics showed today.

AMECHE, FORMER All-America from Wisconsin, ground out 961 yards in 213 carries, an average of 4.5 yards. Howie Ferguson of Green Bay was second with 859 yards on 192 carries, also for a 4.5 average. The league's best average per carry went to Dick Casares of the Chicago Bears with 672 yards on 125 runs, an average of 5.4.

Last year's ball carrying leader, Joe Perry of San Francisco, also had a 4.5 average on 156 carries for 701 yards.

Graham tossed the ball 185 times, completed 98 for gain of 1,721 yards — an average gain per pass attempt of 9.30 and a completion average of 53 per cent. Bobby Layne of Detroit also had a 53 per cent completion average but he gained only 6.78 yards per toss.

Averages Make Good MVP Case For Roberts

New York, Dec. 13—The storm of protest which kicked up in Philadelphia on the heels of the National League's most valuable player announcement, is likely to brew again today with the release of the official pitching records for 1955.

The Phillies' followers, who though Robin Roberts, not Roy Campanella, should have been given the MVP award, have some imposing statistics going for them.

Roberts, Philedelphia's one man pitching gang, won the most games, 23. He also made the most starts, 38, pitched the most complete games, 26, hurled the most innings, 305 and faced the most batsmen, 1,246.

ON THE DEBIT side, the durable righthander allowed the most hits, 292, the most runs, 111 and the most home runs, 41, for a major league record. He lost 14 games to wind up with a winning percentage of .622. Robin finished fifth in the MVP balloting.

Bob Friend of Pittsburgh captured the earned run title with a 2.84 mark to become the first pitcher ever to lead in this department while working for a last-place club. He allowed 63 earned runs in 200 innings while winning 14 games and losing 9.

Kentucky, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Virginia are the only four states officially designated as commonwealths.

HILLEBOE SAID 1,115 communities in the United States are now fluoridating water for more than 22 million persons.

Opposition to fluoridation, Hilleboe said, "stems from several sources, chiefly among food faddists, cultists, chiropractors, misguided and misinformed persons who are ignorant of the scientific facts on the ingestion of water fluorides, and strange as it may seem, even among a few physicians and dentists.

Talks Called Off

(By The Associated Press)

Joint bargaining talks between Westinghouse Electric Corp. and the striking AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers were called off today following a day of tension on picket lines and a rash of countercharges by union and company spokesmen. Federal Mediator John R. Murray announced in Pittsburgh there would be no joint sessions as originally slated. He said he planned to confer separately with Westinghouse negotiators, and then meet later in the week with union officials in an effort to find ways of settling the 58-day-old strike.

Will Protest Road

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 13 (AP)—Adirondack residents set out across Albany in an aging stagecoach today for a date with Gov. Harriman to complain about the condition of an ancient highway. The vehicle completed a 100-mile journey from Schroon Lake last night with help from modern transportation. Harriman, who was in Washington yesterday, planned to be back in time to greet the coach. The passengers are protesting the "horse and buggy" condition of a 7.8-mile stretch of Route 9, the main New York-Montreal highway, between Pottersville and Schroon Lake.

Denies Merger Offer

New York, Dec. 13 (AP)—Cola G. Parker, president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers, says the group received no "live-and let-live" offer from the merged AFL-CIO. "The erroneout idea seems to have become current that George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, offered an olive branch to industry when he spoke at the NAM meeting in New York, and that NAM rejected his offer of peace," Parker said in a statement yesterday.

Residency Test

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—City Judge Laurence D. Childs has ruled a resident of 55 years has lived here a little too long to be considered a vagrant. Herman Sellers, 65, was charged with vagrancy after being found sleeping in a packing box. He explained he was locked out of his apartment by mistake. That explanation plus his long residence in St. Petersburg served to secure dismissal of the charge.

THE MARQUEE

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

STEVE ALLEN and "Tonight" draw all sorts of characters. But one recent evening they really had a lulu — and just escaped a large-sized mess.

While Allen was on the air, a man walked in the stage door with a pill in one hand and glass of water in the other and announced that he wanted to do away with himself on TV. Jules Green, Allen's manager, said, "Sorry, we can't use you." The police took over from there.

The harmonica is coming out of hiding. That's what Herb Shriner says. And he should know, because he's pretty much of a mouth organ expert, as well as a top comedian. At the moment, he's marketing a harmonica with his name on it, he's heading up a new harmonica band, and he's made a Columbia album which features the band. So he's up to his ears in harmonicas, which can be pretty uncomfortable. To plug all of his ventures,Herb is going around the country.

"I find lots of people are still playing the harmonica," he says. "When they see me coming they take it out of hiding. And kids are taking it up, too. The teachers say it's a good thing — I don't mean it's going to save anybody from juvenile delinquency, but it's something constructive and today people seem to have forgotten how to be constructive. Wood-carving would be just as good, but the harmonica is a help."

In addition to the cash-on-the-line reasons for Herb's current interest in the harmonica, there's a career consideration, too.

"It's rejuvenating my career," he says. "I'm getting to reach a new generation. You'd be surprised how fast a new generation can come along and it may not even know you. That's what happened to Bing Crosby — lots of kids today don't even know Bing."

So the harmonica is serving as a means to introduce Herb Shriner to the younger generation. He figures his TV show, "Two For the Money," appeals to a generally older group.

"The format of 'Two For the Money' is pretty confining," Herb says, "and it's getting more confining all the time. Chances are this will be my last season doing it. I've got some new ideas up my sleeve — some brand new, some are things I did years ago and some are things I've learned."

So you can expect to see Herb Shriner in a new format next season. But one thing is certain — he'll have the harmonica somewhere close by.

Mayor to Speak At Square Club Meeting Dec. 15

Mayor Frederick H. Stang will address the Woodstock Square Club Thursday evening at their regular monthly meeting.

A citizens committee headed by Leon Carey, the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, Frank Benson, Justice George Braendley, F. Henry Baertsch will select a man or woman who has done an outstanding job in the Woodstock community, and that citizen will be honored at the January President's dinner.

The club will hold its annual election of officers, including president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer at the meeting this week.

Kills Four, Is Shot

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 13 (AP)—A 32-year-old man accused of killing his wife and three small children early today was captured about five hours later after he was shot in a suburban drug store. Police headquarters said they could not tell from first reports if Buford V. Calhoun shot himself or was hit by bullets from officers' guns as they closed in on him. Killed in the attack were Mrs. Mary Calhoun, 32; her month-old twin daughters, and her 19-month-old son, Bobby. John Warren, 19, identified by police as Mrs. Calhoun's son-in-law by a previous marriage, was reported in a critical condition at a hospital.

Begin Defense Case

Oakland, Calif., Dec. 13 (AP)—Attorneys for Burton Abbott started their defense today against charges he committed the unwitnessed kidnaping and slaying of 14-year-old Stephanie Bryan. The prosecution wound up its circumstantial case yesterday with testimony by Dr. Paul Kirk, University of California criminologist. All that remained was the formality of announcing the state rested. Dr. Kirk testified the chances were at least 125,000 to 1 that two strands of hair he found in Abbott's car were from the head of the girl.

Phoenicia Nimrods Elect New Officers

During the annual meeting of the Phoenicia Fish and Game Association held Monday night at Woodland Valley Inn, Phoenicia, William McGrath, secretary during 1955, was elected president for the ensuing year. Elmer Loveless was elected vice president, Daniel Irvene was elected secretary and Herman Folkerts was reelected treasurer.

Floyd Smith was elected field superintendent and Patrick Murphy, who is now completing his term as president, was elected a trustee for three years to serve with Carl Muller and John McGrath.

Coast Paper Says Bell's Regime Near End in NFL

Los Angeles, Dec. 13 (AP)—A secret vote to oust Bert Bell as commissioner of the National Football League ended in a 6-6 tie, the Examiner reported today.

In a copyright story by Vincent X. Flaherty, the paper said Los Angeles, San Francisco, Green Bay, Detroit, Cleveland and the Chicago Cardinals voted to fire Bell who has a 10-year contract at approximately $40,000 annually.

It takes 10 of the 12 NFL members to remove a commissioner.

"BELL WOULD have been offered five years' salary in settlement for his contract," the story said. "Another vote concerning Bell's future will be taken when the league meets here late this month.

"When contacted here at his home, Edwin W. Pauley, one of the Rams' major stockholders, denied all knowledge of the secret vote to oust Bell. Fred Levy, Jr., another Ram stockholder, likewise said he didn't know anything about it."

The Examiner story said the newspaper had secured the club-by-club vote that showed New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and the Chicago Bears had voted to retain the commissioner.

State Pheasant Project Most Comprehensive Ever

Albany, Dec. 13 (AP)—Conservation Commissioner Louis A. Wehle reported today his department was conducting an experiment on propagation and stocking of game-farm pheasants that he described as the most compresensive ever carried out in the state.

Three groups of pheasants were freed in a 250,000-acre study area of Orleans county in western New York to determine their relative quality and survival to the hunting season. These were the results up to Dec. 1:

Of 5,000 half-grown pheasants stocked in mid-summer directly from game farms, 562 or about 11.2 per cent were bagged by hunters.

OF 2,879 FULL-grown pheasants reared to 10 weeks old on state game farms, transferred to Grenadier Island on Lake Ontario for further hardening and live-trapping and released as adult birds in mid-October, hunters took 821 or 28.5 per cent.

Of 4,950 adult pheasants bought from commercial game farms in mid-October, just before the hunting season, 1,260 or 25.5 per cent were taken by hunters.

Wehle said further analysis was being made of the returns, taking into account the relative costs of the groups of birds.

When these answers are received, he said, a much clearer picture will be available of how to get the most out of the license dollar in terms of better pheasant hunting.

Ameche, Graham Take Offensive Honors in NFL

Philadelphia, Dec. 14 (AP)—Rookie Alan (The Horse) Ameche of the Baltimore Colts and retiring veteran Otto Graham of the Cleveland Browns captured the two big offensse titles for 1955 in the National Football League.

Ameche became the first freshman to win the ball carrying title since Bill Paschal of the New York Giants did it in 1943 while Graham made his swansong season with the Browns another year atop the league's passers, final NFL statistics showed today.

AMECHE, FORMER All-America from Wisconsin, ground out 961 yards in 213 carries, an average of 4.5 yards. Howie Ferguson of Green Bay was second with 859 yards on 192 carries, also for a 4.5 average. The league's best average per carry went to Dick Casares of the Chicago Bears with 672 yards on 125 runs, an average of 5.4.

Last year's ball carrying leader, Joe Perry of San Francisco, also had a 4.5 average on 156 carries for 701 yards.

Graham tossed the ball 185 times, completed 98 for gain of 1,721 yards — an average gain per pass attempt of 9.30 and a completion average of 53 per cent. Bobby Layne of Detroit also had a 53 per cent completion average but he gained only 6.78 yards per toss.

Averages Make Good MVP Case For Roberts

New York, Dec. 13—The storm of protest which kicked up in Philadelphia on the heels of the National League's most valuable player announcement, is likely to brew again today with the release of the official pitching records for 1955.

The Phillies' followers, who though Robin Roberts, not Roy Campanella, should have been given the MVP award, have some imposing statistics going for them.

Roberts, Philedelphia's one man pitching gang, won the most games, 23. He also made the most starts, 38, pitched the most complete games, 26, hurled the most innings, 305 and faced the most batsmen, 1,246.

ON THE DEBIT side, the durable righthander allowed the most hits, 292, the most runs, 111 and the most home runs, 41, for a major league record. He lost 14 games to wind up with a winning percentage of .622. Robin finished fifth in the MVP balloting.

Bob Friend of Pittsburgh captured the earned run title with a 2.84 mark to become the first pitcher ever to lead in this department while working for a last-place club. He allowed 63 earned runs in 200 innings while winning 14 games and losing 9.

Kentucky, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Virginia are the only four states officially designated as commonwealths.

Snow, Cold Air Hit U. S. Areas

(By The Associated Press)

December's unseasonable cold weather continued today with prospects of fresh blasts of snow and Arctic air.

Blizzard conditions were in prospect for the Dakotas and parts of Minnesota.

BELOW FREEZING weather extended southward into the central gulf states. It was warmer this morning in some midwest cities than in Raleigh, N. C., and Birmingham, Ala., which reported temperatures of 22 and 25 degrees, respectively.

Heavy snow fell in South Dakota during the night and strong winds caused considerable drifting. Nearly one inch of snow fell in one hour in Aberdeen, S. D.

A cold wave was forecast for North Dakota and Minnesota with sub-zero readings, snow and strong winds.

Several blizzard conditions were reported over the Canadian prairies, with blowing snow in Alberta and Saskatchewan. The storm headed for Manitoba. At Saskatoon, the blizzard was described as the worst in prairie history. Winds up to 70 miles an hour were reported in some areas. Temperatures ranged from zero to 10 below.

Red Boasts of Goa Issue Annoying U. S.

New Delhi, Dec. 13 (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev boasted today of "annoying America" over the issue of Portuguese India and said he did not mind "if our remarks are disliked and resented."

Speaking to a group representing the Hindi Association of the Indian parliament, Khrushchev said:

"I have said that Goa (the chief Portuguese settlement in India) must come to India, which has a rightful claim over it.

"But that annoyed America—and they came out with strong support of Portuguese possession of Goa.

"I said that the Portuguese forcibly occupied Goa, that they perpetrated atrocities and cruelties over the people of Goa. They committed all sorts of thefts in that territory. They have no right to continue to maintain their hold over Goa."

Sees 3rd Sex Gaining

Chicago, Dec. 13 (AP)—A St. Louis physician said today he is completely convinced a third sex—the neutral gender—is rapidly increasing in numbers. Dr. William H. Masters said members of the third sex are "former males and females" whose sex glands fail to secrete adequate hormones during the aging process. Although there is marked variation among individuals, he said, some women reach the stage before they are 50 and some men, not until after 70. Women average 15 years ahead of men, he said.
